Volume Ten 1957

Fiftieth Anniversary

Foreword

This is the Kinkaidian for 1957. We of the staff have taken pleasure in helping to create it. We are glad to be the class who graduates in the year of the mid-centennial of our school. We are grateful to Kinkaid for our happy years here: for the teachers, the fine classes, the opportunities for leadership and academic excellence. We thank those who have given their invaluable time and constant effort to making our years in school full and successful ones. We hope that we have contributed something to Kinkaid's first fifty years, and we wish our school a second half-century as happy as the initial one has been.

It is fitting that this, the Fiftieth Anniversary of The Kinkadian, should be dedicated to that spirit of scholarship and fellowship which has kept Kinkaid young for half a century. It is a dedication to Mrs. Kinkaid, who gave her whole life to her school; to all its teachers, and to every student who believes that Kinkaid is "his school." It is a dedication to the men and women Kinkaid has sent into the world better equipped to meet its problems. It is these people who are the spirit of Kinkaid.

We will move on, soon, to a new building, and give Kinkaid's name to a new school. But the tradition of fifty years of service and learning will go with us, and the spirit of Kinkaid will go, too.

MRS. MARGARET KINKAID

Founder

In the person of Margaret Kinkaid, the school which bears her name had a dynamic leader, and the community which it serves, a dedicated pioneer in the field of education. Because of her warmth and strength, she is held in deep affection by the pupils and members of the faculty with whom she worked.

Mrs. Kinkaid was never one to spare herself or others in getting the best for the children whom she loved. Whether they were scamps or scholars—scamps particularly—her faith in them and affection for them never flagged. At times her missionary zeal for achieving the best, caused the recipients some red-faced embarrassment. How could a coach or a football team face husky opponents on a gridiron with a tree in the middle? Or how could they face a headmistress offended by the chopping down of a tree of such beauty? How could any girl explain to a corrected visitor that, of course, no real lady would cross her knees in public?

The first grade children who had felt her gentleness showed her their gratitude by leaving small bouquets in her office on May Day. Later they wondered at the force of her modesty which kept her in the background so that she sat behind the audience and could not be found at the dedication of the new high school.

Mrs. Kinkaid generally carried her bifocals in her hand, a mannerism which children understood easily. Where would people with eyes in the back of their head wear glasses? The sound of her footsteps padding through the halls was as much a part of the day as the sound of Jerome's lawnmower. Things at Kinkaid School must move on schedule and in order.

Mrs. Kinkaid has been known to laugh and say that she began teaching to avoid cooking. Those who remember the twinkle in her eye, the hearty laugh, and the gruff "Of course you can do it" know that her talents could have found no better outlet than in teaching.

Her enthusiasm, her faith in children, her vital interest in human beings—the spirit of Margaret Kinkaid—lives in the heart of her school.

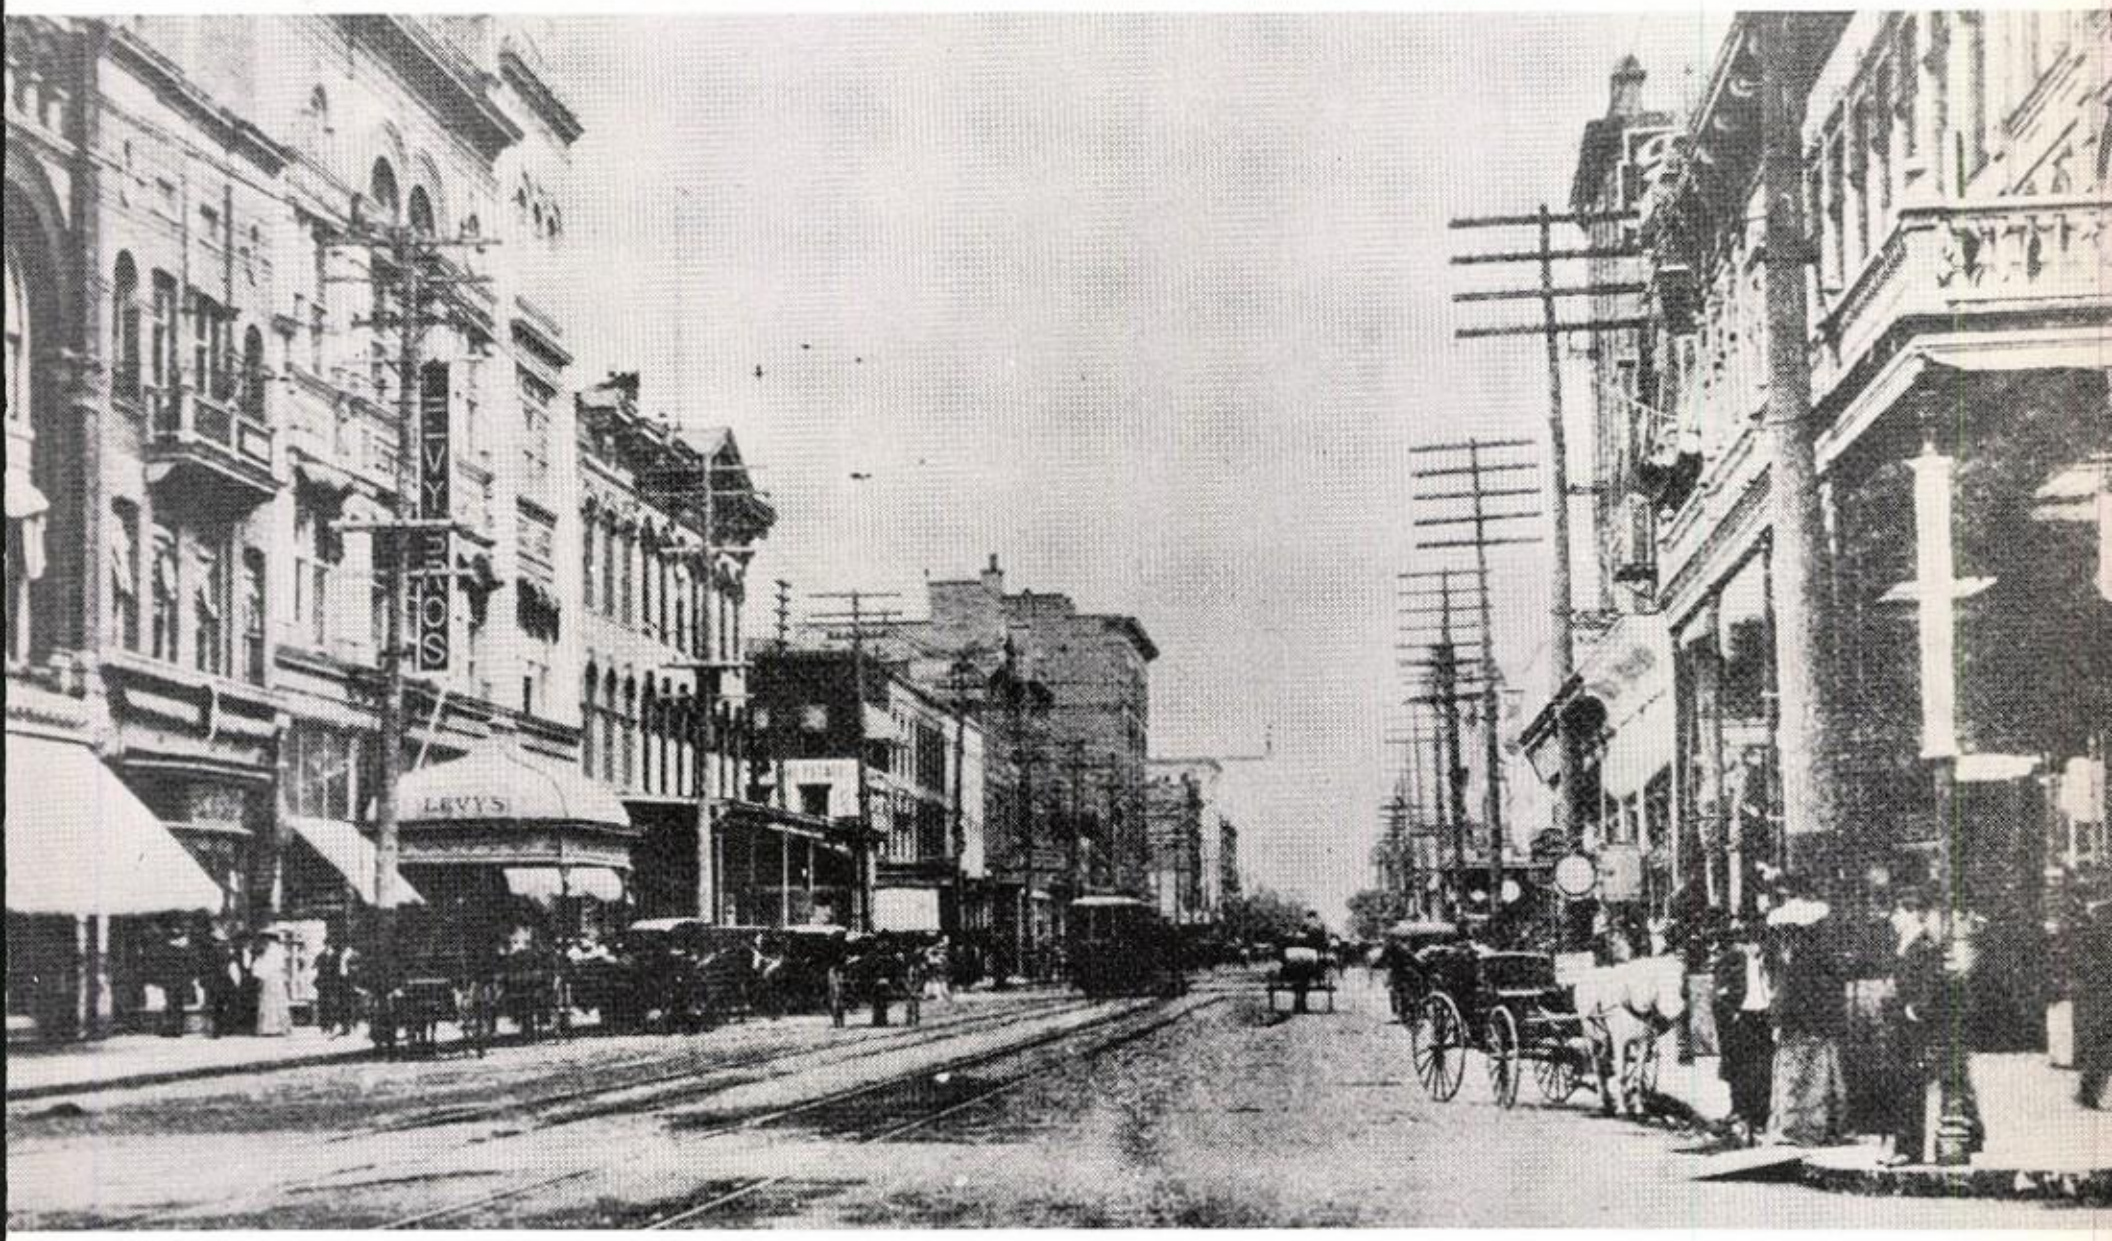
KINKAIDS' FIFTY

The year was 1906. The United States was fast emerging as a world power. The country was prospering; its outlook was bright. Teddy Roosevelt had given up his "rough rider" saddle for a desk at the White House, had waved his Big Stick in foreign affairs, and had begun trust-busting on the domestic scene.

The enthusiasm generated on the national level was the reflection of the spirit of local communities, a spirit that was especially strong in the town that had been founded along the banks of Buffalo Bayou seventy years earlier. A visitor of that year wrote, "Houston—the moving, bustling, active, thriving, industrious, wide-awake, growing city—is today the metropolis of Texas. Forty-one thousand in 1900—has almost doubled in five years . . . It's growing so fast hotels are not adequate, churches not large enough, post office entirely too small . . . People from all sections of the country are hitching on to Houston. It's got what they are looking for—opportunity." Railroads, shipping, cotton, lumber, and recently discovered oil contributed to a prosperity welcomed after the difficult days of the period following the War Between the States. It was a fitting time for new beginnings, including that of a school.

The expanding population had overcrowded the public school facilities. Parents, wanting more thorough and individualized instruction for their children, approached Margaret Hunter Kinkaid to teach a pre-primary class. Mrs. Kinkaid, a teacher at Hawthorne Elementary School until her marriage in 1899, was a young woman of serious mind and enterprising spirit. Since a regulation prohibited married women from teaching in public schools, she had given up her career to be a housewife. However, the domestic arts did not provide sufficient satisfaction for her. Her love of teaching was too deep rooted. Therefore, in September, 1904, she accepted her first students, seven five-year-old children including Annie Wier Bonner, Annie Beth Lockett, Hunter Kinkaid, Ruby Dick Blackburn, and Porter Hubbell.

FIRST YEARS



Main at Congress — 1906

The group met daily around the dining room table of the Kinkaid home, a five room frame cottage at the corner of Smith and Calhoun. Classes continued for two years until, in 1905, instruction was discontinued because of the birth of William Kinkaid.

When Mrs. Kinkaid resumed teaching, she had moved into a new house. It was a one-story cottage on the northeast corner of San Jacinto and Elgin. From this second beginning, the founding of the Kinkaid School is dated, for its formative years were spent in this location.

Each day parents living in the neighborhood, a leading residential area, walked their children to school. This was a convenience not to be minimized in citing causes of subsequent growth. Transportation then was not easy, as paved streets were considered a luxury rather than a necessity. Nevertheless, occasional horse and buggies (automobiles were a rarity), carrying students from the more distant, newly opened Westmoreland addition, drew up in front of the cottage on the dirt road that was San Jacinto. Boys with their ties and high starched collars, knee length trousers and long sox, girls in full skirted dresses with long tresses and huge hair ribbon bows alighted.

In 1908, the school consisted of two grades, of seven pupils each, that met in the cottage living room. When one group recited, the other studied. Both delighted in the arrival of the vegetable man, for work was interrupted. Mrs. Kinkaid's return to the room promptly restored order. A natural disciplinarian, who could command attention with a look or a gesture, she tolerated no foolishness.

Typical of the rather Spartan regime of those early days were the two boys appointed to keep fires burning in the wood stoves.

Although Mrs. Kinkaid's ideal was a small primary school, at the request of parents she expanded her classes, for she considered her function to be one of service to and cooperation with her patrons. In 1910, with three grades and thirty children, she enlisted the aid of an additional Teacher, Mrs. Robert Gordon Ballinger, who remained with the school for twenty years.

The fourth and fifth grades and a kindergarten were added in 1914. In that year Mrs. Kinkaid asked Mrs. W. G. Smiley to establish the intermediate department. Mrs. Smiley, whose husband was superintendent of public schools, had previously taught in the city schools with Mrs. Kinkaid. She was a positive person with a deep fund of knowledge and a wide interest in civic affairs. Although she was on the staff for only a few years, Mrs. Smiley has remained a loyal friend of Kinkaid.

To provide space for the additional grades it was necessary to enlarge school facilities. Therefore Mrs. Kinkaid borrowed $2500, had the five room cottage raised and five rooms built underneath it. The staff was enlarged to seven; Mrs. Kinkaid gave up teaching to run the school. For two more years the Kinkaid family continued to occupy the house, but at the end of that time the growing school pushed the family out. There was, however, an apartment of four rooms in the house on San Jacinto that was rented out. Even this arrangement lasted only two years longer, because by that time the school needed the entire building.

A sixth grade, added in 1917, became the first class to graduate from Kinkaid to junior high school at South End, which was located in the building that is now San Jacinto High School. With the six grades, the school was considered complete.

Daily routine at Kinkaid was well regulated. Students usually arrived early, around 8:15. The boys played games in the side yard until 8:30 while the girls chatted on the back steps or under the huge magnolia tree, well carved with names. At the clap of Mrs. Kinkaid (she never used a school bell, but assembled the group and brought order by use of her hands) the children gathered in line to march into the building. The lower grades would proceed to their respective rooms on the first floor. The higher grades would march up the steps that were on the outside of the building.

The day began with a reading from the Bible, for Mrs. Kinkaid was a devoutly religious woman who believed she was doing God's work in carrying on her school. Instruction and recitation followed. Subjects and teaching methods were very similar to those used for corresponding grades today. A firm grounding in the three R's was the basis of the elementary classes. Spanish or French, English, history, and mathematics were emphasized in the intermediate grades. For all classes Mrs. Kinkaid put great stress on citizenship and character building.

A fifteen minute recess would break the morning. To the strains of the triumphal march from "Aida," the children moved in orderly lines from the building. Once outside, it was time for "physical culture" that is, calisthenics. Lunch furnished the next break from the class schedule. The back steps, the side yard, and magnolia tree became popular spots as lunches from home were brought out.

Kinkaid's First Graduating Class at the School Then Located at Elgin and San Jacinto.

Time permitting, the boys might indulge in an amusing diversion—running in and out of a deep, seven foot ditch that ran along the Elgin Street side of the school. Afternoon classes resumed, and when school was dismissed, it was not an unfamiliar sight to see the boys staying on to play baseball, soccer, or a version of football.

The first attempt to organize a football team was in 1916 when Mrs. Kinkaid promoted a boys club. Since the school boasted eleven boys big enough to play, a team was formed. Originally choosing khaki trousers and blue jerseys, the club decided upon these colors to represent the school. Later, however, the colors were changd to orange and blue in deference to a father who had attended the University of Virginia. In the early 1920's the now familiar purple and gold were adopted.

An important extracurricular activity in the early days was debating. Boys and girls clubs took sides on such issues as "Resolved that power boats are of more use than power locomotives." More often the boys group would form the two teams. Political topics were especially popular. In 1916, the pros and cons of Woodrow Wilson vs. Charles Evans Hughes for president were thoroughly aired. The question of which man, Woodrow Wilson or Abraham Lincoln, was the greater provided the subject of a 1918 debate. More interest than usual was aroused by this topic, for it was still considered strange, in a Southern community, to stand up publically and champion Lincoln.

This particular argument took place during the First World War, or as it was considered then, the War to End All Wars. Although the children at Kinkaid would sing patriotic songs, make faces at pictures of the Kaiser, and buy 25c thrift stamps that could be accumulated to purchase a Liberty Bond, the War little affected the life of the school.

For five years after the War, Kinkaid continued to operate on San Jacinto Street. As the enrollment neared the 100 mark, facilities seemed inadequate. By 1923, it was evident that new quarters would have to be found. A frame building with a wood stove constituted a fire hazard for the pupils; the school's location on a busy corner, where children ran into the street, was not safe; the building was outdated and its grounds were insufficient.

Graduation Included a Pageant.

The first parent to come to Mrs. Kinkaid to inquire if the school could have a larger building and more grounds was Mrs. Alice Baker Jones. When Mrs. Kinkaid agreed that the need was a real one, Mrs. Jones started a movement among patrons to improve the physical properties of the school. She first talked to her father, Captain James A. Baker, who, with his characteristic thoroughness, investigated the situation. Believing that a permanent building was necessary, he suggested that Mrs. Kinkaid form a committee to carry on a fund raising campaign.

As a result, Mrs. Kinkaid contacted Mr. R. L. Blaffer to head the group. Mr. Blaffer, whose love of the school was great, came often to Kinkaid to see not only his own children but also other students at play. He knew most of the pupils by name and took a personal interest in all school events.

With Mr. Blaffer as chairman, the fund raising committee consisted of Mr. W. L. Clayton, Mr. J. W. Evans, Mr. W. S. Farish, Mr. E. L. Neville, and Mr. K. E. Womack.

While the committee was engaged in securing financial support, Mrs. Kinkaid was planning for the school. Before deciding definitely upon the necessary requirements, Mrs. Kinkaid spent three weeks, in October, 1923, visiting leading preparatory institutions in the East. There she not only surveyed the physical plants but also studied the curriculum. Although this was the first time Mrs. Kinkaid had been absent during the school year (she left Mrs. Ava T. Hooks in charge), she had been a frequent visitor to Eastern colleges for their summer sessions. She had attended her first summer school in New York City in 1905, and from that time until her death, a summer rarely passed that she did not go to Harvard, Stanford, the University of Colorado or a similar institution.

Mrs. Kinkaid returned to Houston, after her three week trip, to report to Mr. Blaffer. When, in offering her conclusions, she drew on the floor with a cane a "U" shaped building of proportions relative to those of the present school structure, he thought her ideals had grown beyond the plans of the committee. But he soon agreed that the building must be nothing short of the ideal.

In the spring of 1924, when plans to erect the building were definite, a Board of Trustees was formed to take care of the physical properties and financial problems of the school.

New School on Richmond Avenue

Technically, the Board owned the school which Mrs. Kinkaid ran. She was, in effect, an independent proprietor paying rent for school facilities. Mrs. Kinkaid, being a determined woman who left nothing to chance and whose only interest (she had no hobbies) was in making her school the best possible, reserved the right to absolute jurisdiction in educational matters.

She relinquished ownership of facilities only as a practical solution to the increased financial responsibility of a larger school. The original Trustees, Mr. Blaffer, Mr. Clayton, Mr. E. L. Neville, Mr. Burke Baker, and Mr. Harry C. Weiss, agreed to a written contract to this effect.

The first task for the Trustees and for a committee of mothers, headed by Mrs. E. L. Neville, and including Mrs. W. L. Clayton, Mrs. E. R. Spotts, Mrs. Alice Baker Jones, Mrs. J. J. Carroll, and Mrs. W. T. Carter, was to ask the patrons, approximately 100 in number, to subscribe to the building fund. The subscriptions ranged from $100 to $10,000 each, and about $85,000 was collected. The Trustees borrowed an additional amount from the Rice Institute and a local bank.

With funds available, a five acre site at the corner of Richmond Road and Graustark was purchased for $40,000. The building was begun in July, 1924. William Ward Watkin was the architect.

To celebrate the opening of the new building, in December, 1924, Mrs. Kinkaid decided upon a birthday party. The event was planned to show parents the work of their children and became an annual occurrence.

With more space the school could again expand on a grade per year basis. In 1927, the Junior High Department was completed.

Mrs. Kinkaid, in adapting to the times as well as to the wishes of parents, increased the school to include a Senior High Department during the depression years. Many parents, who previously had sent their children to Eastern preparatory schools, now preferred, for financial reasons, to have a good preparatory school in Houston. As a result, the first graduation class entered college directly from Kinkaid in 1937. William Kinkaid, who had been teaching in the school since 1930, helped his mother handle the additional responsibilities and later became head of the High School.

First Graduating Class From Tenth Grade.

The addition of the Senior High School brought new needs—a library, a science laboratory and a gym. The gymnasium was built through the contributions of patrons headed by Mr. R. W. Wier as chairman of a fund raising committee. The mothers, however, should be credited with a significant part in gathering funds. The group hit upon the idea of operating booths at the annual Field Day and raised $3,500 of the necessary $23,000 in that fashion. As a result, Field Day, which had originated in 1911 to the San Jacinto Street school, grew in importance.

The athletic department had grown in keeping with the academic. The first eleven man football team was organized shortly after the opening of the High School.

The only impediment to athletic progress, however, was a huge tree that occupied the middle of the playing field at the back of the school. Mrs. Kinkaid, who treasured each tree as an old friend, refused to bow to progress. The coach, sensing a true need, found his own remedy for the situation. One night he arrived on campus, ax in hand. The following day Mrs. Kinkaid arrived to find that the school had an enlarged athletic field.

With this exception, Mrs. Kinkaid met the needs of her school as they appeared. The result of her work continually appeared in the increased number of students.

By 1943, the school had grown to include 275 pupils. By 1946, it was necessary to supply a separate building for the High School Department. The property ajoining the school on Richmond Road housed an empty building, formerly an institution for the mentally ill. The house was razed and the site was sold to Kinkaid to provide space for the new building. In 1950, a new gym was built to accommodate the then 550 students.

During the same year Mrs. Kinkaid decided to retire after 45 years as a teacher and administrator. With her approval, the trustees chose as her successor Mr. John H. Cooper who had been assistant headmaster at the Tower School in Wilmington, Delaware, and headmaster of Keith Day School in Rockford, Illinois. Mr. Cooper had received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Yale University. Upon the retirement of William W. Kinkaid, Mr. Cooper named Dr. Carl Reed as principal of the high school department. In November 1951, the entire community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Kinkaid as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident.

Field Day, an Important Annual Event Since 1924.

The year 1951-52 saw the extension of the extracurricular program—in sports highlighted by the development of eleven man football and in music with the first of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. A parents' committee also organized the first of the school's Book Fairs. The termination of February classes resulted in the establishment of a summer school program which has become a permanent feature of the school.

The following year, a Reading Laboratory was established. Drama reached a new standard of excellence in the presentation of Shaw's "Pygmalion" under the direction of Mrs. Johnson, who was also responsible for the planning of many improvements to the stage facilities. A program of "athletics for all" began to over-tax the available field and gymnasium facilities.

During the same year, an evaluation of the school revealed to the trustees the need for improvements to the school plant which could not be satisfactorily accomplished on the existing campus, and, for the first time, serious consideration was given to the possibility of moving the school. A search for a new site was instituted and, during the winter of 1954, twenty-six acres of land on Alief Road was purchased from Rice Institute. Building committees under the chairmanship of Mr. J. W. Hershey were organized to make detailed recommendations which subsequently became the basis for the overall plan drawn up by the architects, Lloyd and Morgan. Plans were interrupted in the fall of 1955 when the route of the Southwest Freeway was laid across the new school site. The resulting loss in acreage and the likelihood of commercial developments caused the trustees to seek an alternate site.

After extensive negotiations, a beautiful forty-acre tract on Buffalo Bayou was purchased with the assistance of Rice Institute to whom the Alief site had been returned. Gifts to the Building Fund which had been under the able chairmanship of W. Stewart Boyle totaled nearly $1,000,000 and in December, 1956 contracts were made and construction started on the new school.

In January, the remarkable growth of the school during its first half century was recognized by more than five hundred parents and friends who gathered for the golden anniversary dinner at the Houston Club. On this occasion, the School was able to look back upon fifty years of significant contribution to the educational life of Houston and forward to its life in the splendid new campus which will be occupied in 1957.

MR. JOHN H. COOPER

Headmaster

From the Headmaster

To you who are about to choose—Greetings!

Never again will you be faced with so many difficult and significant decisions as will be yours during the next twelve months.

Probably your college choice has already been hopefully made.—But, old grads' opinions notwithstanding, there is no special magic in a college campus curriculum. Your college will not educate you. It can help—under conditions which, we hope, are favorable. Your success will depend on the CHOICES you will make day after day during the months ahead.

How honest with yourself will you be?

Will you select the "easy" courses? Will you concentrate exclusively on career preparation? Or have you in mind the broader objective of becoming a responsible and civilized citizen worthy of a free society? You may discover that ultimately such an objective will be the surest preparation for a successful life.

And what of your choice of friends? Of amusements? Of books? Of moral standards? In all of these we hope that you will avoid the shoddy and the inferior and that, by your choices, you will evidence a respect for what is first-rate and worthy of your best.

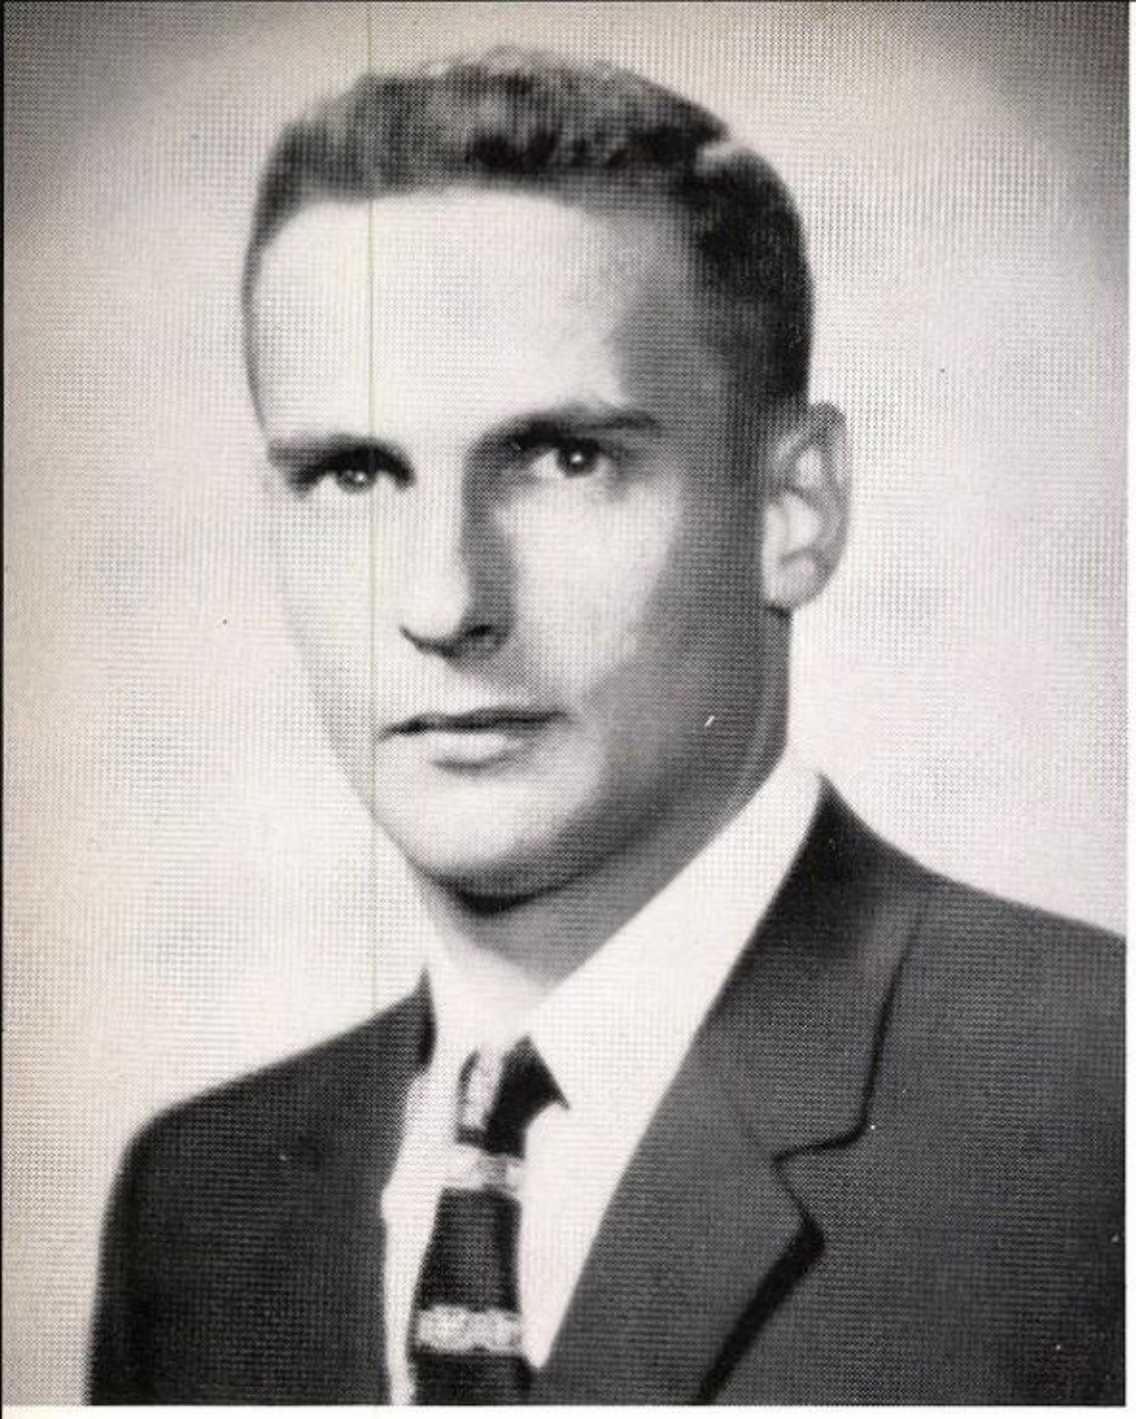
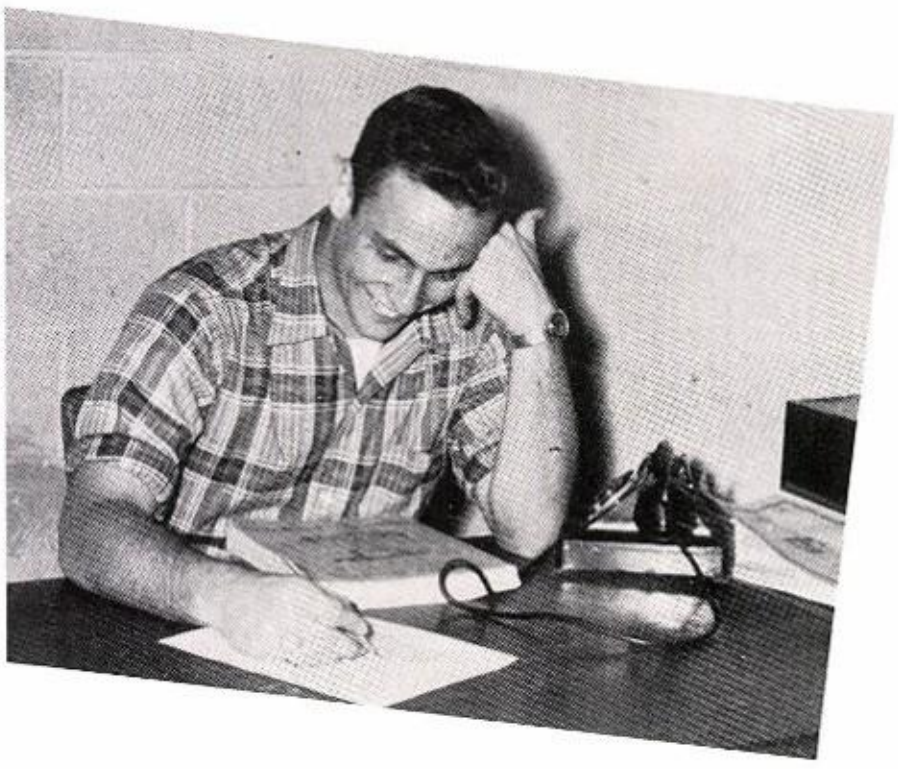
Seniors



KENT ADAMS

A merry heart doeth good like a medicine.

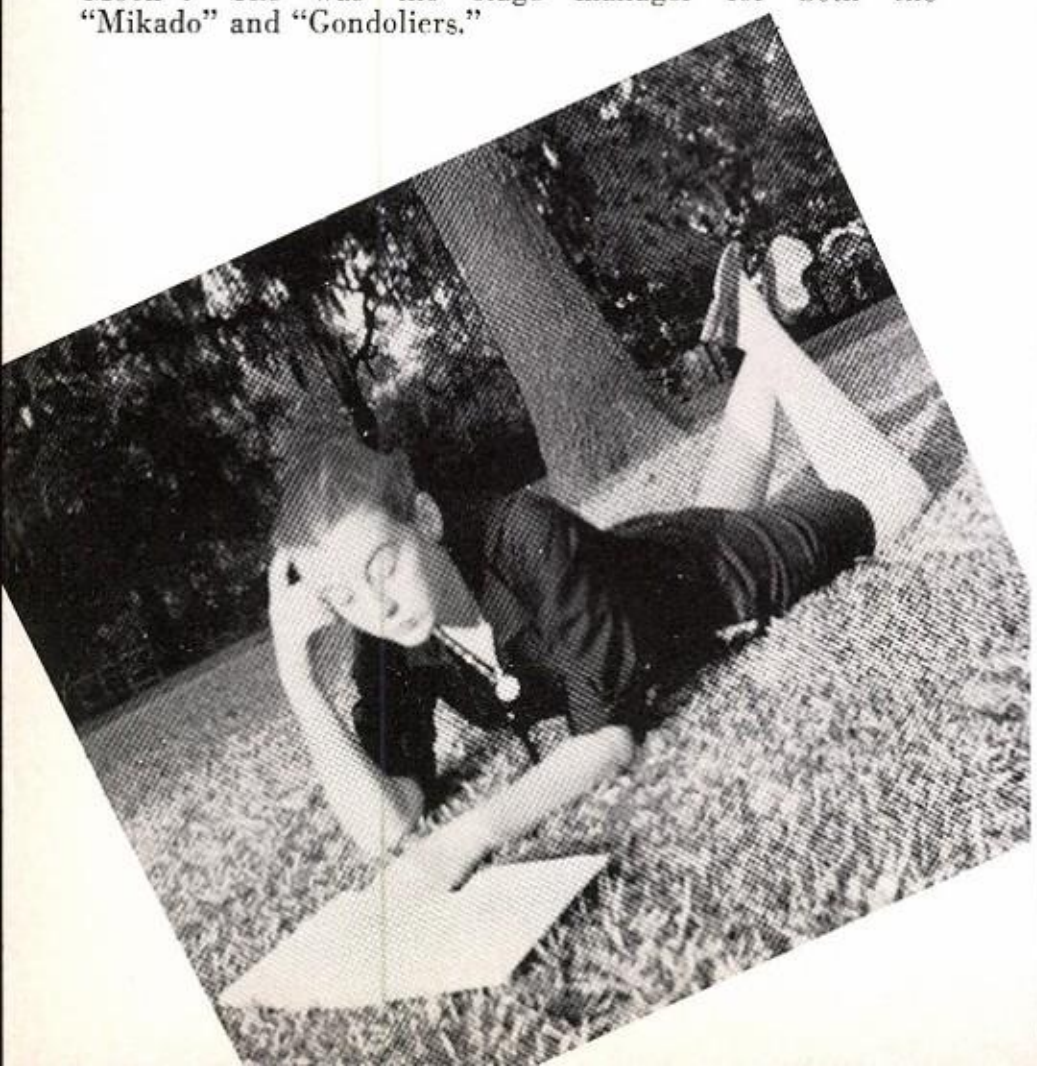
Kent, co-captain of the 1956 Falcon football team, has been at Kinkaid since the eighth grade. He has won many honors including the Speech Cup in 1955 and the Vice Presidency of the Senior Class. One of his main interests is the theater. He has had a principal part in the operettas of "Pirates," "Gondoliers," and the "Mikado" and in the plays of "Taming of the Shrew," "Androcles and the Lion" and "Everyman." He has been awarded letters in golf, baseball and football. Baylor or Rice will be getting a fine pre-med student next year. Good luck, Kent.



RUTH ADAMS

Life is like a play upon the stage;
It signifies not how long it lasts, but how well it is acted.

Ruth has been well known for her writing ability and her success as an actress since she came to Kinkaid two years ago. She won the English Cup in 1956. Ruth is on the editorial staff of the "Falcon Wings." Remember her wonderful performances in "Androcles and the Lion," "Twelve Pound Look" and "Dark of the Moon"? She was the stage manager for both the "Mikado" and "Gondoliers."



KAY AMBURN

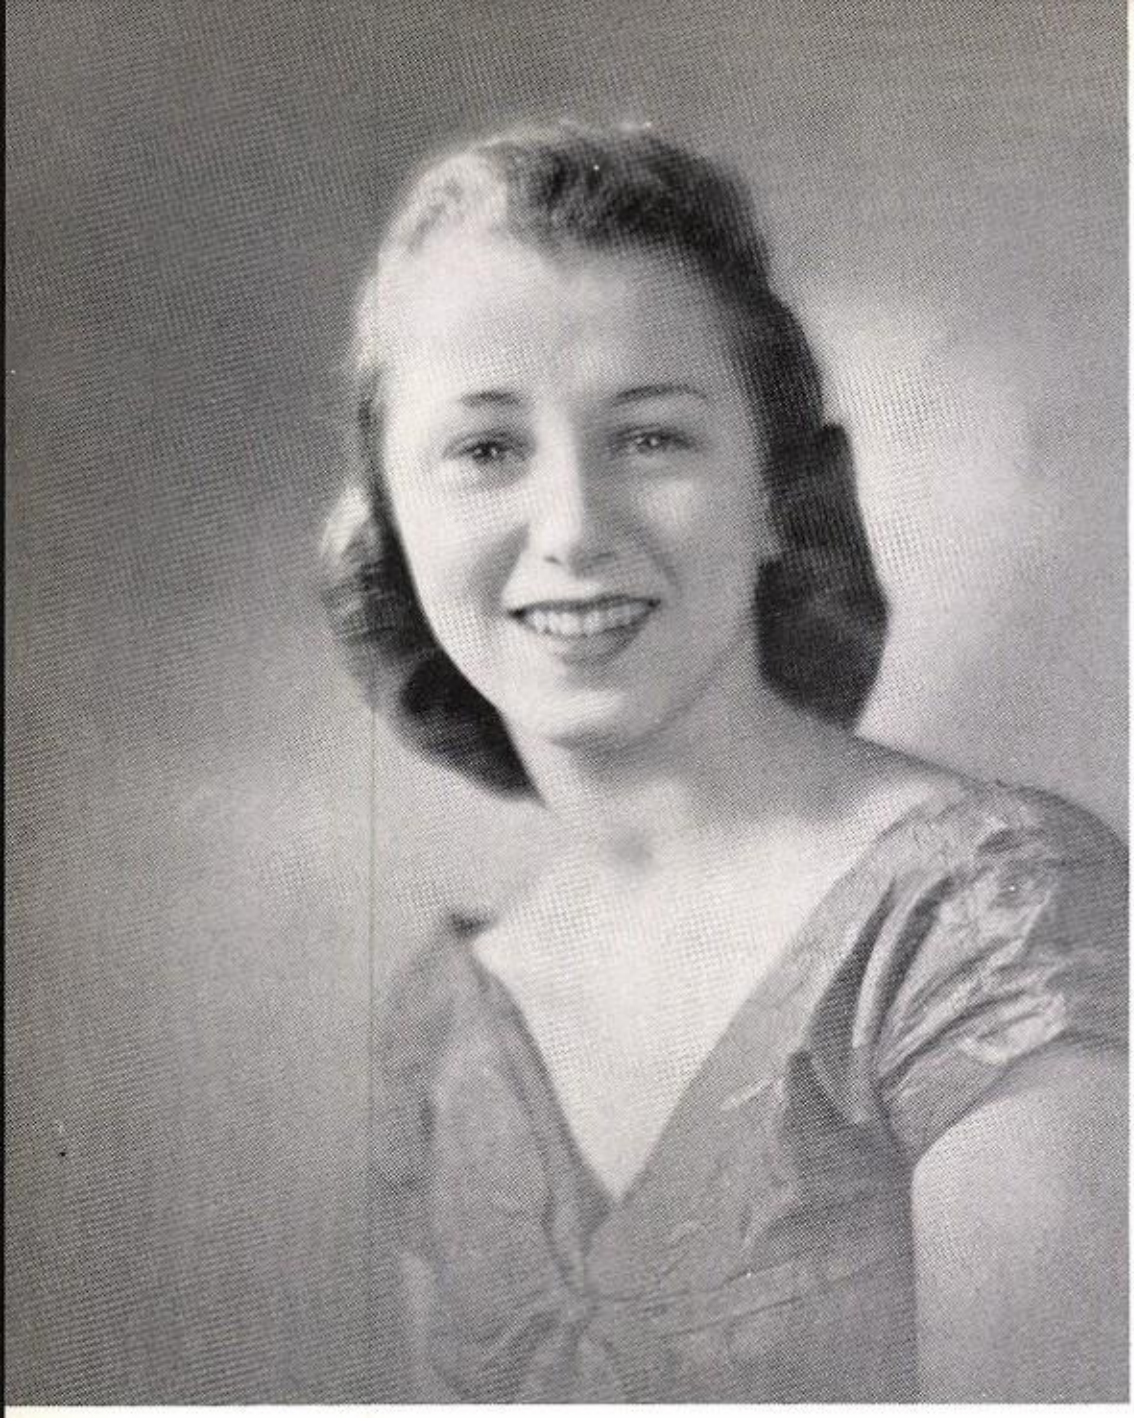
Little deeds of kindness, little words of cheer.

Kay has been a very dependable member of our class since kindergarten. She can frequently be seen sprinting around the River Oaks Drug Store area in her blue and white Ford. At school she has either appeared in or crewed for almost everyone of the operettas and plays which Kinkaid has produced. Kay is well-known for her enormous and beautiful wardrobe—the formals she designed herself. Next year she hopes to attend the University of Oklahoma where she will employ her talent by taking interior decorating.

CORA AMERMAN

For her heart was in her work and the heart giveth grace unto every act.

Coco, who came to Kinkaid in the fifth grade, is one of the peppiest and most enthusiastic cheerleaders Kinkaid has ever had. She can do most anything and do it well. She is editor of "The Falcon" and her outstanding ability as a basketball player has earned her several varsity letters and recognition as an All-Conference player. She has held an office almost every year—Secretary of the Freshman class, Vice President of the Sophomore class, and Secretary of the Junior class. Either the University of Texas or the University of Colorado will be fortunate to get Coco.



CAROL ARCHER

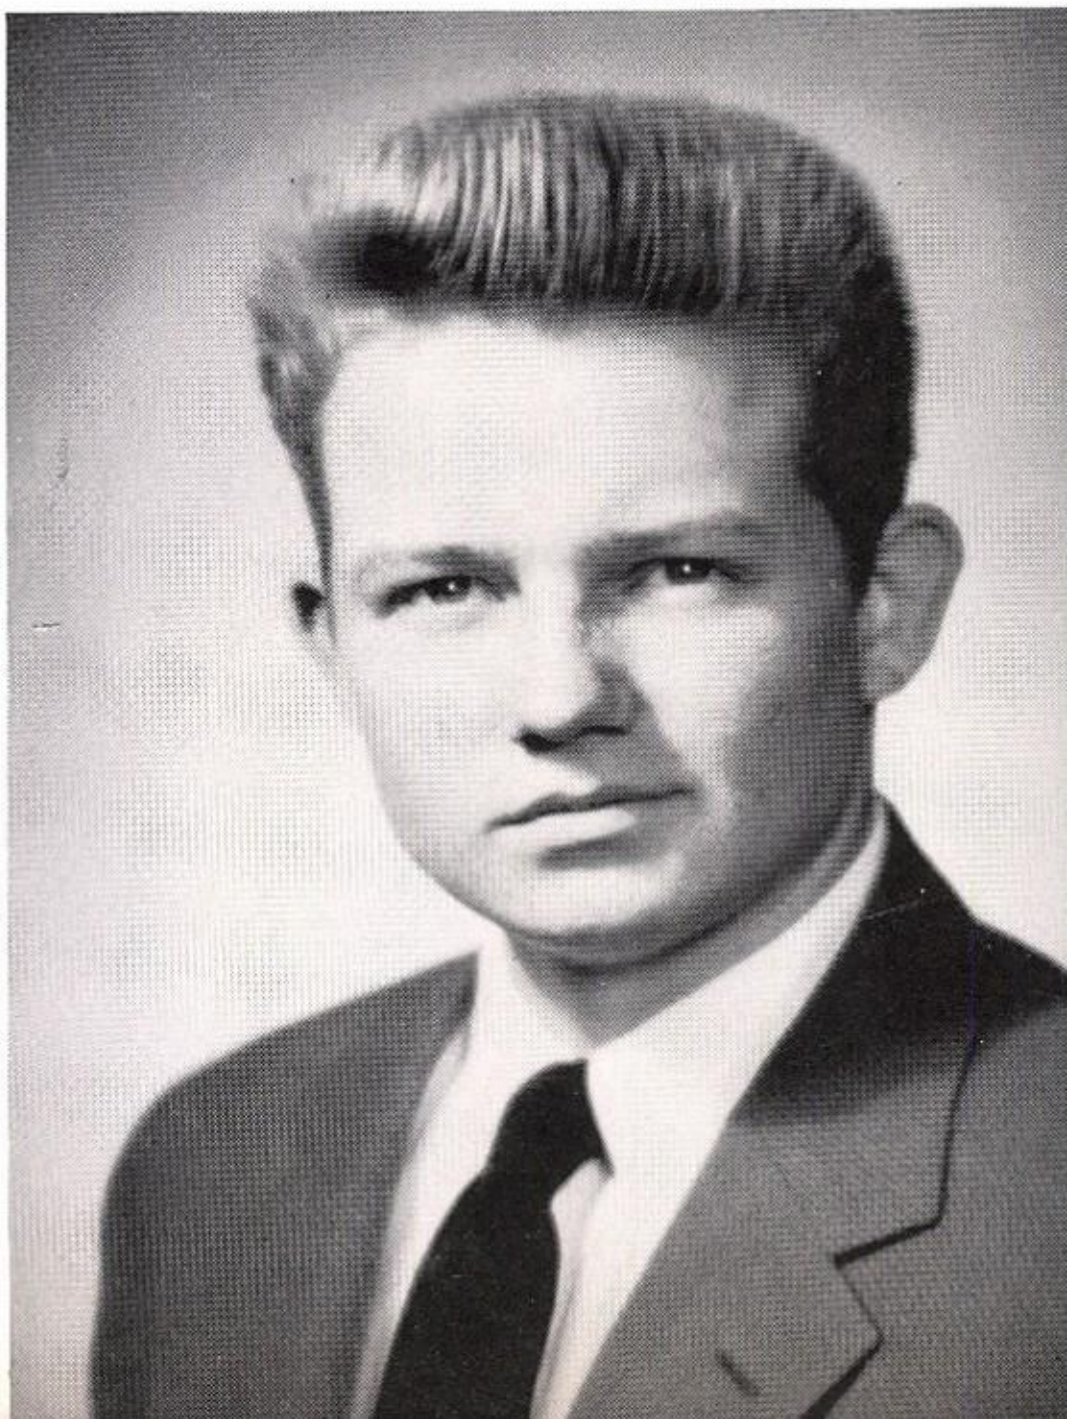
Great things always come in small packages.

Carol entered Kinkaid three years ago. She is well-known for her fine voice and has had parts in "Patience," "The Mikado," and "The Gondoliers." Dancing, sewing, and swimming are her favorite activities. Carol also participated in sports and has lettered twice in "B" team basketball. Next year Carol plans to attend Finch where she will major in designing.

JOHN BAIRD

The force of his own merit makes his way.

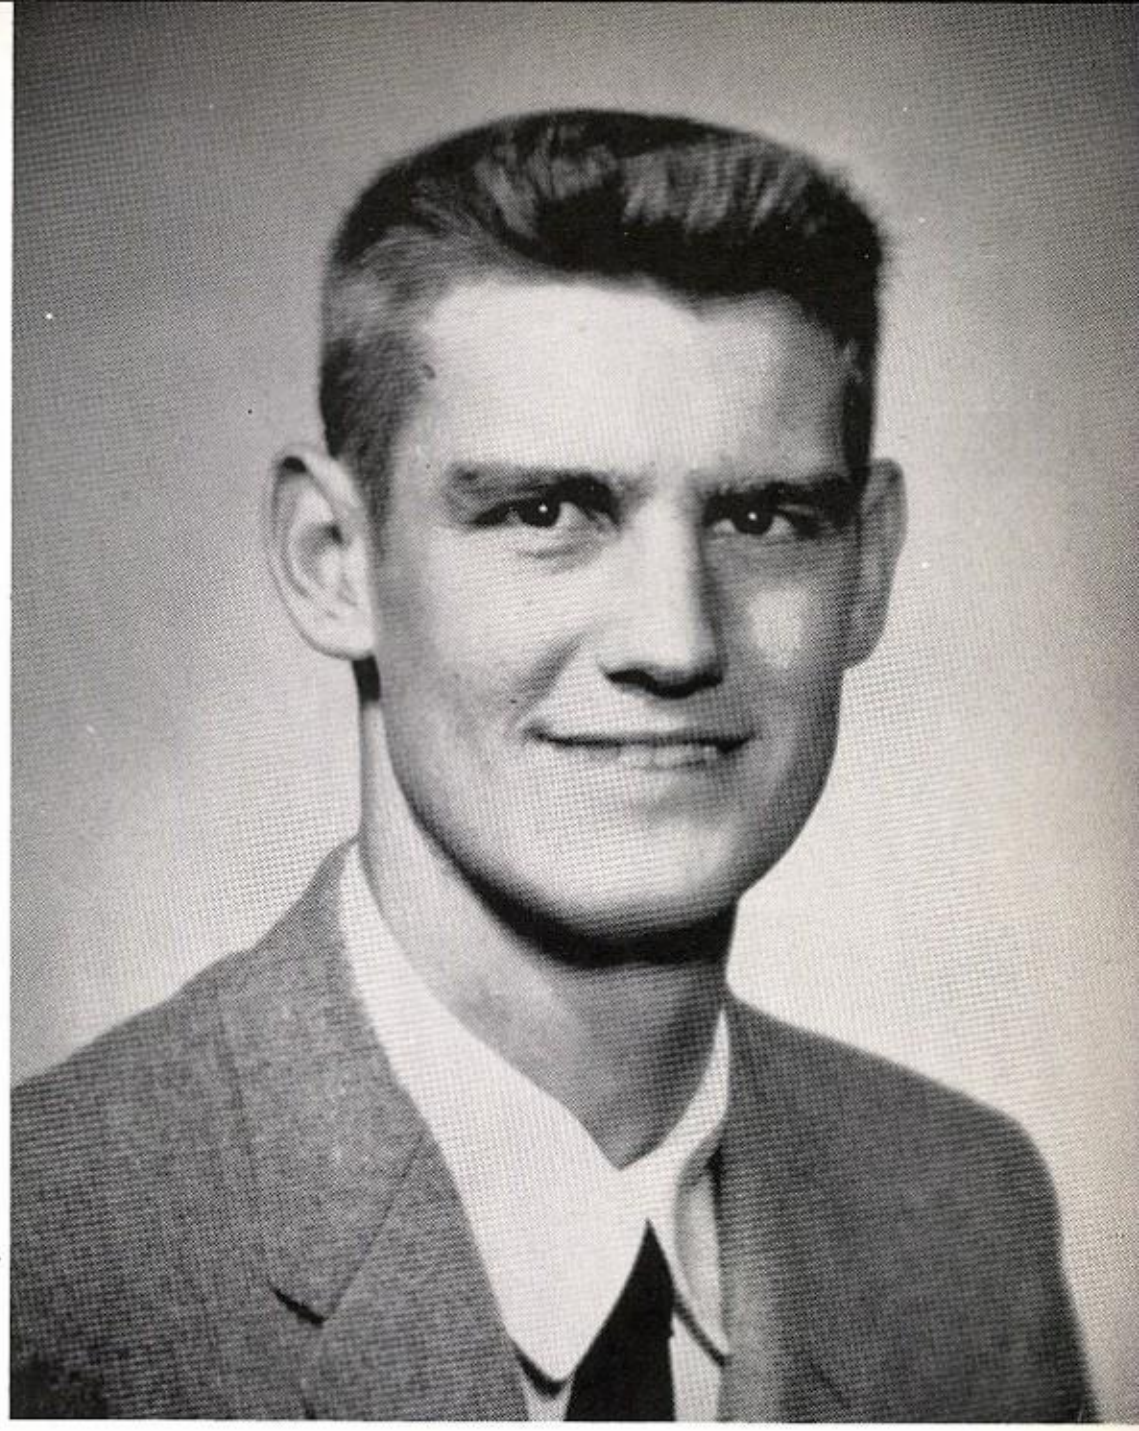
Johnny, who loves nothing better than a practical joke, has been pestering his Kinkaid teachers since kindergarten. Although mischievous, he is also a very serious person when it comes to business. He has been an excellent business manager for the Annual this year. He himself has said that he would rather work on his ads for the Annual during lunch than eat. John has also been in the Debating and Science Clubs and played football in 1956. Next year Rice may get this energetic business man for he hopes to study engineering there.

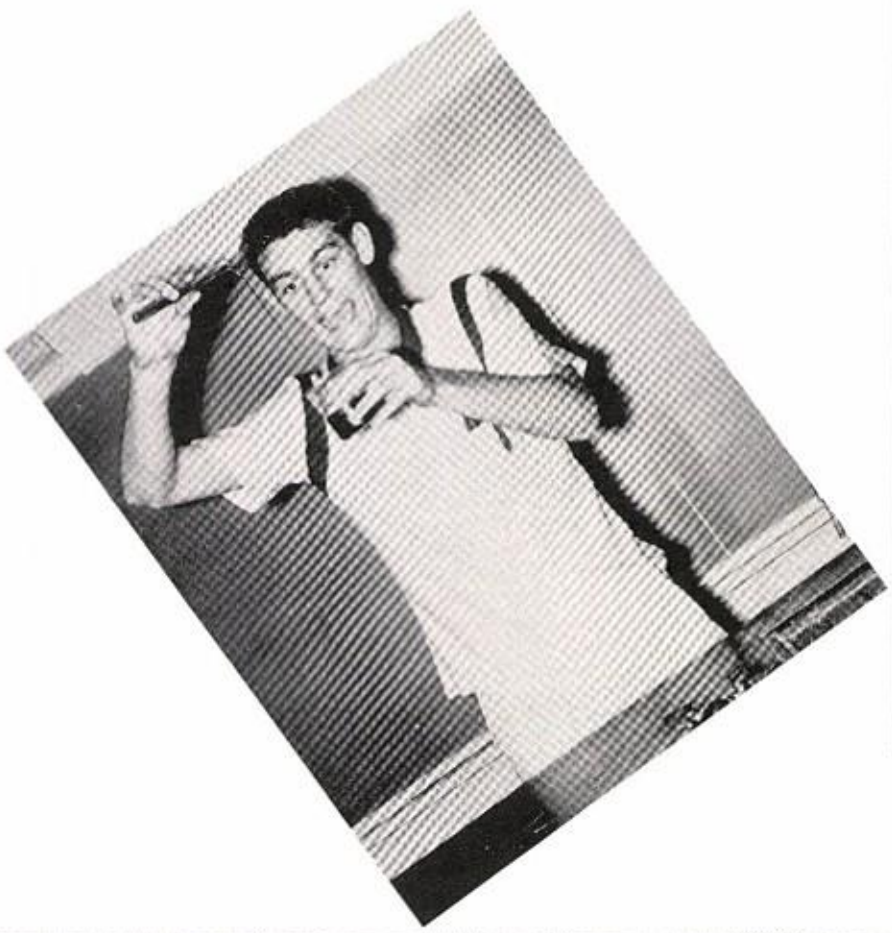


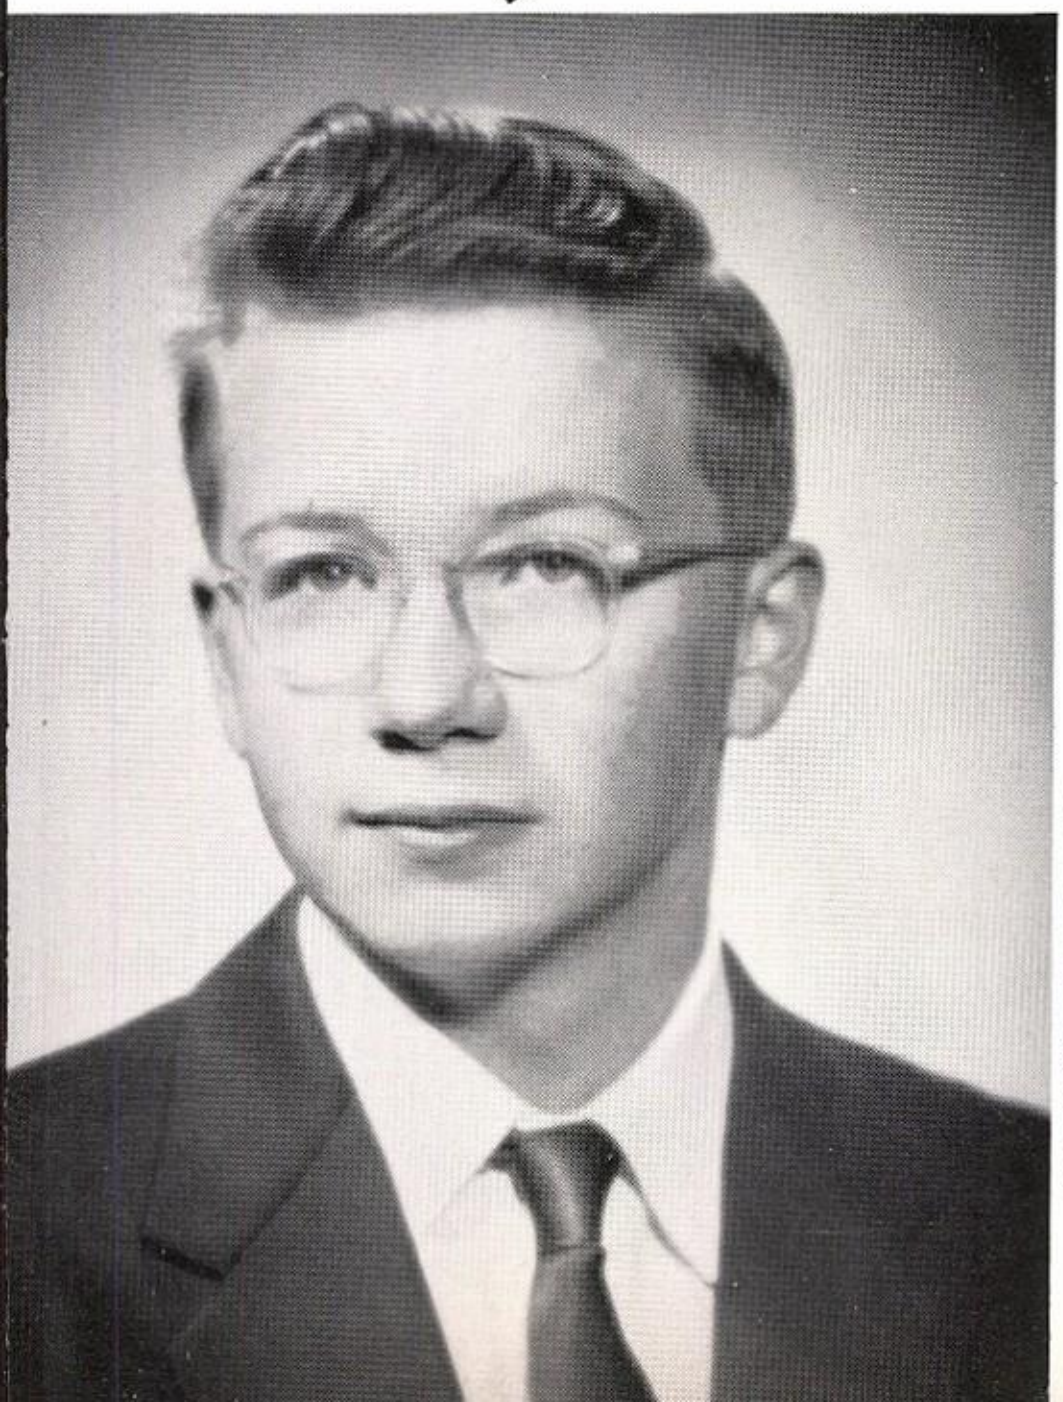
PHIL BOZEMAN

Blessed are the joy makers.

One of our most popular seniors is Phil Bozeman. He became a Kinkaidian in the seventh grade. Phil has played freshman basketball, two years of Junior Varsity football and one year of Varsity football. His hobby is hunting and he has belonged to the Chess and Science Clubs. Phil's great sense of humor, and especially his quick smile, are sure to make him a natural favorite at Texas University where he plans to be next year.



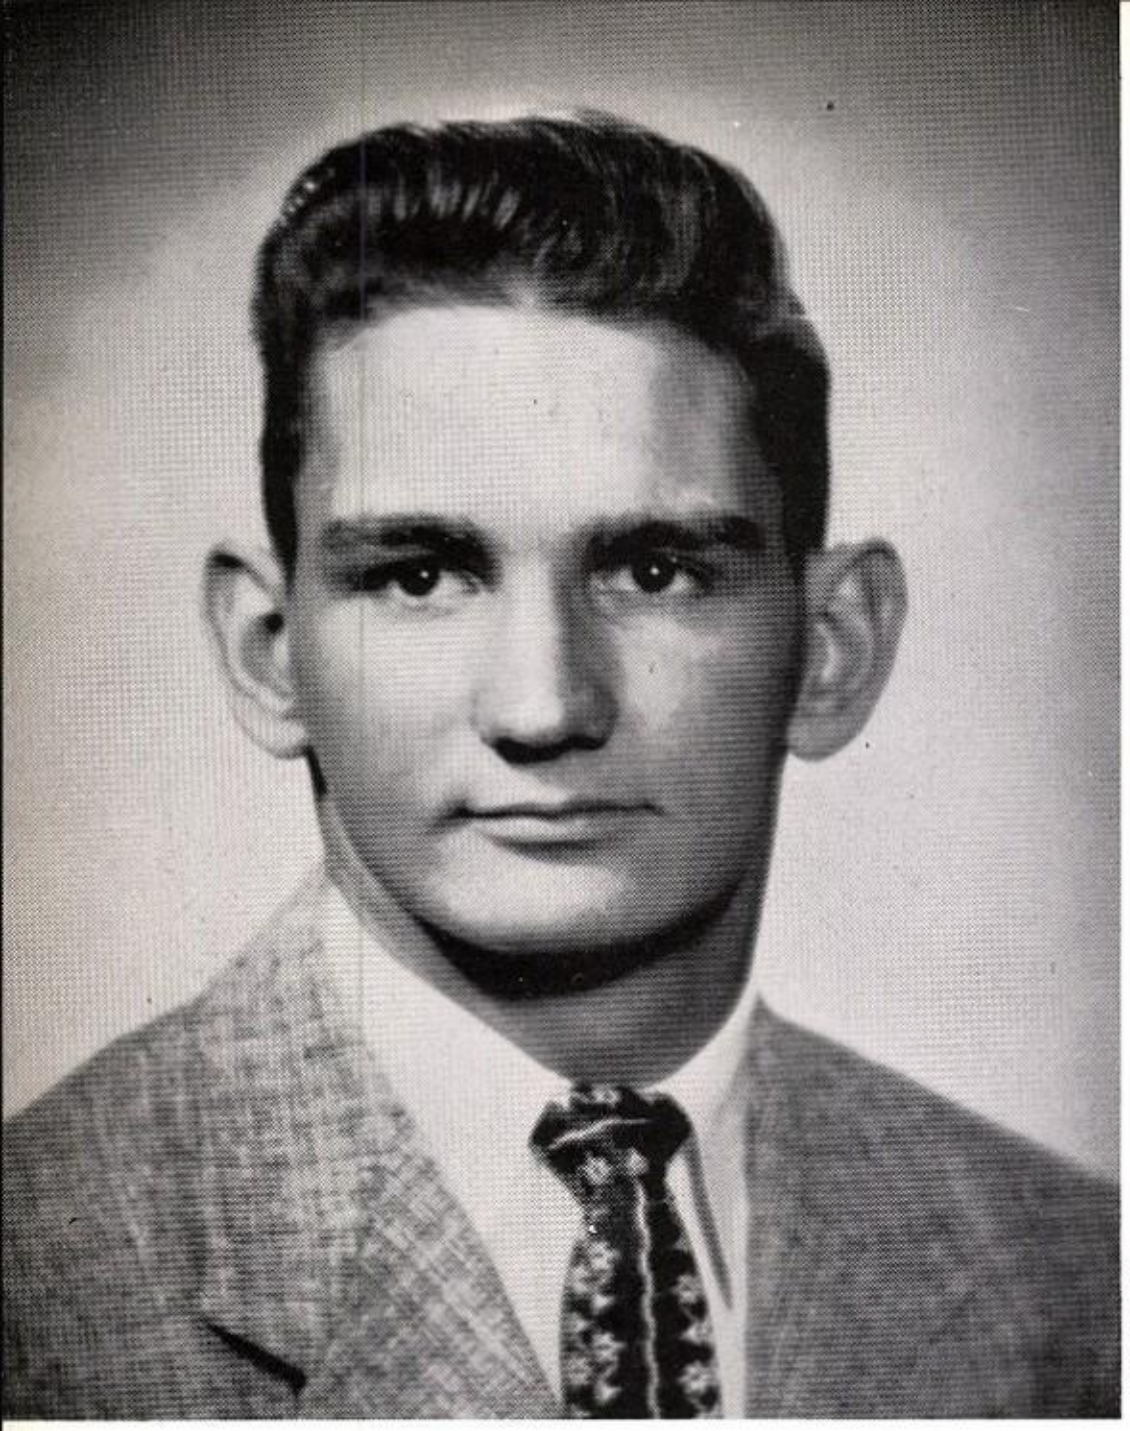




JOHN BRECKENRIDGE

He thinks all he speaks, but does not speak all he thinks.

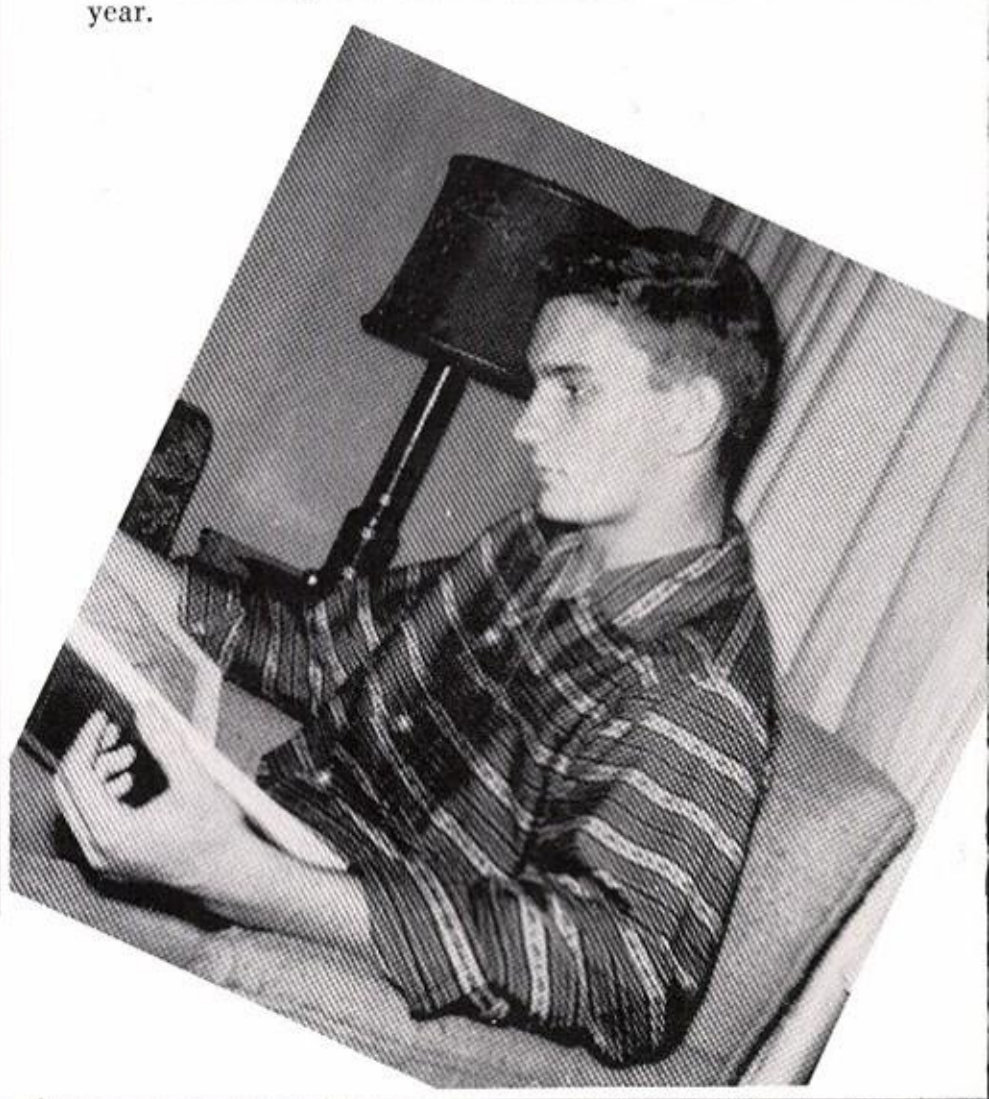
Ever since "Breck" entered Kinkaid as a freshman, he has been dependable. John has been a member of the Boys' Chorus and has taken part in the "Mikado" and "Patience." He was also a member of the "Falcon" and the Science Club. John played JV football for two years and was manager of the Varsity basketball team. His favorite hobbies are cars and photography. John can't fail to make good at Georgia Tech next year where he will major in Architectural Engineering.



DICK BRIEN

If you want something done well select a busy man.

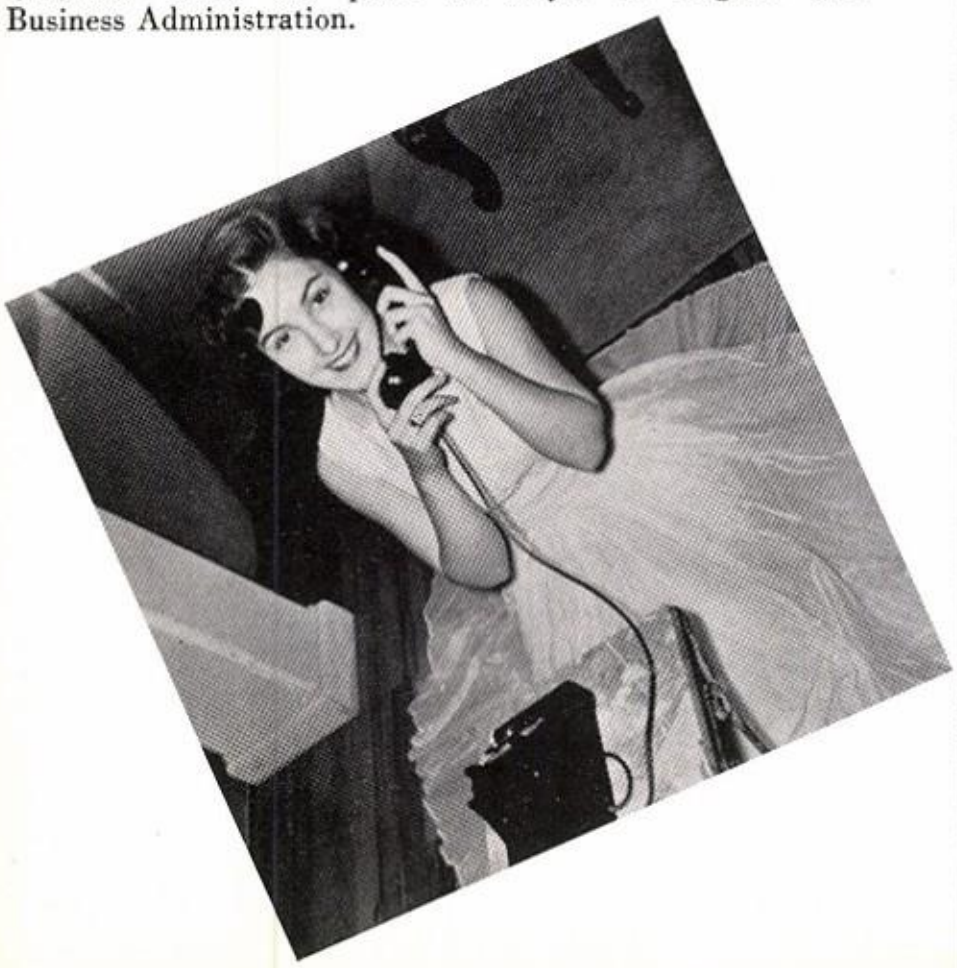
Dick entered Kinkaid as a sophomore and has been a big part of school life ever since. He has lettered in football and basketball for two years and was selected All-Conference in "B" team basketball. An outstanding student, Dick has won two scholarship pins, the Harvard Book Award and an award for his essay on Literary Appreciation. A real "all 'round" guy, Dick has been Vice President of the Student Council, Sports Editor of the Student Body. With this list of accomplishments, Dick can't help but attain success at Rice or MIT next year.



VIRGINIA BURBRIDGE

Truth is within ourselves.

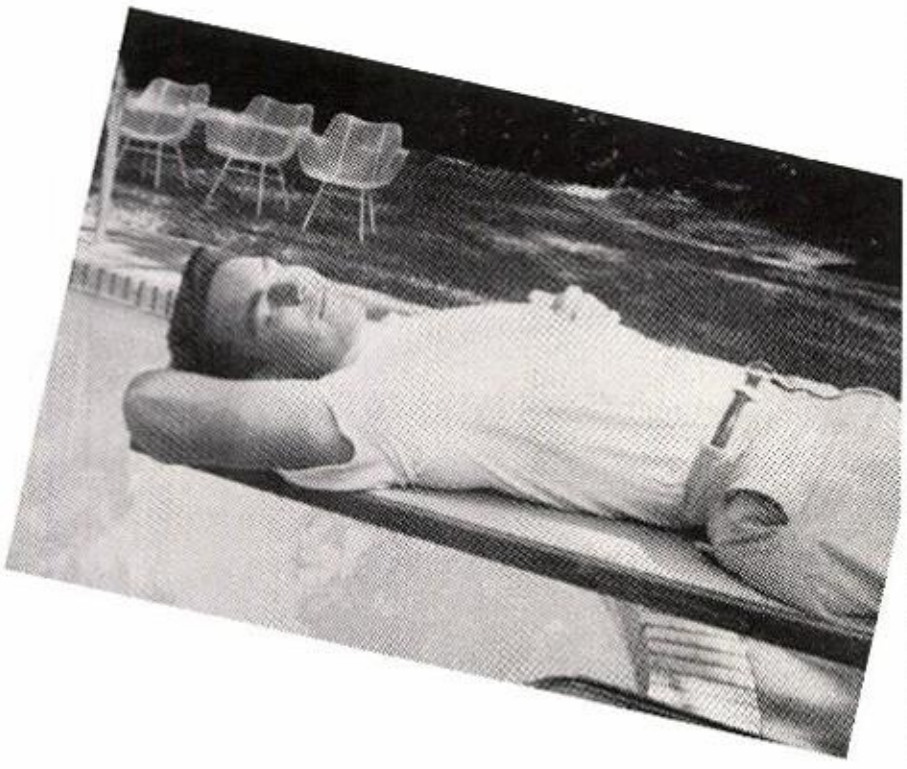
Virginia started to school here in Kindergarten. After many years she strayed her sophomore and junior years to return again in the fall of her senior year. She takes an active part in modeling, playing tennis, hospital charity work and Junior Achievement. She was chosen as the beauty favorite for her company in Junior Achievement. For clubs she chose Poise, Drama, Red Cross, and Chorus. Next year Virginia will attend the University of Colorado where she plans to major in English and Business Administration.

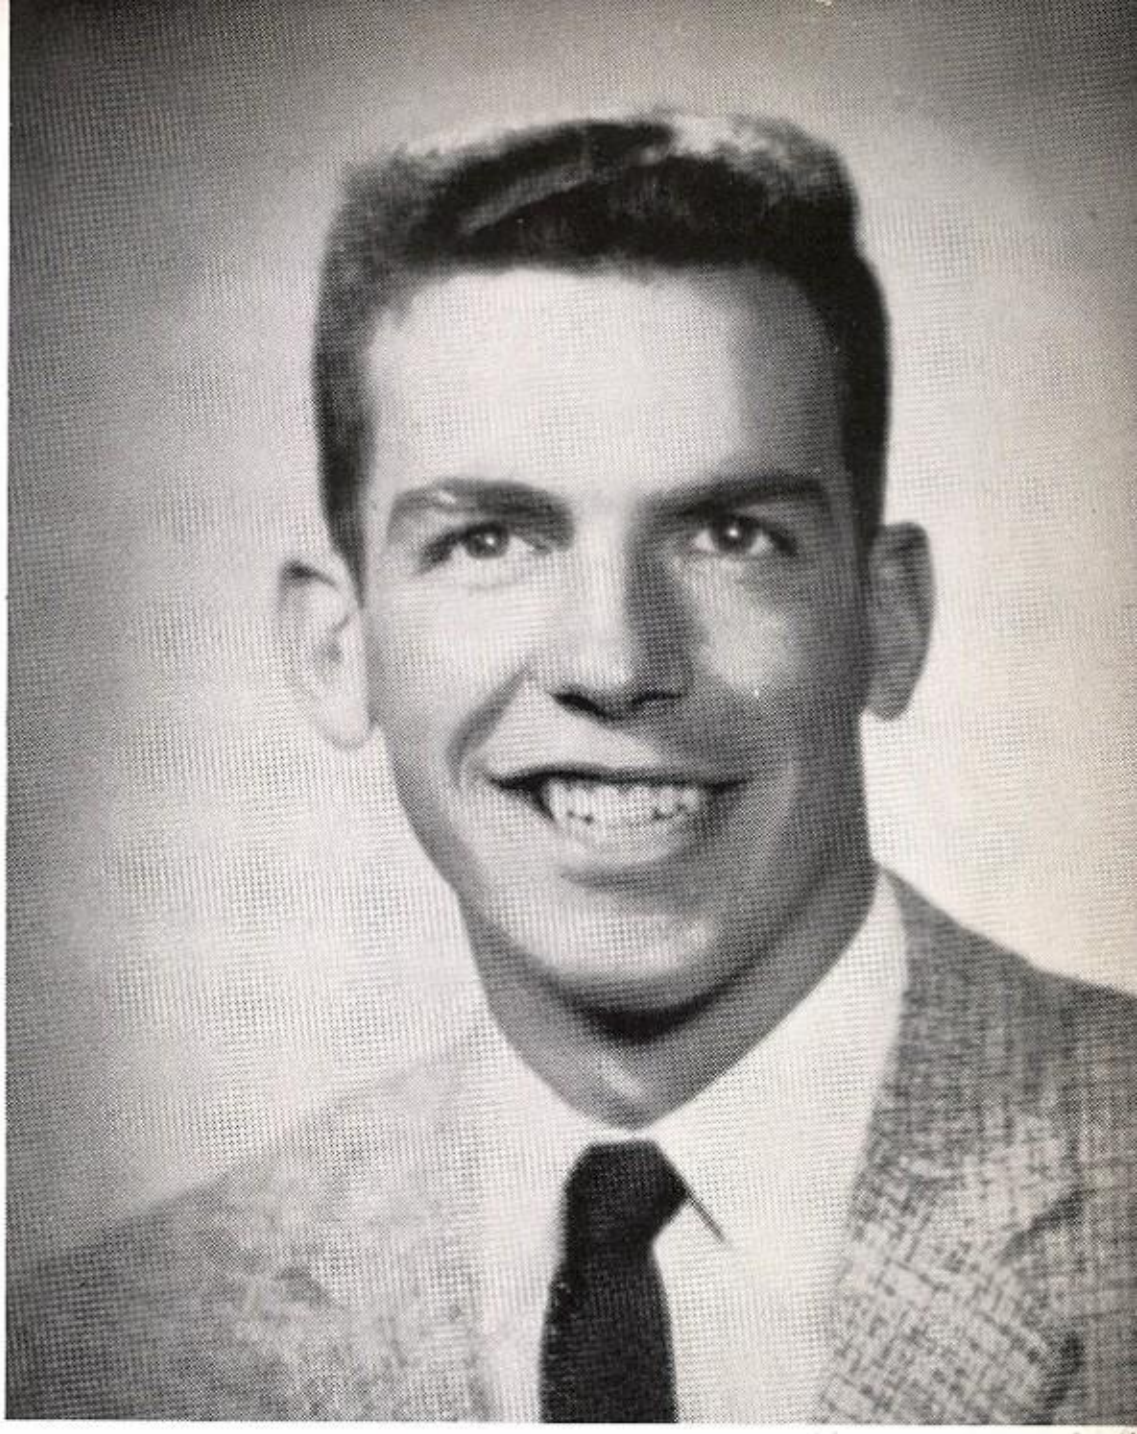


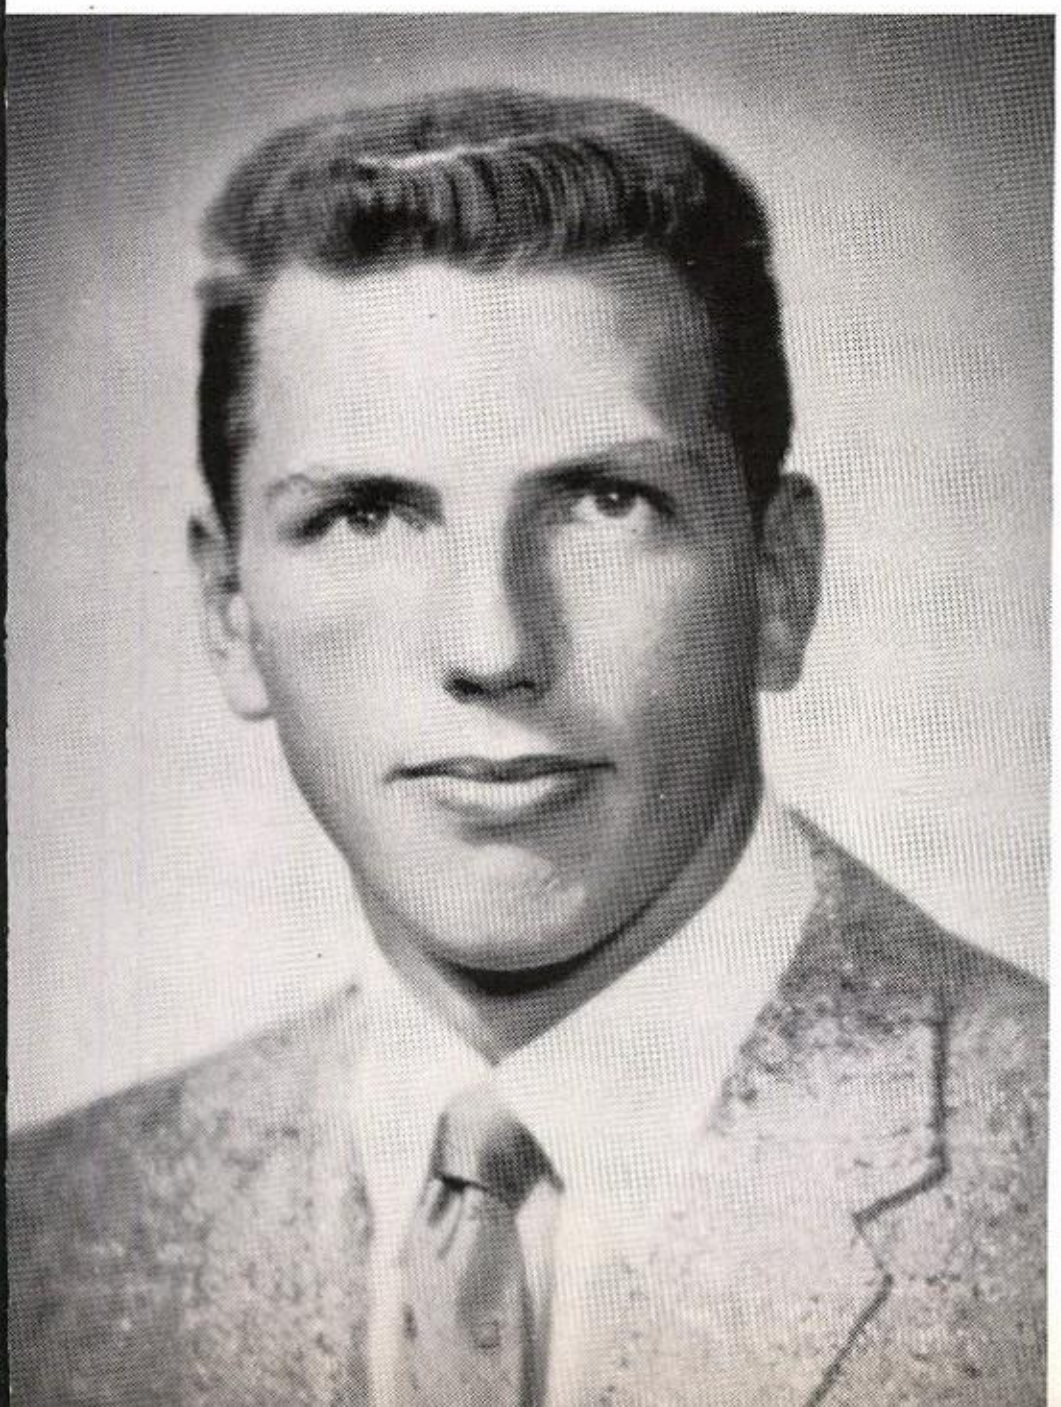
CHARLES BURRELL

Intermingle jest with earnest.

Charlie came to Kinkaid at mid-tern two years ago. He has lettered in football twice and in "B" team basketball. He was awarded outstanding lineman trophy for 56 in football. Among his favorite activities are swimming and sleeping. Charles was Sports Editor for the Kinkaidian, and a member of the Student Council this year. He was also the Fire Marshal and Lab Assistant. He participated in Drama in "Androcles and the Lion" and in "Everyman." Next fall Charlie will attend Colorado School of Mines and will major in Petroleum Engineering.



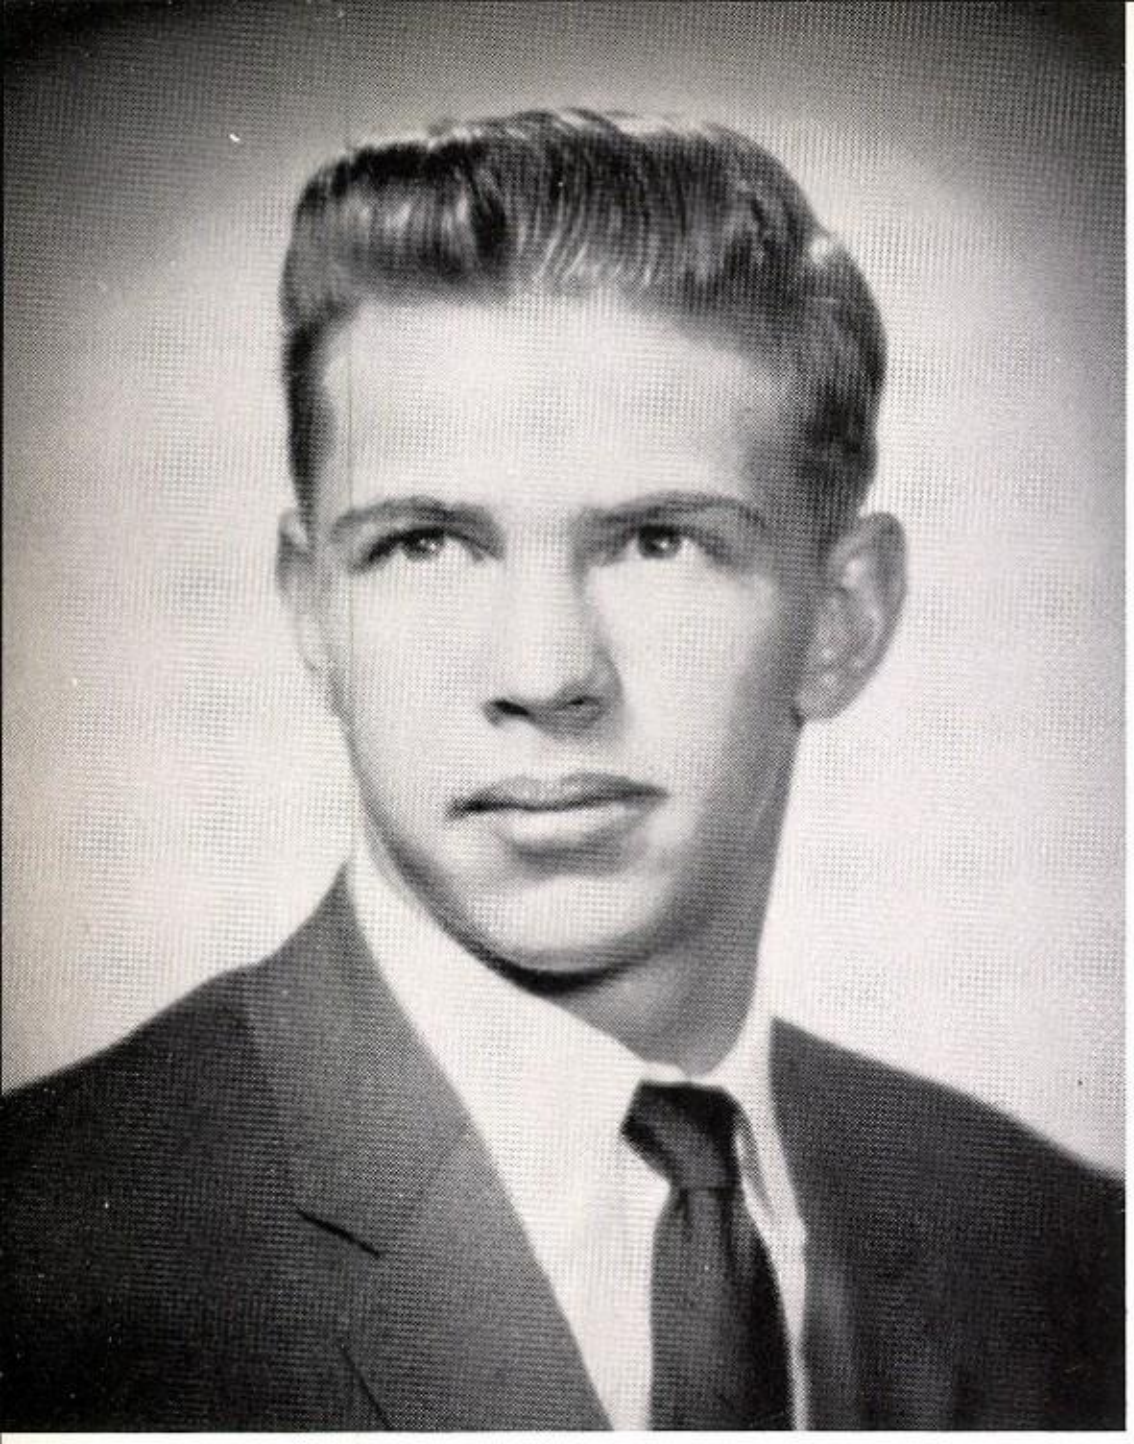




JOHN BUTLER

I ought therefore I can.

John's name is known in the football circles of all city high schools. He excels the most in sports, especially football. He has been the co-captain of the Falcons for two years and has been playing the game since the sixth grade. Basketball also occupies his time. He has received four letters in football and three letters in basketball. All sports are his hobbies and he was given the defensive player trophy in football of 55. We wish John the very best of luck next year when he goes to either Georgia Tech or Oklahoma, where he plans to major in Petroleum Engineering.



TOM KELLY BUTLER

The great end of life is not knowledge but action.

Tom Kelly came to Kinkaid as a senior from San Jacinto. He is a rugged outdoorman as proved by his love for fishing and hunting. He was a letterman end on the Varsity football team. His smile is plenty big enough to match his "king-size" frame. He's just a big ol' easy goin' guy and we know that his geniality will fast make him a success at Texas University.

JULIE CASHMAN

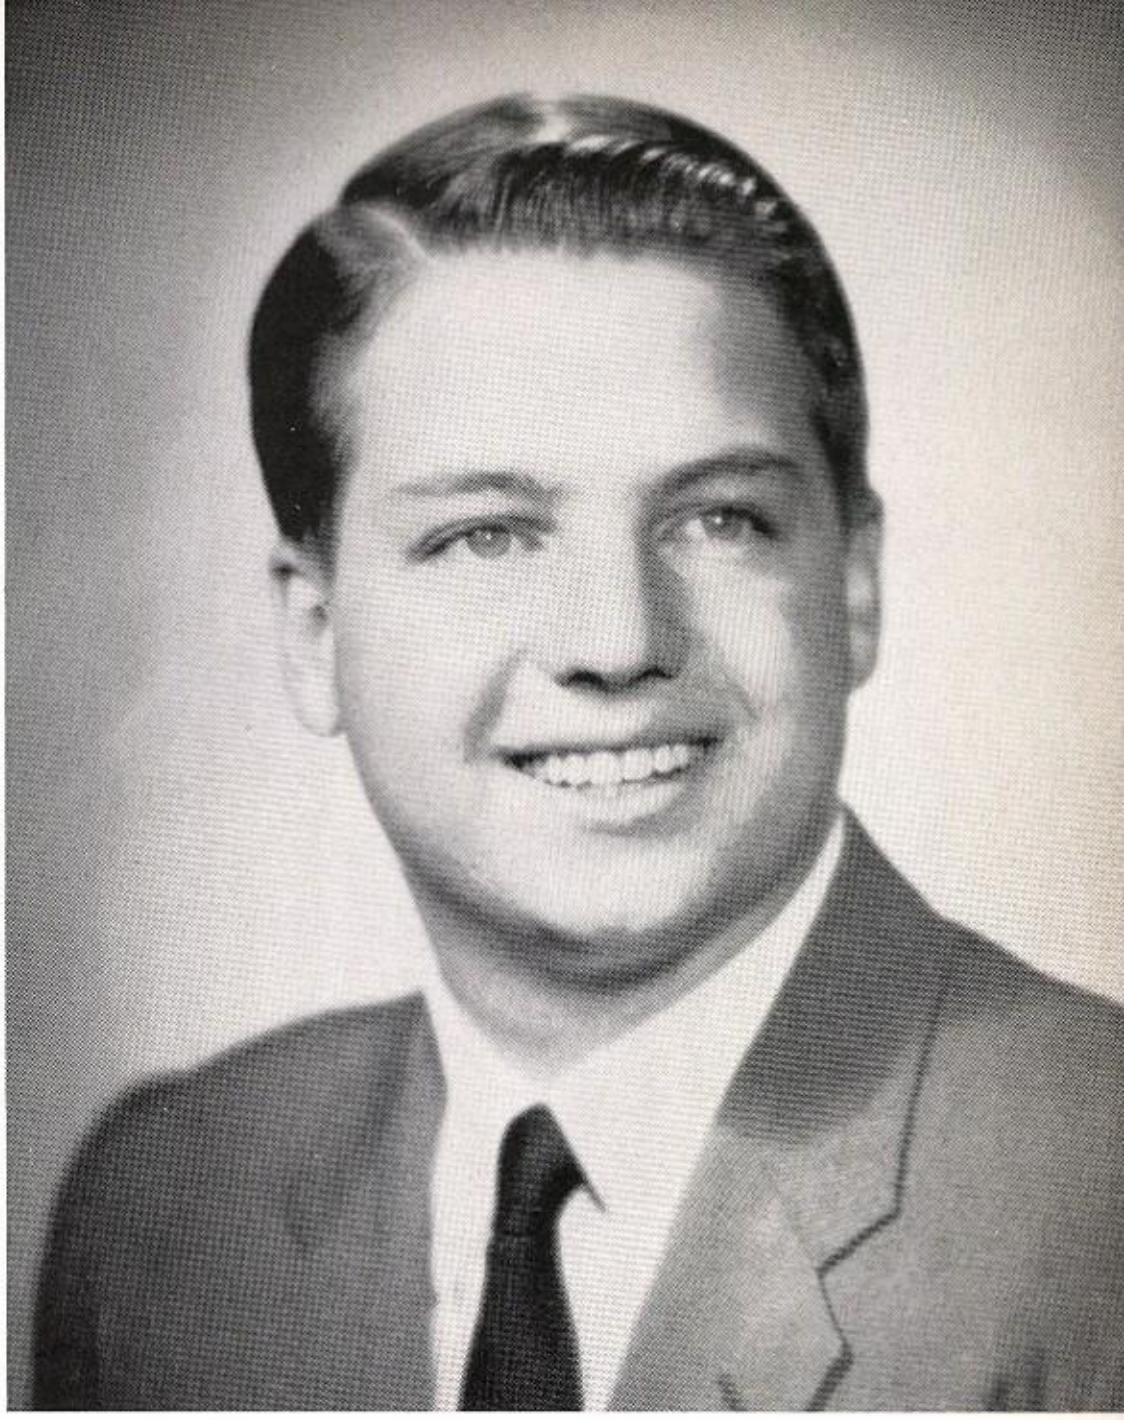
Nothing is impossible to the willing heart.

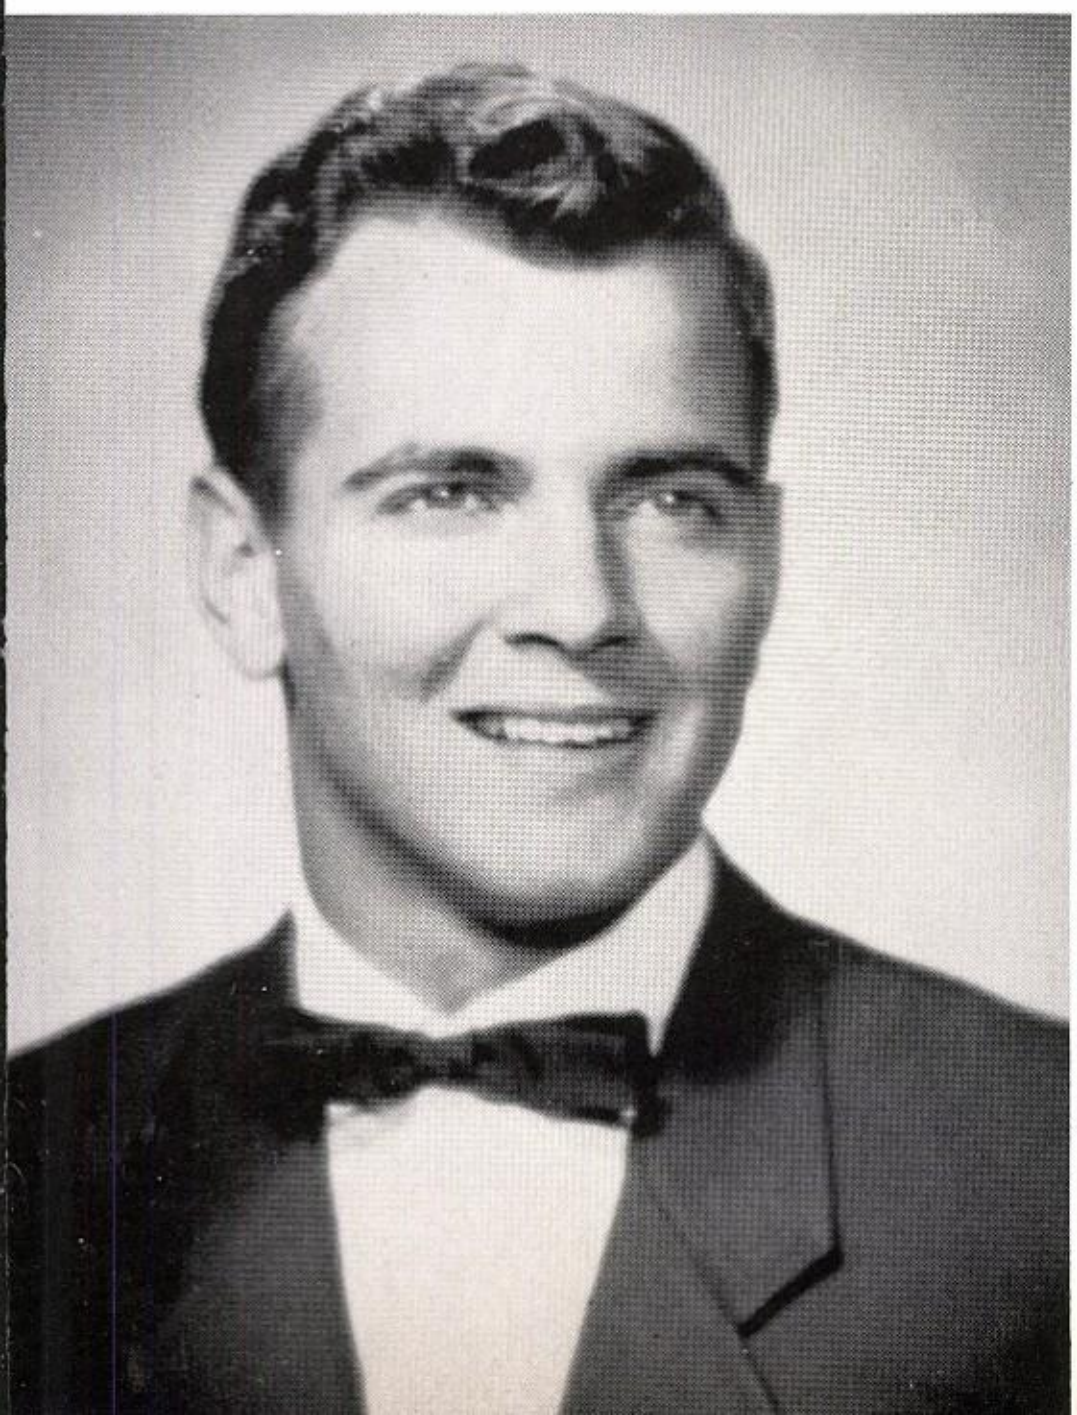
Julie entered Kinkaid's doors in the seventh grade and since then has excelled in fine art work and dramatics. She has been an outstanding member of the Girls' Chorus Club and has been in the operettas, "Patience" and "Mikado" as well as the plays, "Androcles and the Lion" and "Wonder Hat." Also talented in writing, Julie has maintained a high scholastic average during her years here. Next year, Julie would like to attend the University of Colorado and major in English and Elementary Education.

CARTER CHRISTIE

Life is not so short but that there is always time enough for courtesy.

Carter came to Kinkaid in his junior year. His favorite sport is riding and he lists photography as his favorite hobby. Carter's acting ability was demonstrated when he participated in the school production "Androcles and the Lion." He has also proved himself one of Kinkaid's top students. Best wishes to Carter next year at Princeton where he will major in Law.

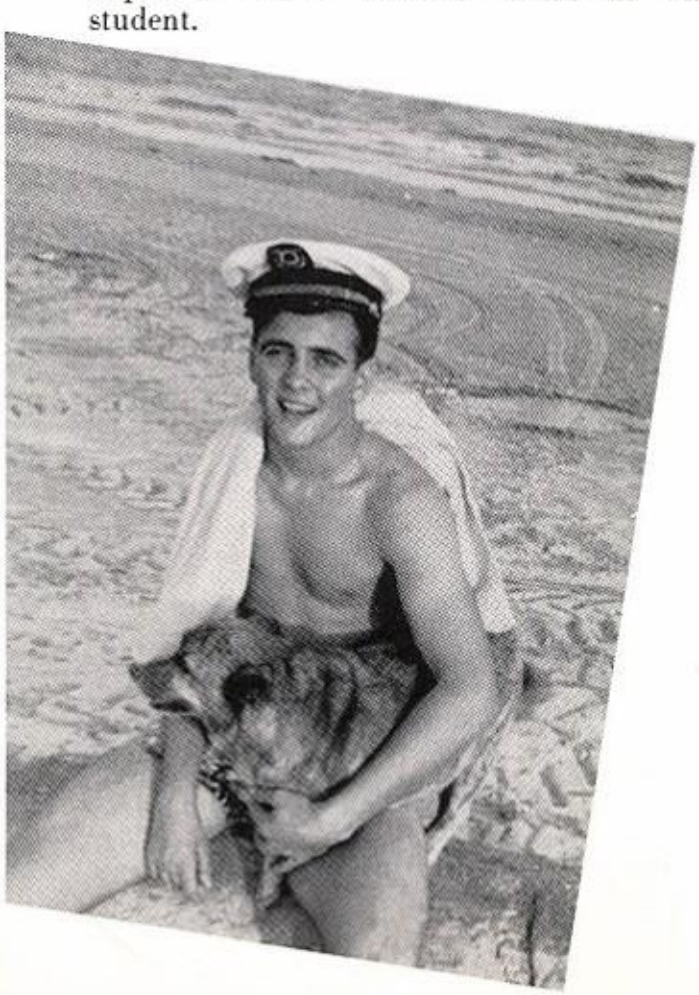


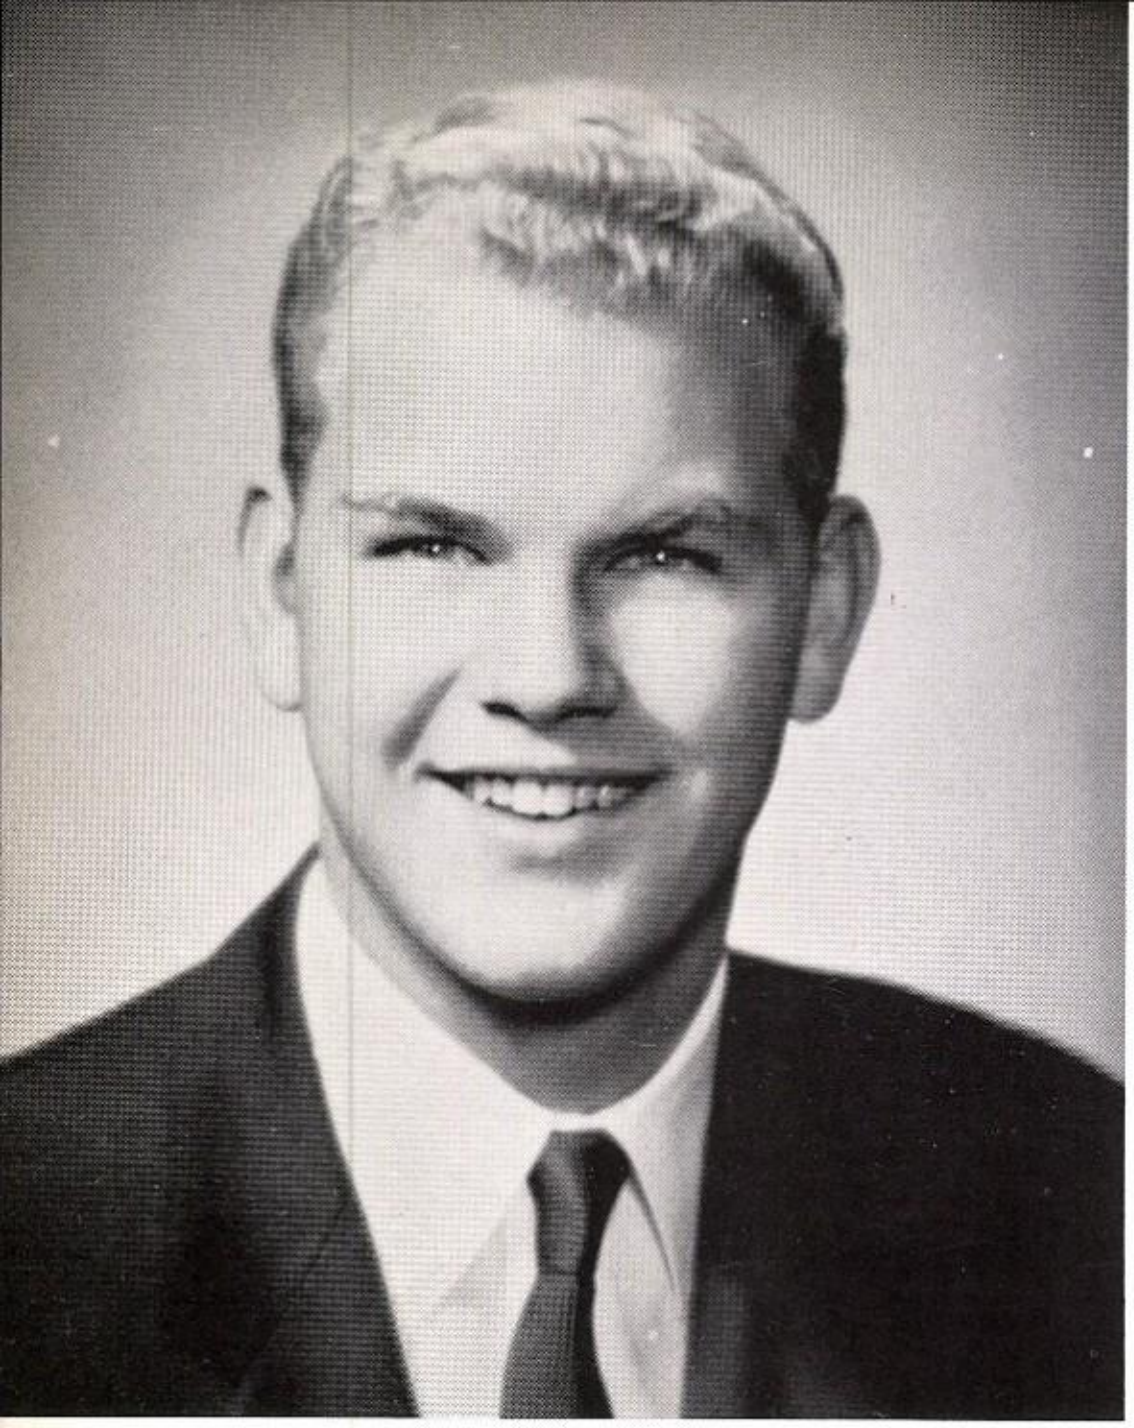


KEITH CHUNN

Silence is more eloquent than words.

Keith came to Kinkaid from St. Vincents in the sixth grade and in the past seven years he has become known for his efficient way of getting things done. In school he has been an active participant in the Science, Chess and Chorus Clubs. Outside of school Keith can usually be found working on his hot rod, swimming in the summer, and hunting in the winter. Next year Keith hopes to attend Stanford where he will be a pre-med student.

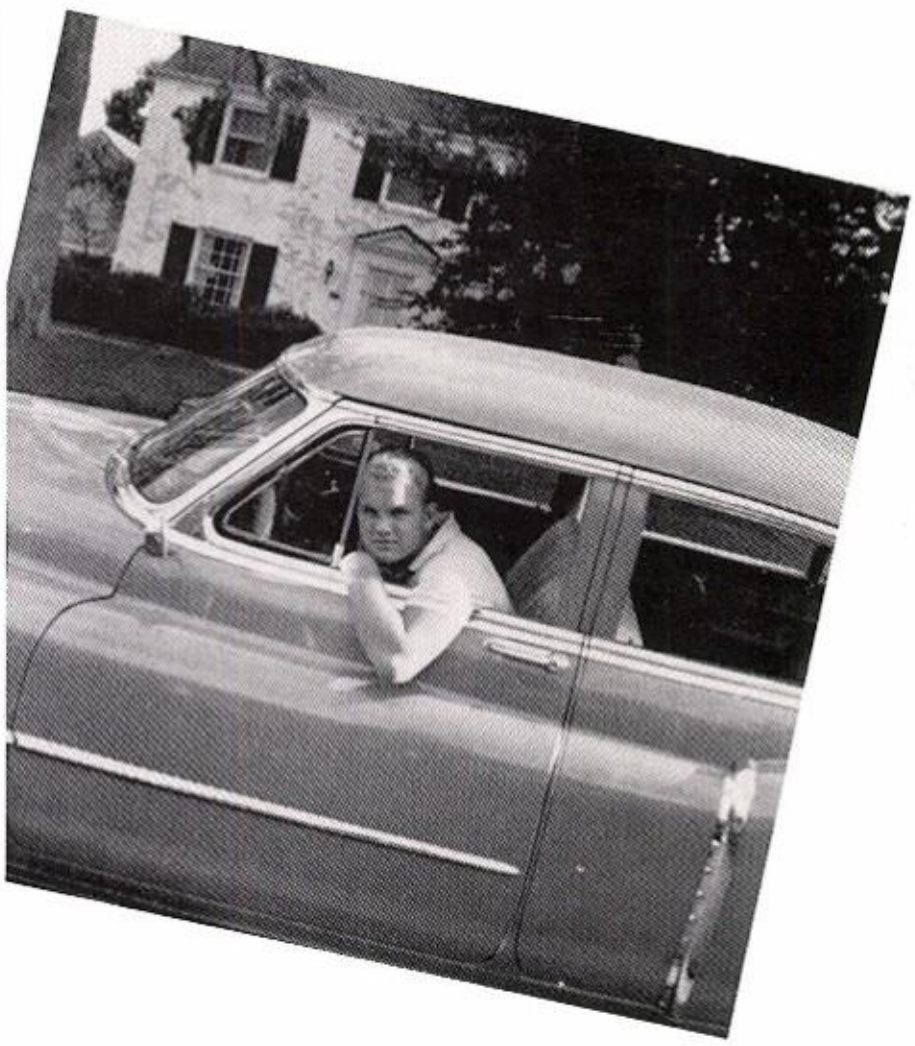




JIMMY CLAPP

Imagination is the air of mind.

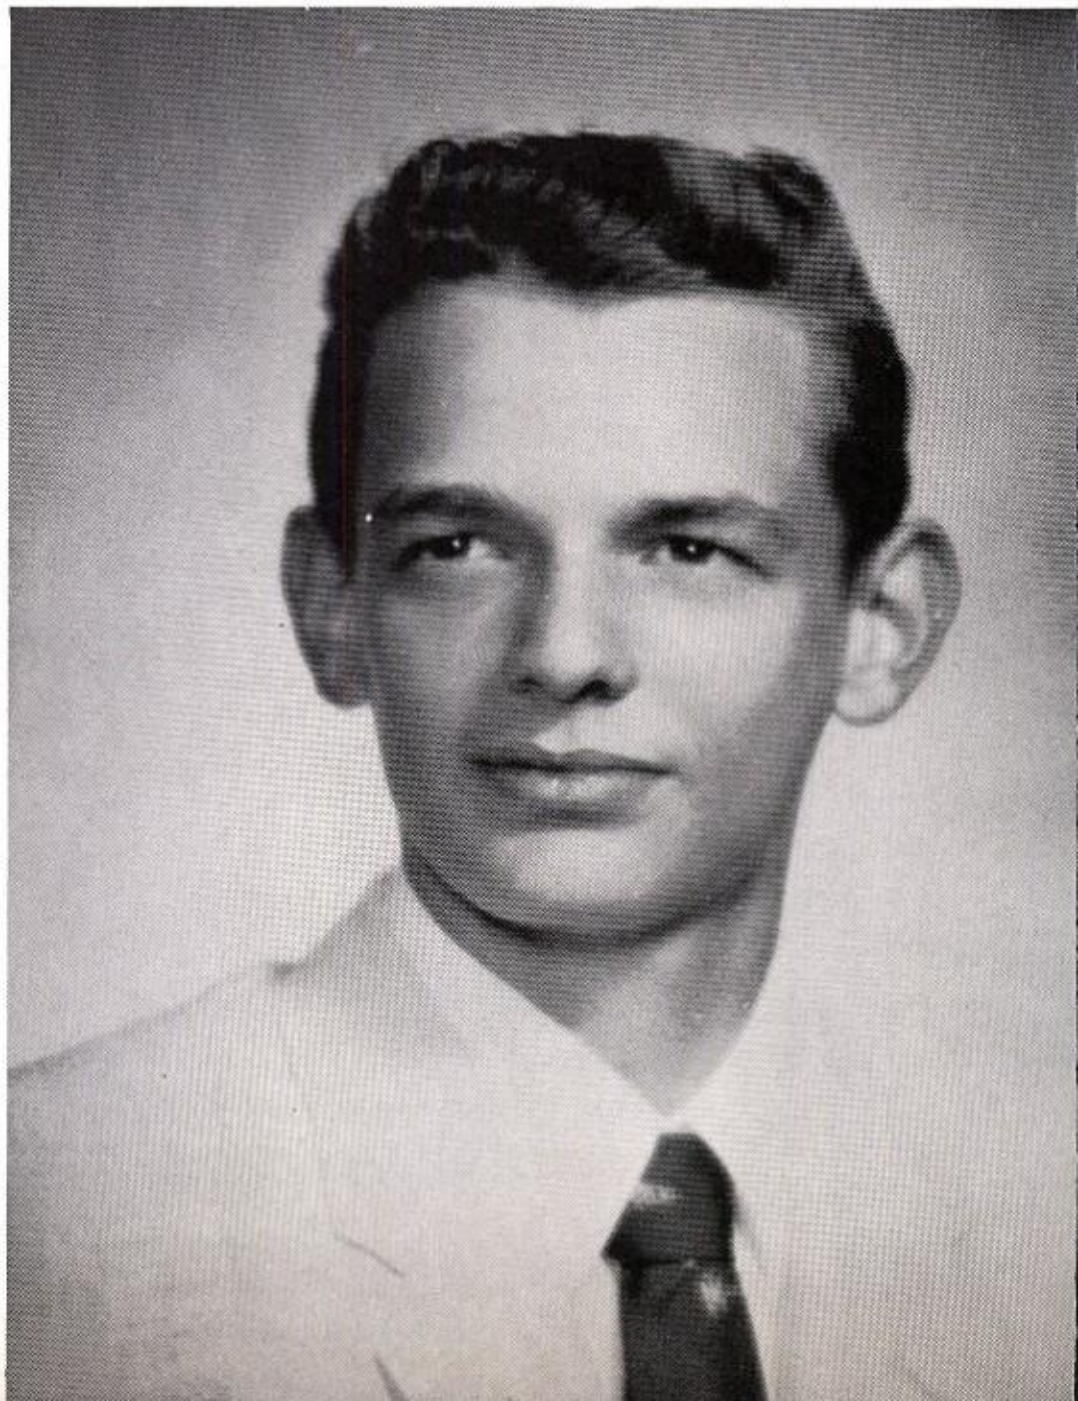
Jimmie entered Kinkaid in the sixth grade. Besides playing baseball, basketball and JV football, he has been active in two school operettas. He has also been in the Journalism Club and the First Aid Club. His favorite hobbies are working on his car and reading about airplanes. Jim's great sense of humor will be missed next year, when he will attend Oklahoma University and major in Geological Engineering.



ALAN COOPER

An honest man's word is as good as his bond.

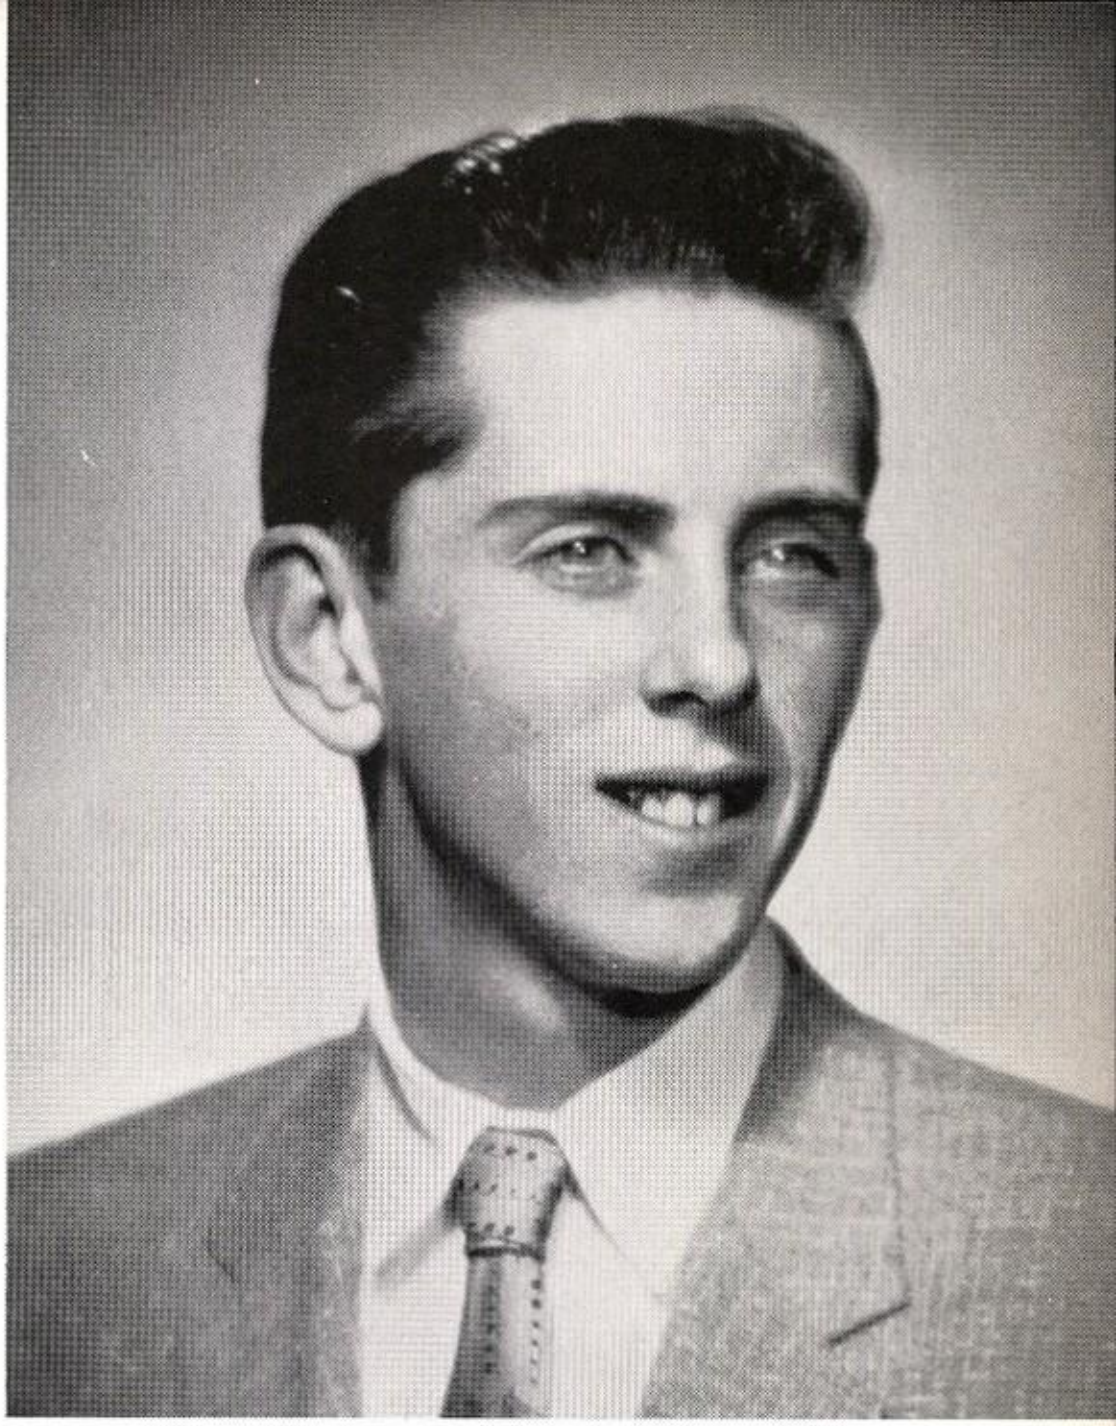
Alan came to Kinkaid with the rest of the Cooper's in the seventh grade. Although his favorite hobby is loafing, he can also be found "fooling around" with radios. Because of his fine talent in singing and acting, Alan has appeared in almost every one of the shows produced by Kinkaid—some of which are "Patience," "Mikado," and "Gondoliers." His club choices are Falcon and, of course, Chorus. Next year Alan has hopes of attending Yale University where he plans to study Electrical Engineering.

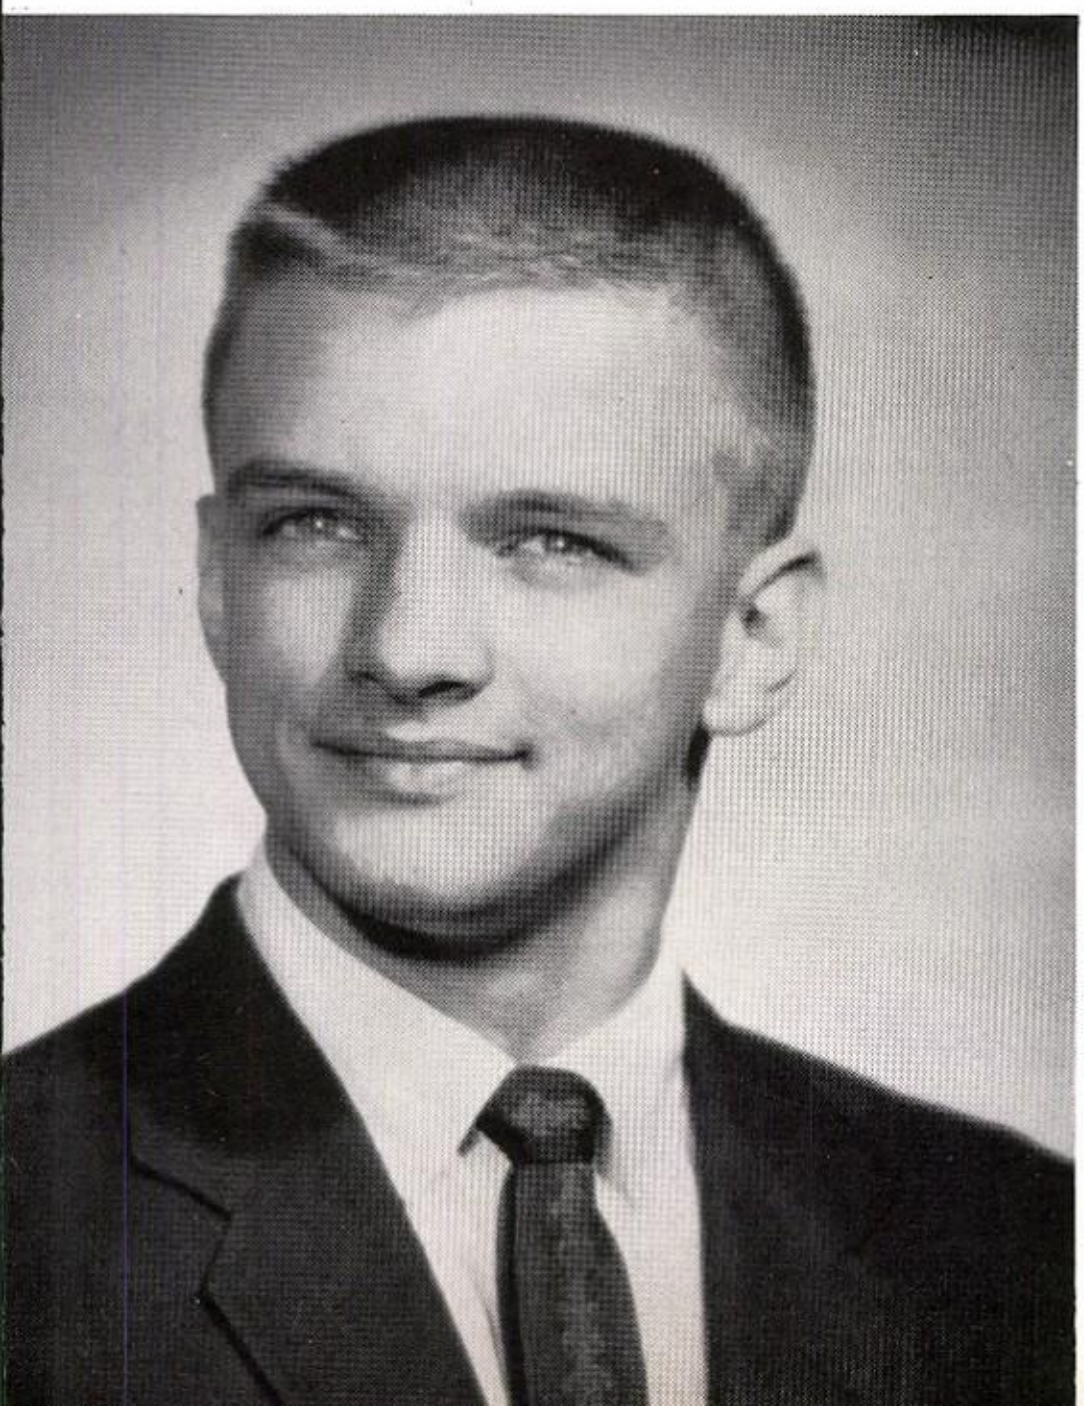


DAVID CROSSLEY

A man of courage is also full of faith.

Dave's quick wit and his willingness to help others have been appreciated ever since he entered Kinkaid as a freshman. Always active in school activities, Dave played "B" team basketball, and received two letters in JV football. He has been on the staff of the Falcon and has played in the "Gondoliers," "Mikado," "Patience," and "H.M.S. Pinafore." In his spare time, Dave likes to go water skiing and hunting, or work on his hi-fi or car. He plans to attend Rice next year where he will study engineering.

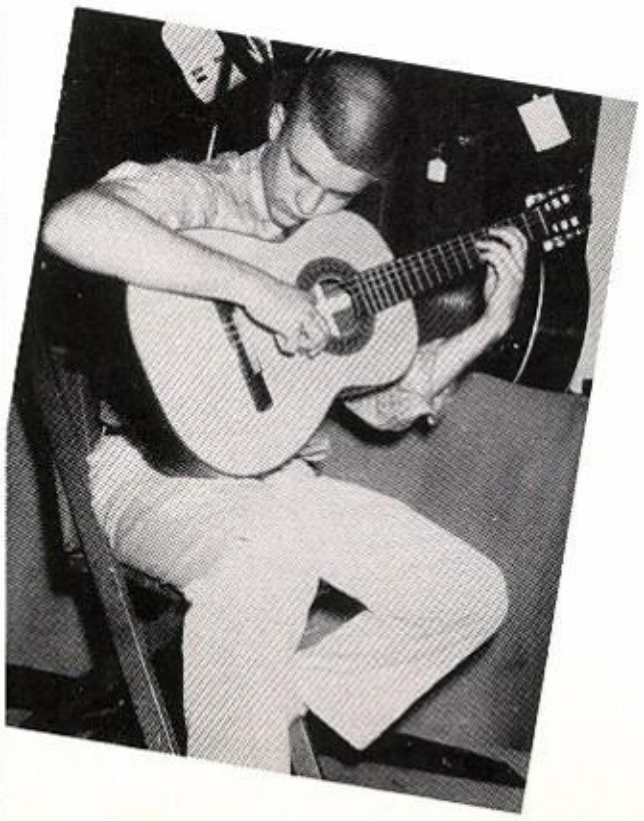


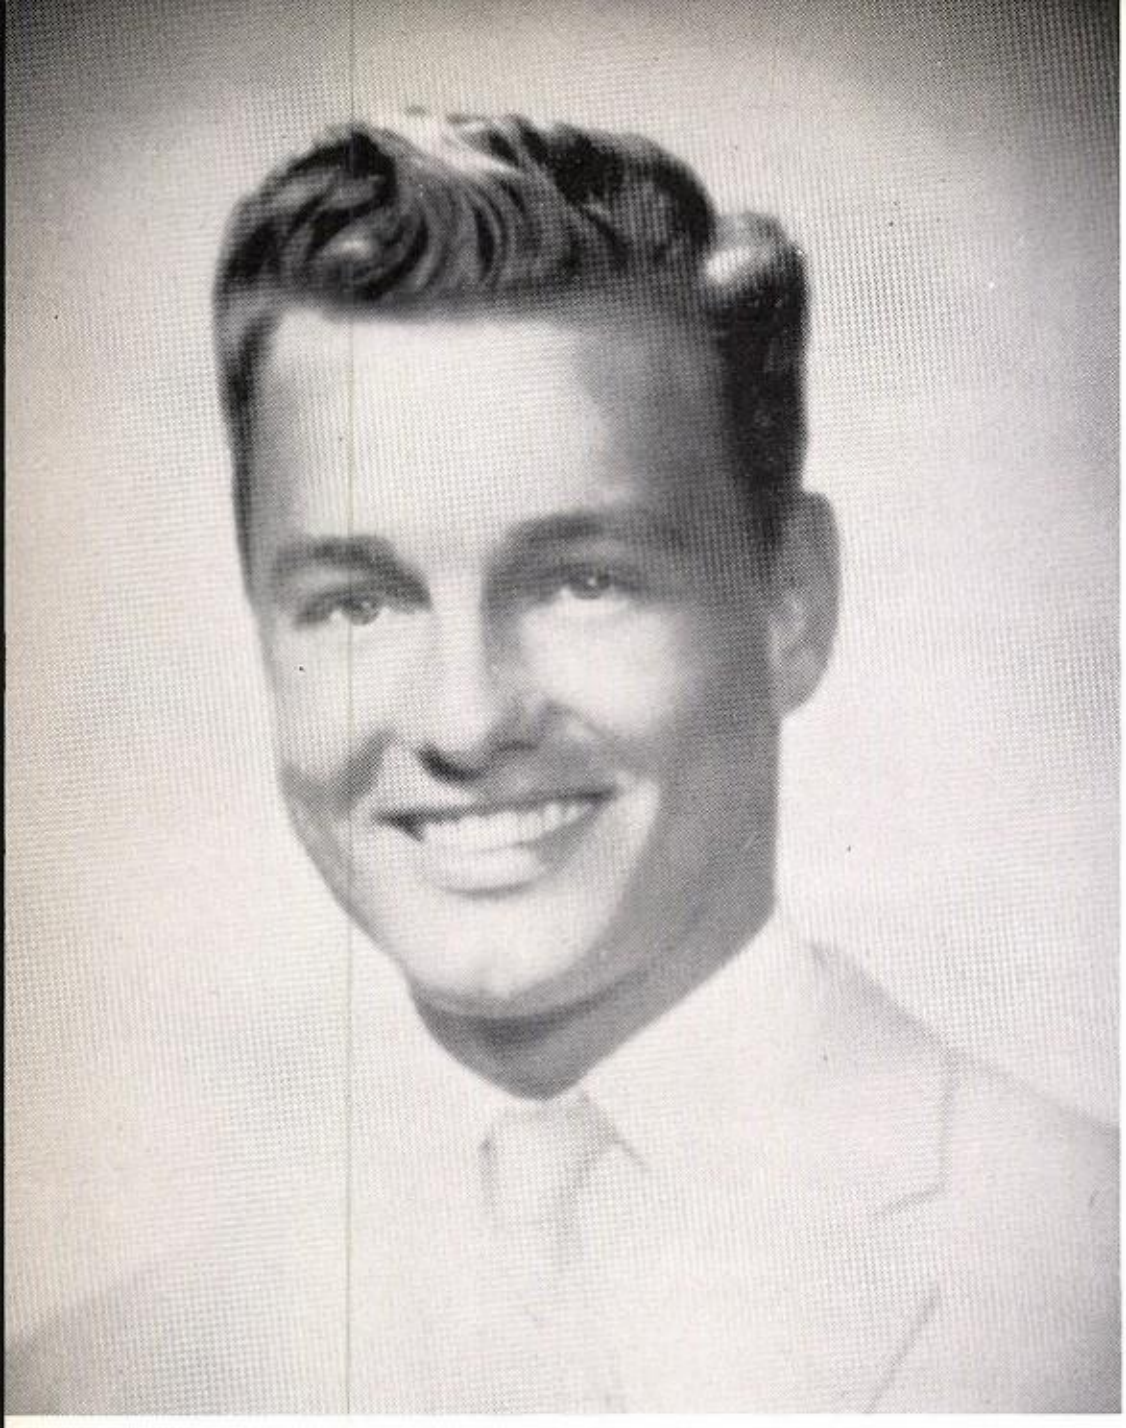


SAM DAVIS

An unextinguished laughter shakes the sky.

Sam has become famous around school for his pride and joy—his guitar. Guitar playing and singing are his favorite hobbies and he has participated in both Chorus and the operettas. Since he entered Kinkaid in the sixth grade, he has twice been a squadman in Varsity football and has also been secretary of the Red Cross. Sam, we are sure, will be a big hit at Austin College next year.





TRAVIS ERWIN

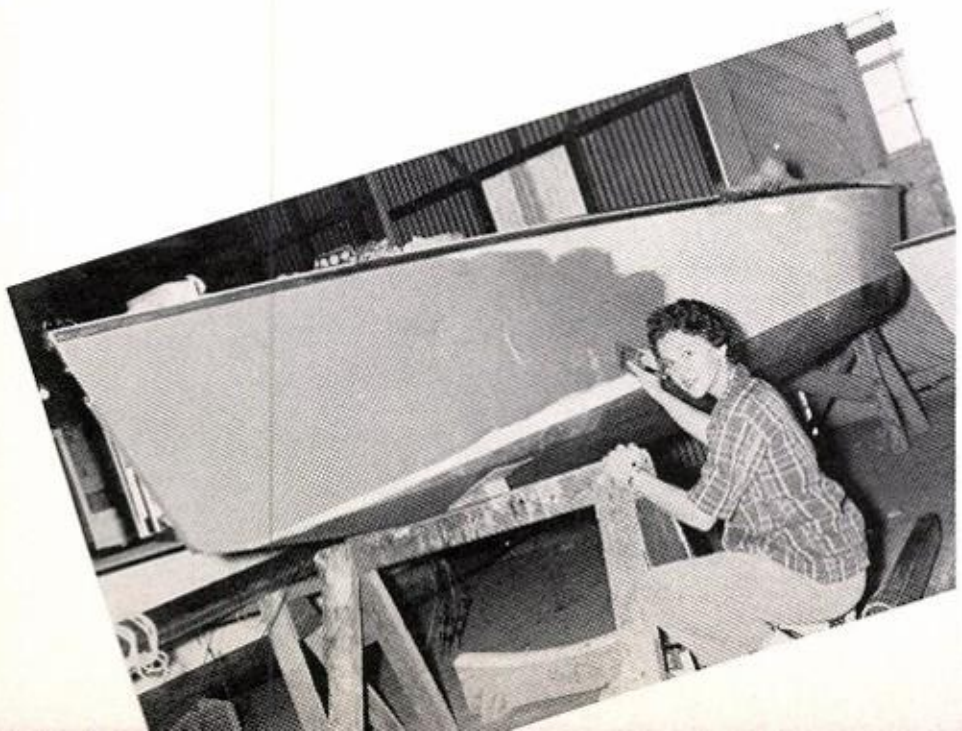
Not that I love work less but that I love fun more.

Travis has demonstrated his ability as an all-around athlete. He excels in baseball as well as basketball and football. Travis is friendly and easy going with a smile for everyone. Next year at what ever college he attends we know he will be as popular there as he was here.

MARION FAY

There are whole worlds of fact waiting to be discovered.

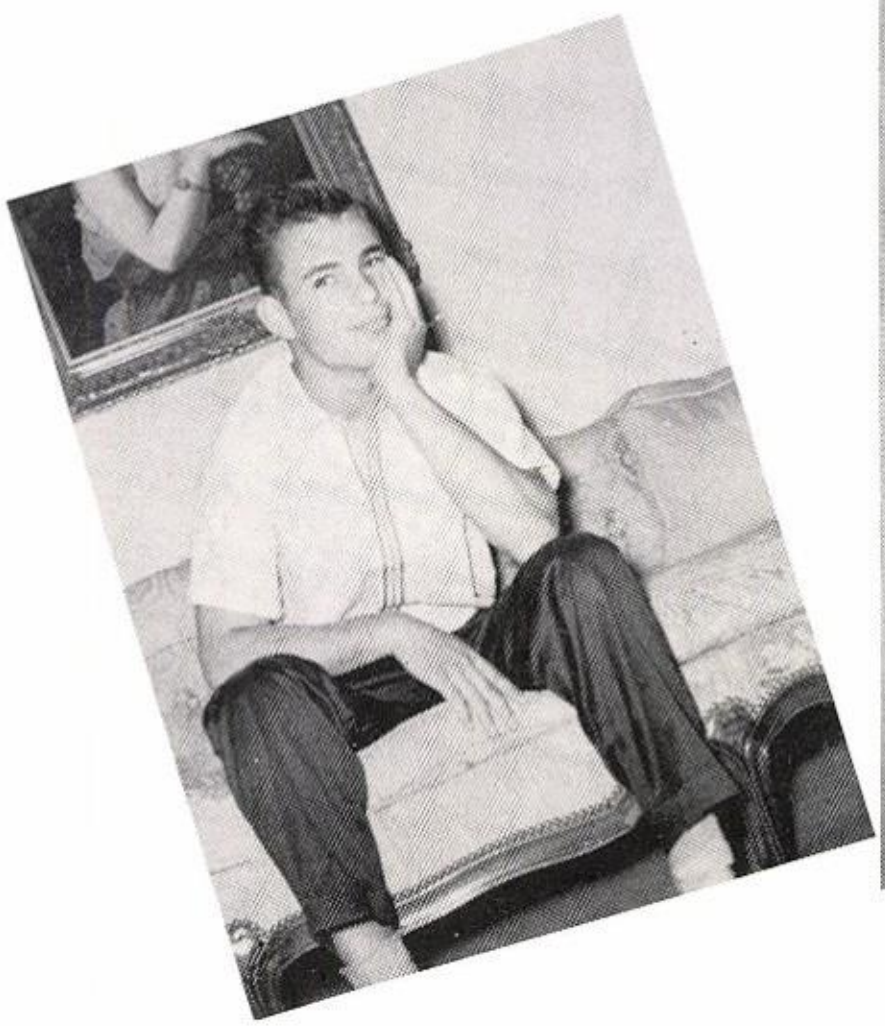
Marion entered Kinkaid in the seventh grade and is the sailing expert of the senior class. Almost every week-end Marion can be found down at the bay working on her boat. She is also well known for her ability to speak Spanish fluently and has been a member of the Spanish Conversation Club for several years. She is also interested in modeling and was a member of the Poise Club. Next year Marion plans to attend Vassar where she will major in Medicine.

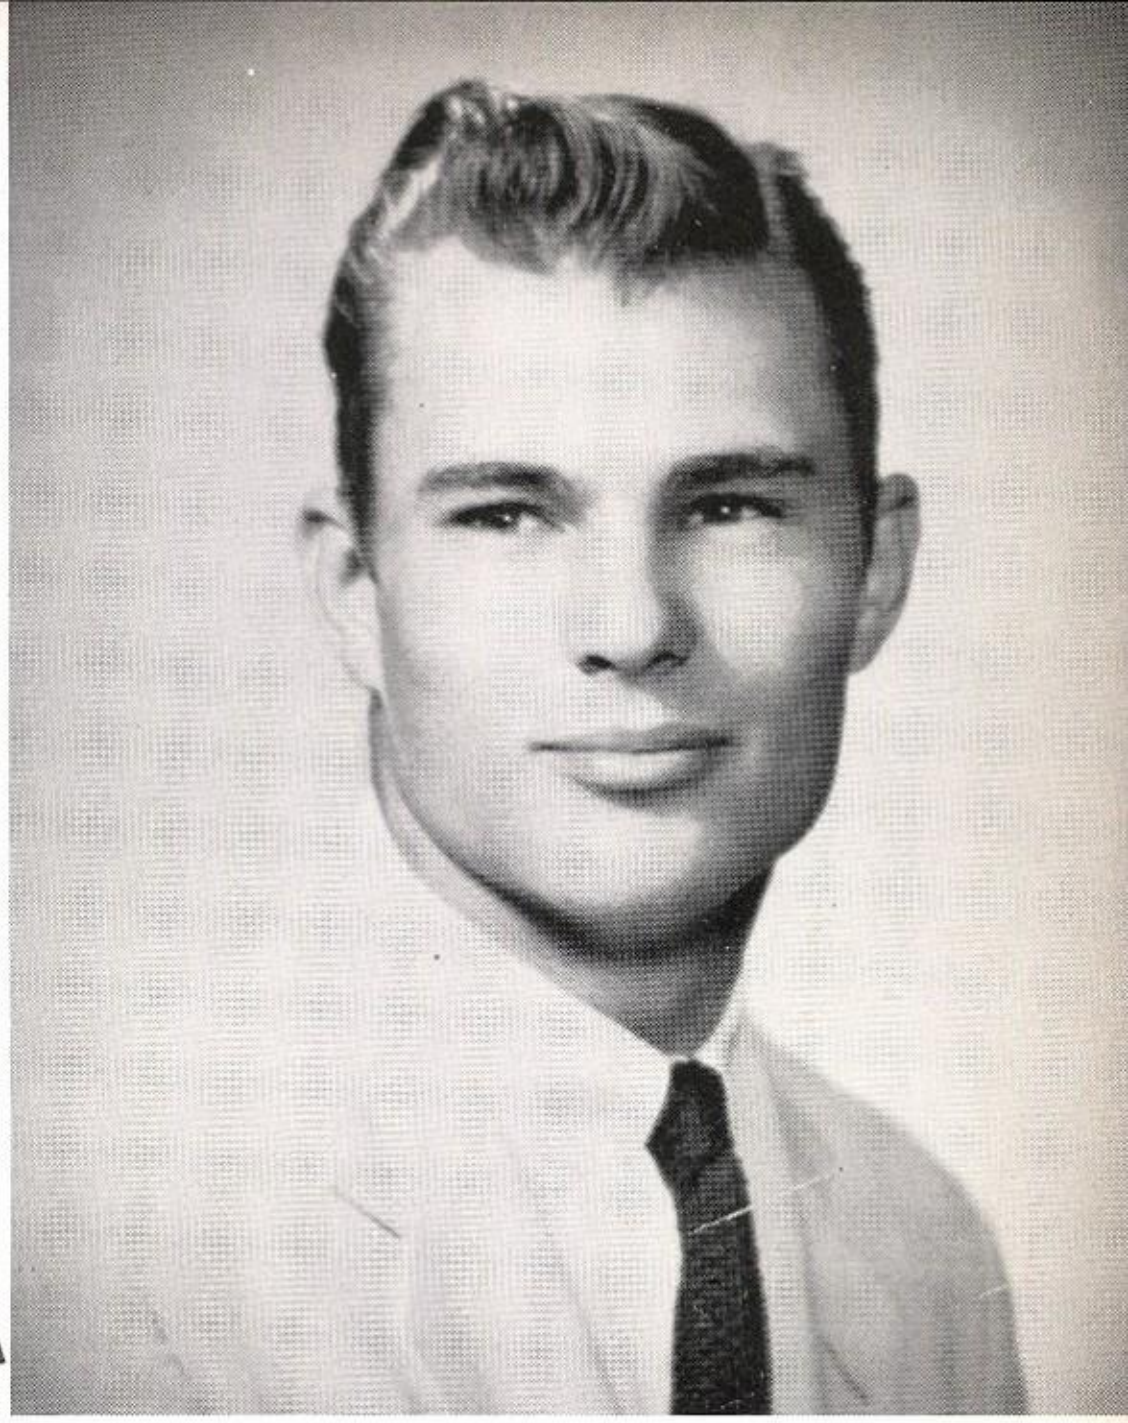


FRANK FOSHEE

He speaketh not, and yet there lies a conversation in his eyes.

Frank came to Kinkaid at mid-term of 1954, and since then has become well known as an athlete and an all-round great guy. He has been a member of the Boys' Chorus, played in the "Mikado" and "Gondoliers," and has been in the Debate Club. A star back on the grid-iron, Frank has lettered twice in Varsity football, and is also a three year letterman on the baseball team. T.C.U. is Frank's college choice, where he will study business.





GEORGEANNE FREEMAN

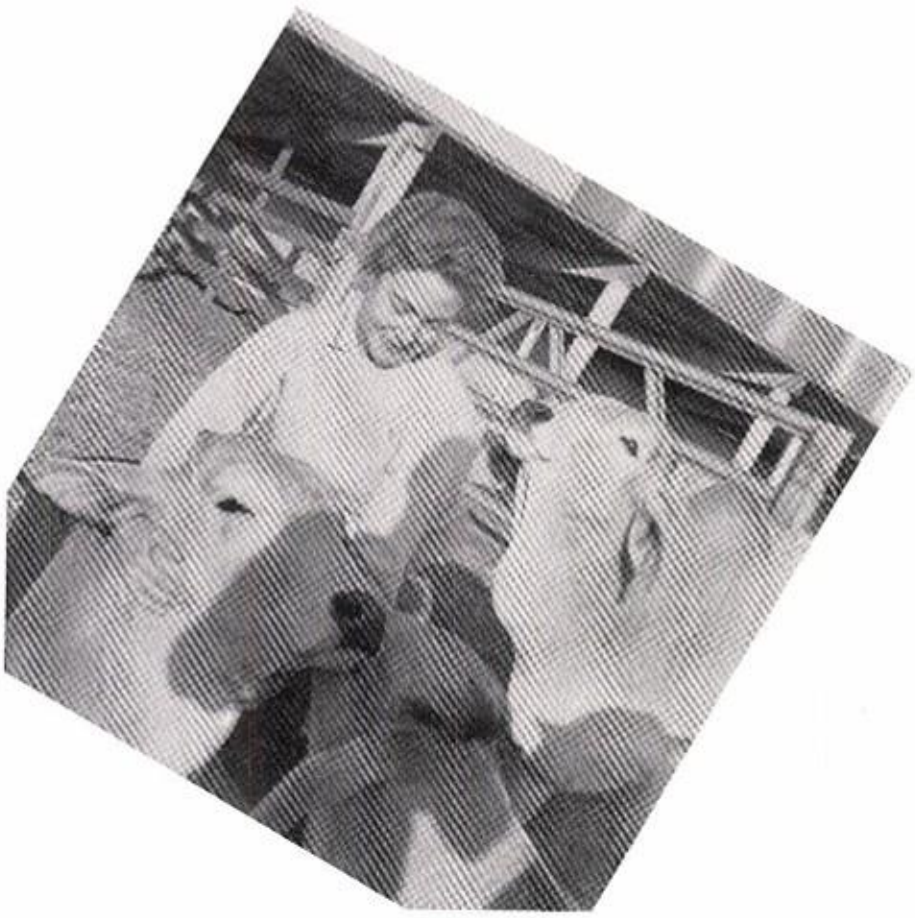
She who preserves a wise silence speaks wise.

Georgeanne, who has been at Kinkaid since the seventh grade, is one of our most petite seniors. Her main interest in school has been English literature and Drama. In her spare time, she can be found doing volunteer work at various hospitals about town. During the summer Georgeanne enjoys swimming and is fond of spectator sports in the winter. Whatever school Georgeanne attends next year, we know she will be a big success.

SUSAN GARRETT

Her voice was ever soft, gentle, and low, an excellent thing in a woman.

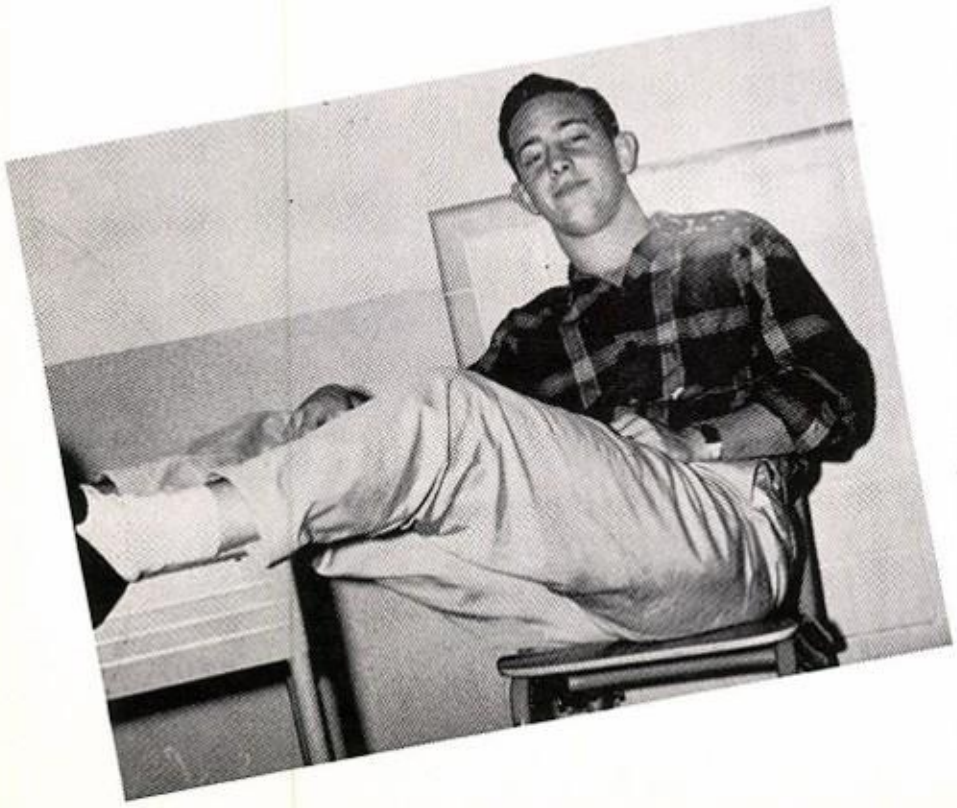
Susan entered Kinkaid this year and is one of the hardest workers in the senior class. She is on the Annual staff and has contributed much to this year's Kinkaidian. She is a member of the Science Club and appeared in the fall drama production of "Everyman." Susan was also chosen as senior representative for the "Miss Falcon" contest and has lettered in volleyball. Next year Susan plans to attend Rice where we are sure she will attain success.



PAT GILBERT

Live life to its fullest.

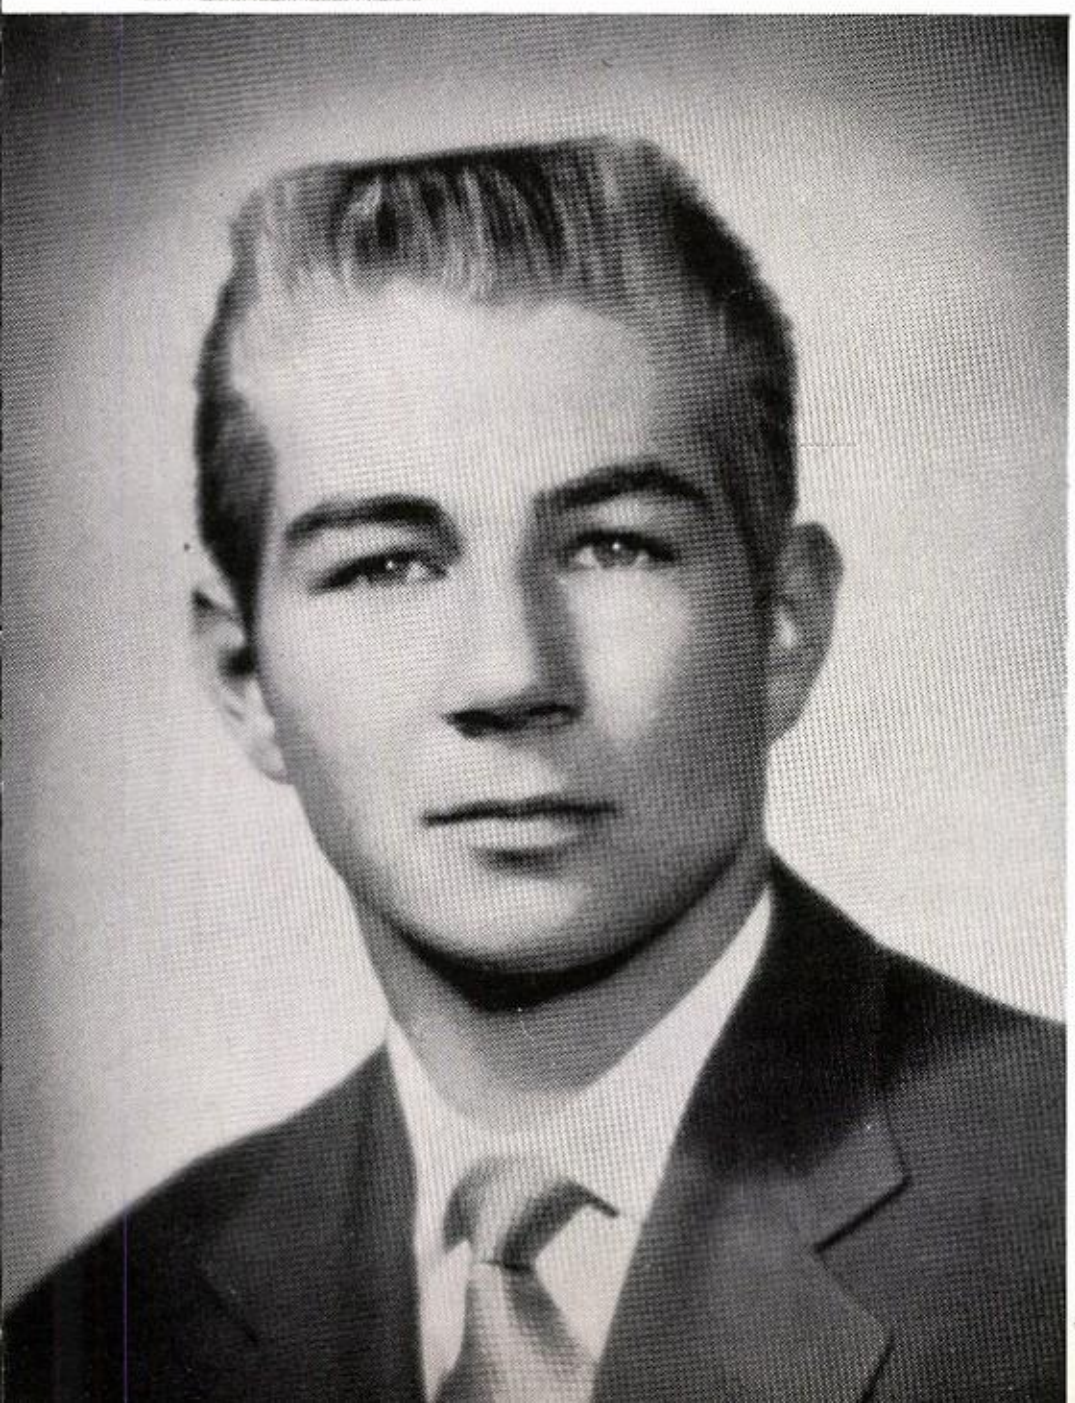
Pat came to Kinkaid as a mid-termer his freshman year, and he immediately showed us his marvelous hospitality by giving one of his famous parties. When not playing football, in which he lettered. Pat can be found in the bowling alley chalking up those strikes. We wish him loads of luck at SMU. We know that his wonderful sense of humor and personality will carry him through the years to come.



PEGGY GILL

What wisdom can you find that is greater than kindness?

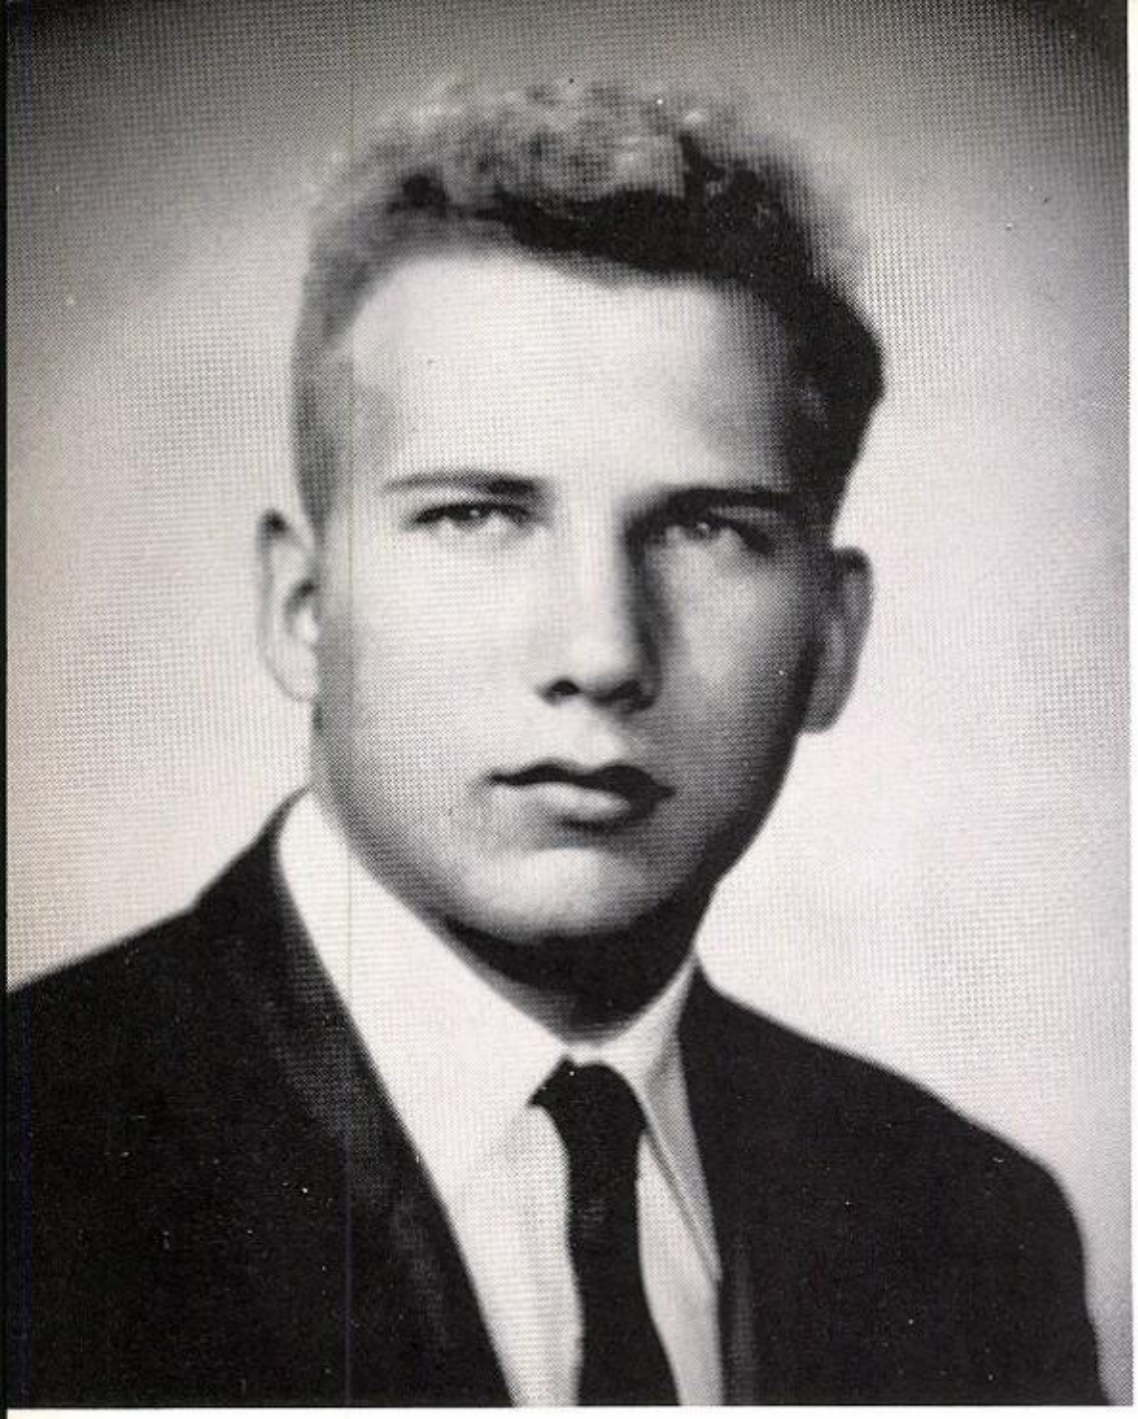
Peggy, with her cute and pert smile, has been at Kinkaid since her freshman year. Her diligent work as Stenographic Editor of the Kinkaidian has been very much appreciated by the staff. However, her accomplishments don't end there. She is on this year's tennis team and has crewed for such plays as "Twelve Pound Look," "Our Town," and she had a major part in "Dark of the Moon." She has also taken a chorus part in "The Mikado," "Gondoliers," and "Pinafore." We wish Peggy all the success in the world at SMU where she plans to major in languages or welfare work.



BARTON GILLMAN

He is a perpetual fountain of good sense.

Barton, a real old timer at Kinkaid, has been here since the first grade. He has been very active as a class officer. He was President of the Freshman class, Vice President of the Sophomore class, and Treasurer of the Senior class. Barton is one of those "all-round guys." He played football, was a "B" team letterman in basketball, and was a varsity letterman in golf for two years. He manages to make very high grades as is indicated by his scholarship pins in his freshman and sophomore years. He has been an avid participant in the Annual and "The Falcon" Clubs. Best of luck next year in Rice as a pre-med student.



RUSTY GOLDSMITH

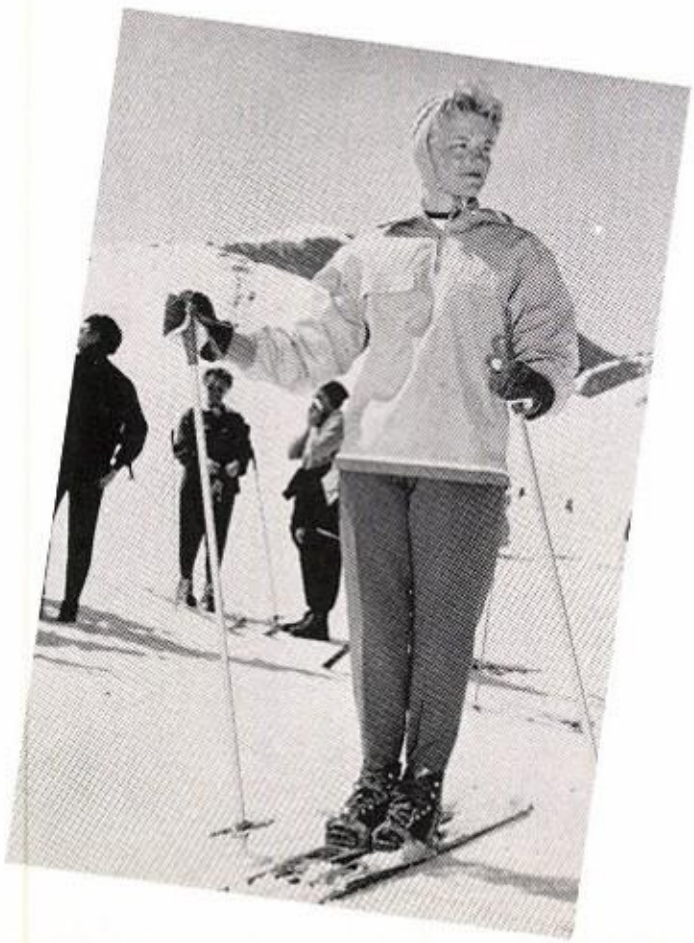
His greatest asset was living himself.

Since Rusty entered Kinkaid in his sophomore year, his love of good times has made him a class favorite. Rusty's favorite hobby is working on his car. He has been a member of the Science, First Aid, and Chess Clubs and played Varsity football in 1955. Rusty plans to attend Texas A&M next year, where he will major in Math and Science.

PATTI GOLDSTON

A single sunbeam is often enough to drive away many shadows.

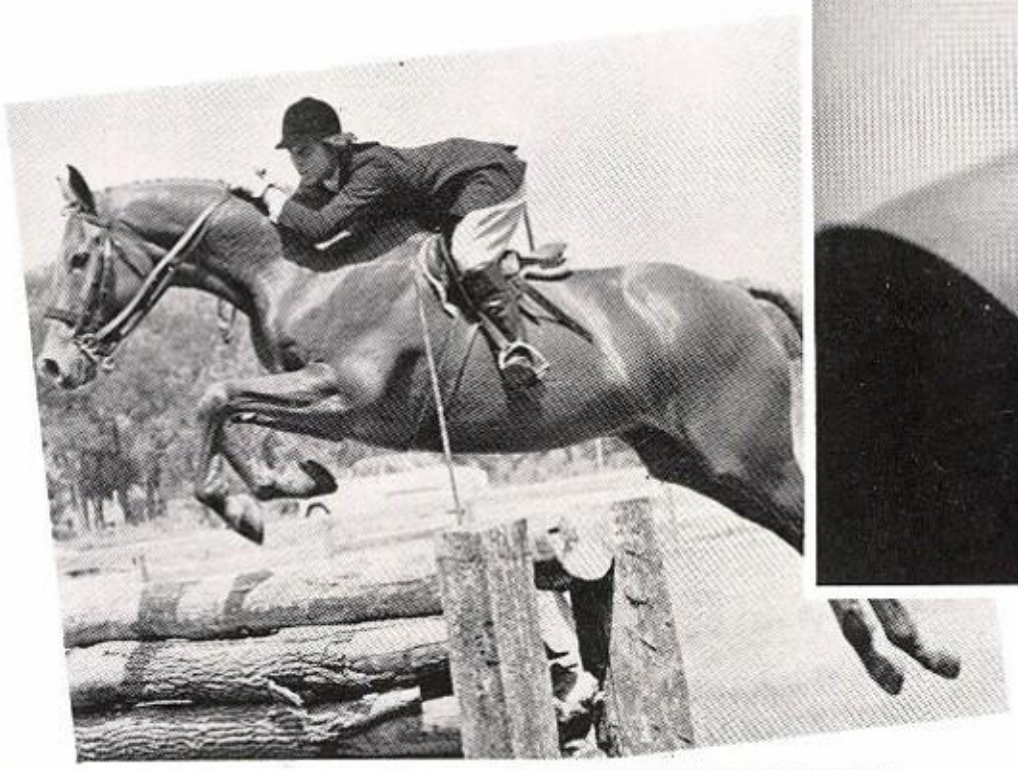
Patti has been a lively part of the class since she entered our school in kindergarten. She is a fun loving and friendly person who can usually be found near a stable, a pool, or a tennis court—always humming some catchy tune. Patti played basketball in 54 and 55. Her favorite summer pastime is Montana. Oklahoma University will be getting a very vivacious person when Patti goes there to study Spanish.



KAY GREENWOOD

A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse.

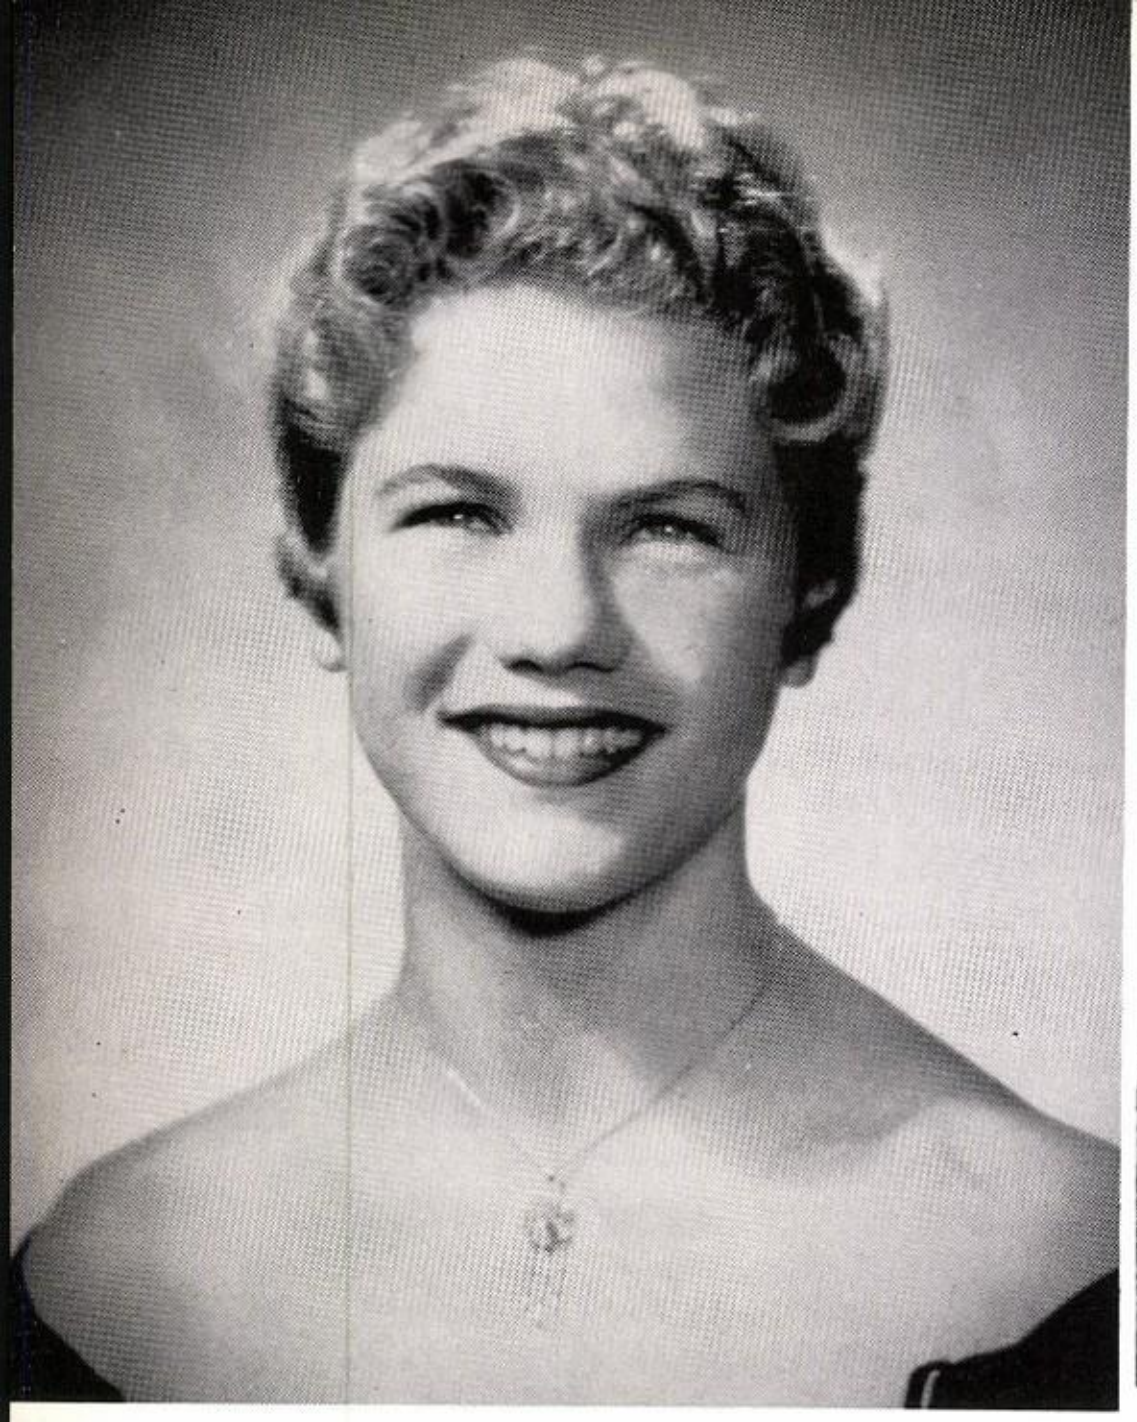
Kay came to Kinkaid in the first grade. She excels in athletics, mainly in basketball, in which she lettered twice, and horsemanship. Kay has been an active member of the Falcon and Chorus Clubs. We wish her the best of luck at Stephens Junior College where she plans to study child care.



HELEN GRIFFEN

There's room in her heart for everyone.

Helen has attended Kinkaid for seven years. She is fond of all sports, especially tennis and horseback riding. She has lettered in "B" team basketball and volleyball. Helen also took part in the "Mikado" and "Gondoliers." She has been an enthusiastic member of the Poise, Chorus, Falcon, and Annual Clubs. Next fall Helen plans to attend the University of Colorado where we know she will make as many friends as she has made here.



FAY HANNON

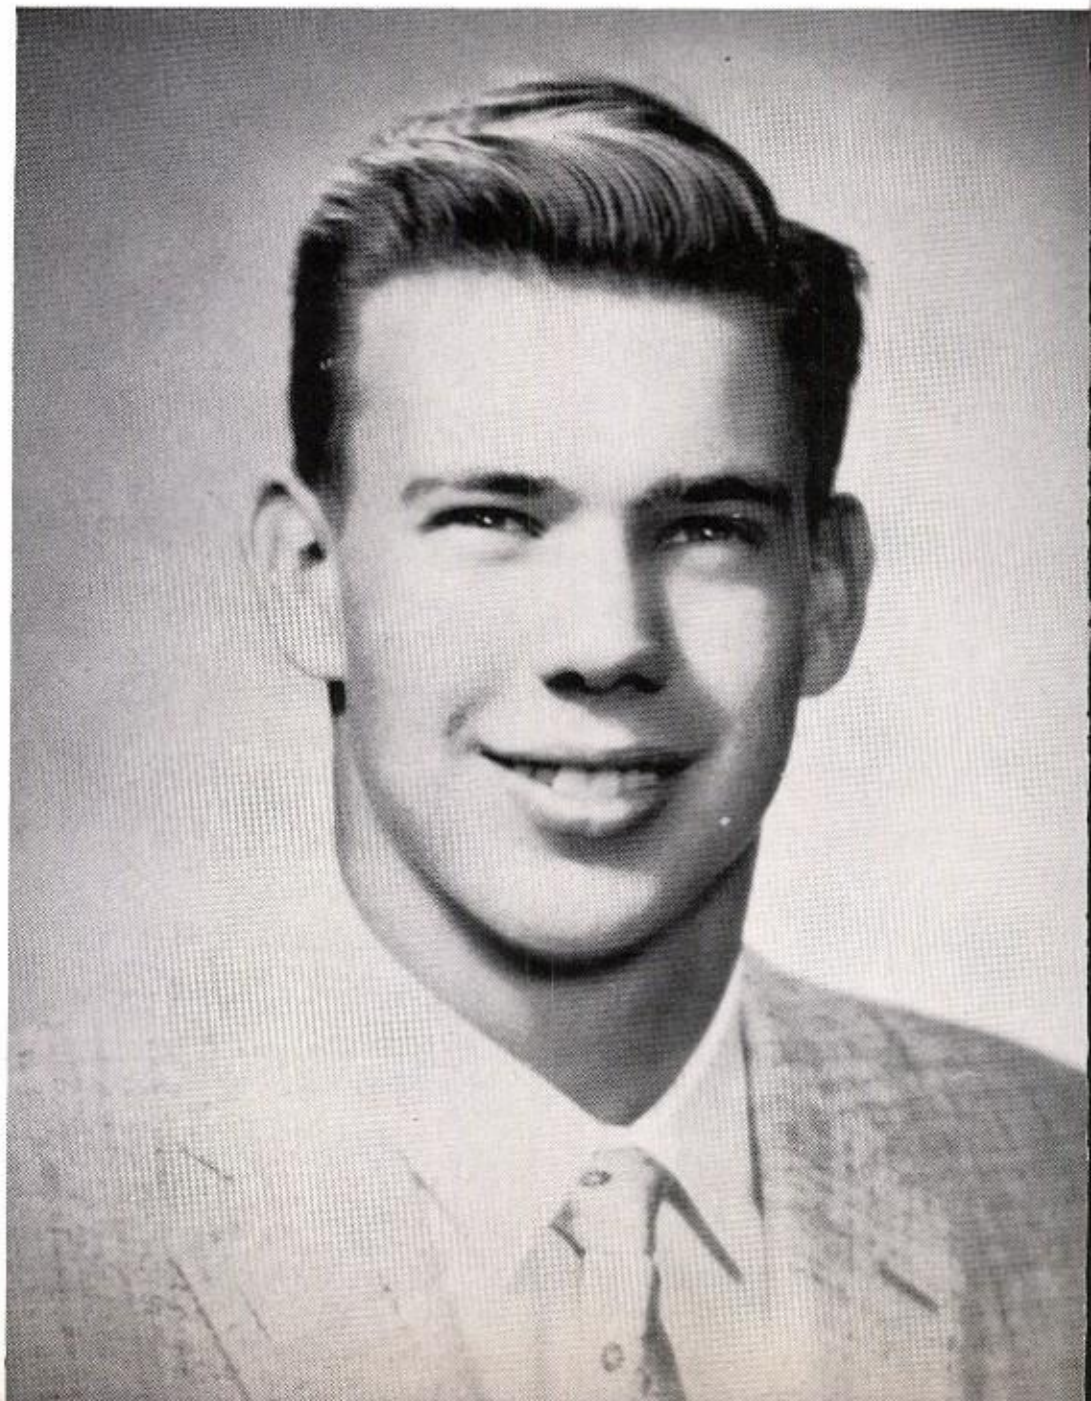
When she passed, it seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music.

Fay came to Kinkaid as a freshman and has been in the Poise, Chorus, and Annual Clubs. This year she was the Picture Editor of the Annual—a very difficult task, which she did well. She has been in the "Mikado" and "Gondoliers." Her hobbies include swimming, horseback riding and parties. Fay will be a very pretty addition to either Texas or SMU next year where she plans to major in Psychology.

MICHAEL HENRY

A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance.

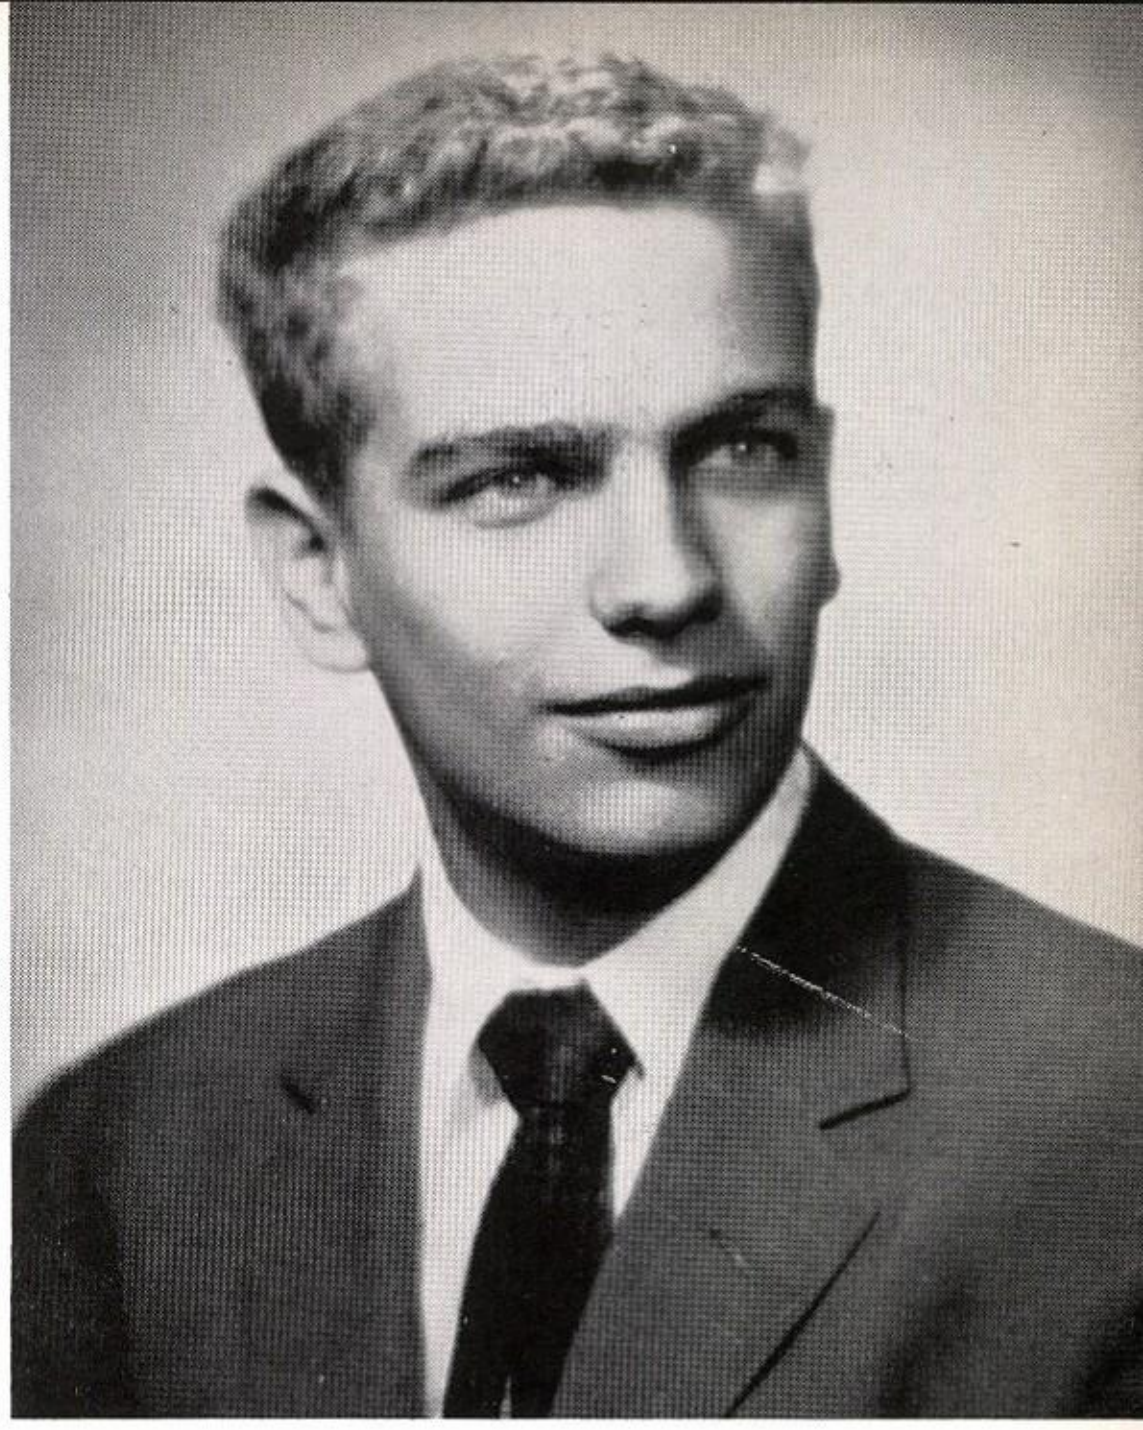
Mike entered Kinkaid in his Sophomore year. He is noted for his tremendous grin, which seldom leaves his face. Mike's hobbies are hunting, hot-rods and all kinds of sports. He has been an active member of the Falcon, Art and Drama Clubs. We wish Mike lots of luck in college next year where he will major in Law.

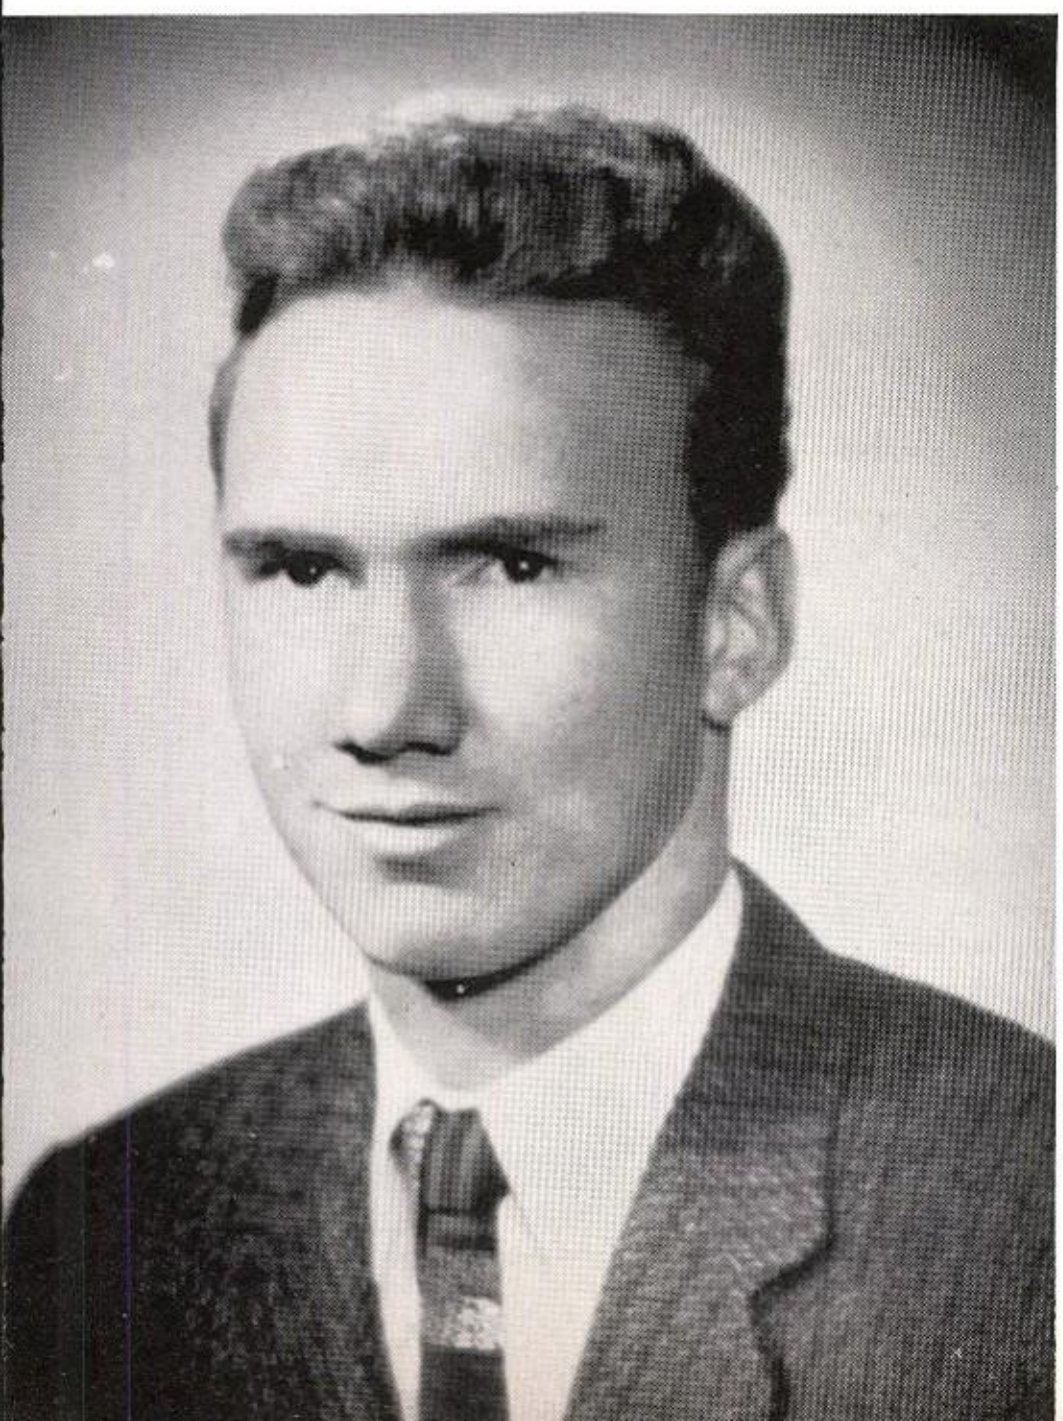


LEON HIRSCH

Everything comes if a man will only wait.

Leon entered Kinkaid as a junior. He likes to be outdoors, as his favorite hobby is hunting. Leon has lettered in Junior Varsity football, has been an active member of the Speech and Debate Club, and has maintained good grades. His college choice is the Wharton School of Finance in Pennsylvania. We are sure Leon will be a successful businessman in the near future.

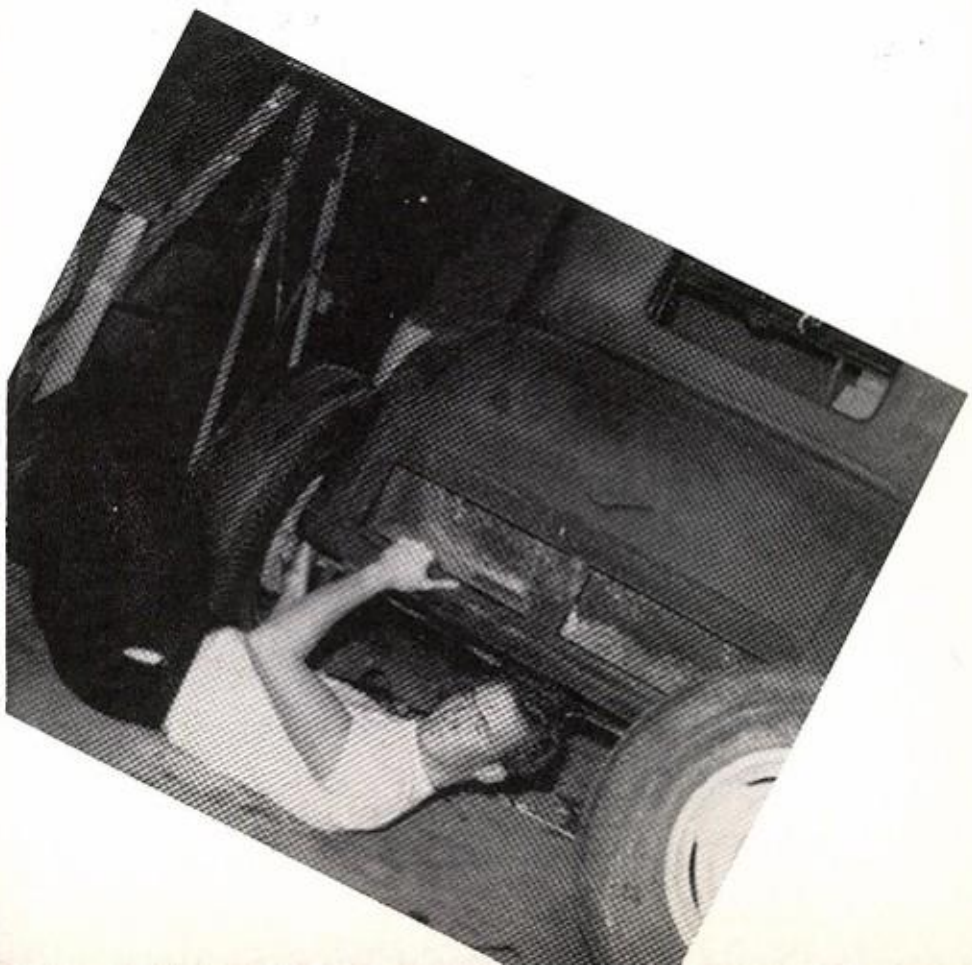


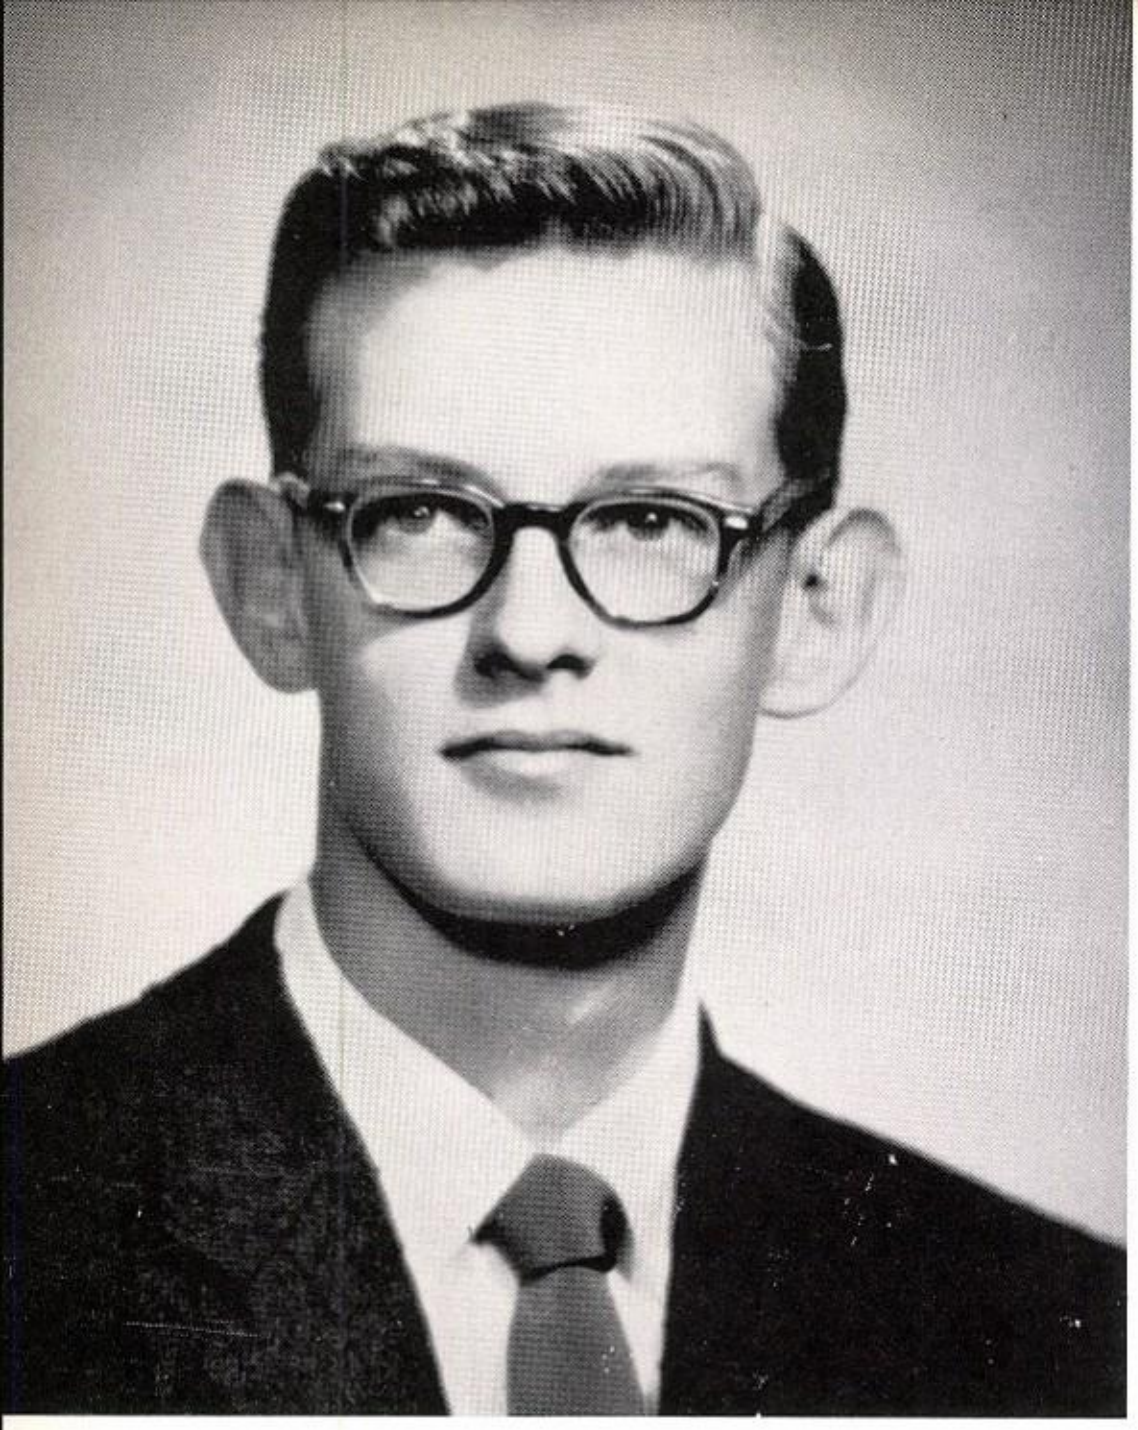


MICHAEL HORNE

His mind, his kingdom: his will his law.

Mike joined our ranks in the fourth grade as one of three "carrot tops" in the senior class. He has been an active member in the Stage Craft and Drama Clubs and has been an apt assistant behind the scenes in the operettas. Outside of school Mike is interested in "hot rods" and stock car racing. He was also an addition to our athletic department. As a freshman, he was manager of the varsity basketball team and lettered in baseball. Next year he plans to attend The Citadel where we know he will be a big success.





JOE HORRIGAN

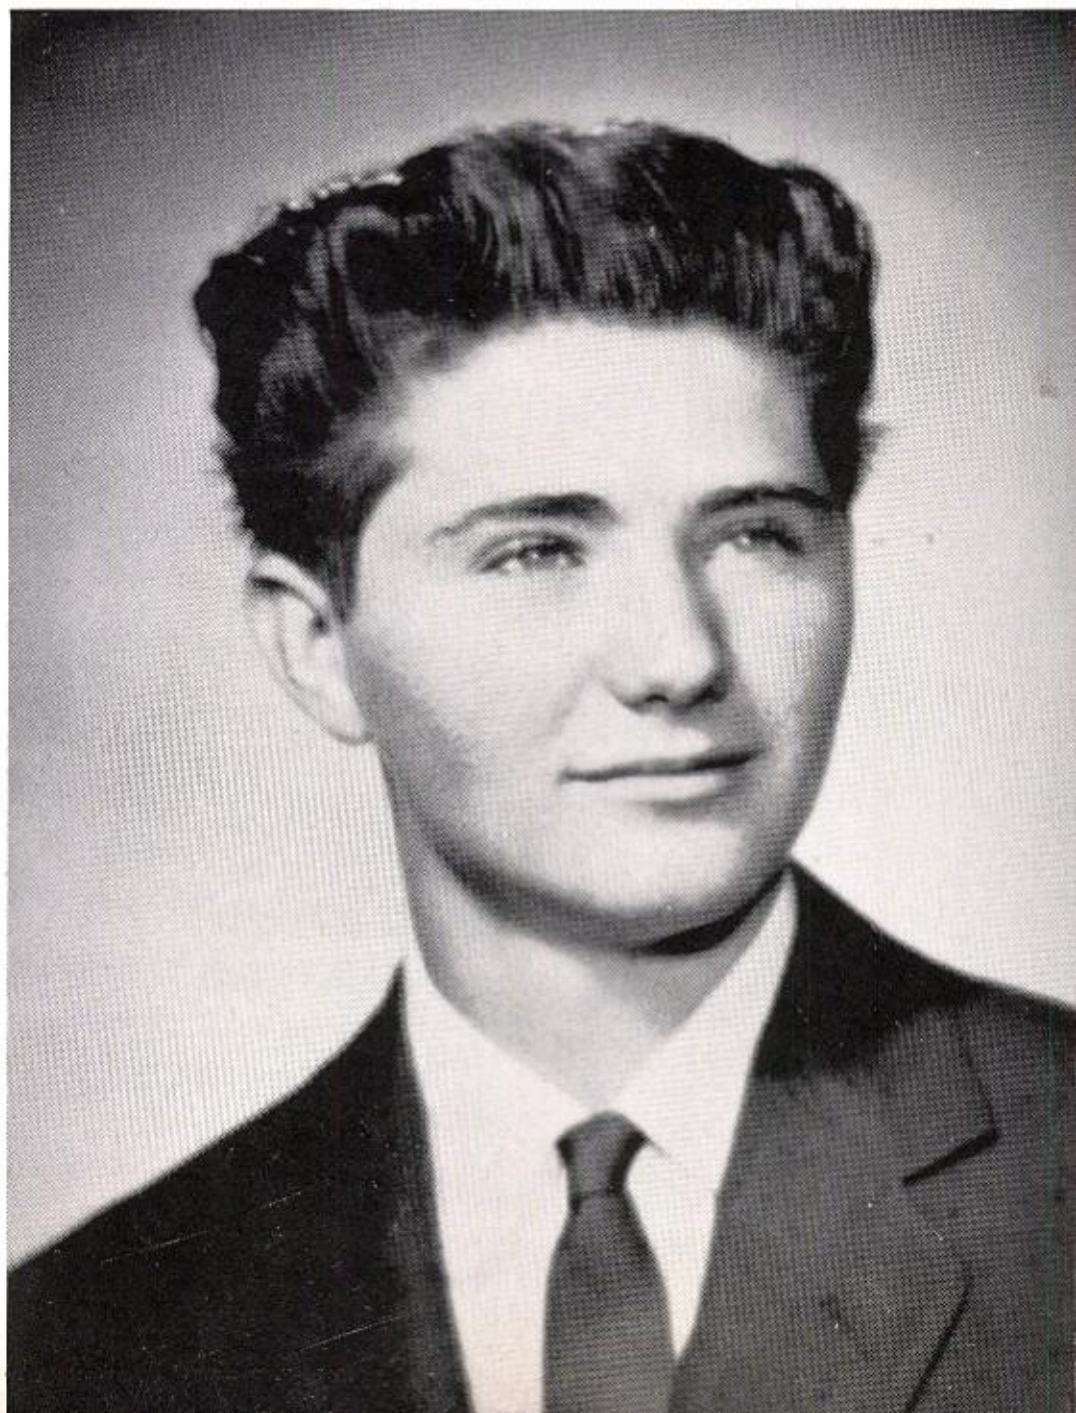
To others lenient, to himself severe.

Joe likes almost all sports and has been awarded two basketball "B" team letters and one baseball letter. He was chosen on the All-Conference team in a tournament last year. His abilities also include writing and last year he won the Short Story Cup. His academic accomplishments have merited him three scholarship pins. Joe also shows a liking for music for he has participated in "Gondoliers," "Patience," and "Mikado." Rice will be getting a very fine student when he enters their doors next fall.

RANNY HUNT

He wears a face of joy.

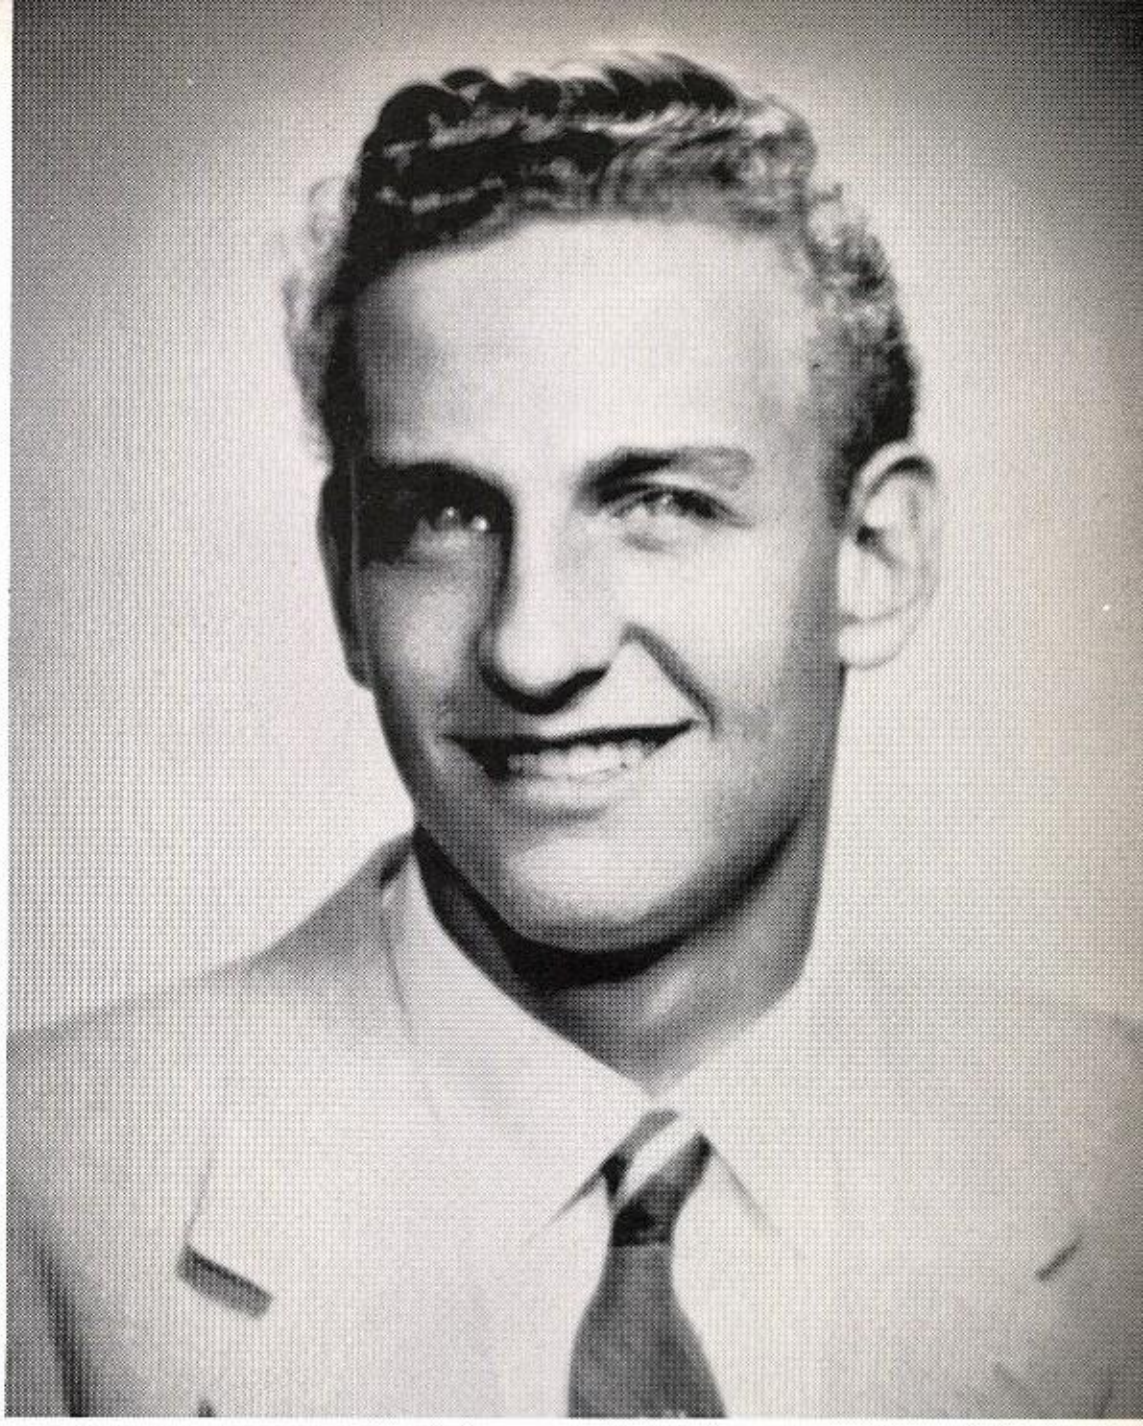
Ranny's eight years at Kinkaid rank him among the real "old timers" in the senior class. He has been in the Chorus and Art Clubs and has lettered twice in Junior Varsity football. His hobby is cars, and his pride is his extremely swift Pontiac. In other words, he's got a real draggin' wagon! Ranny is bound to be successful and happy wherever he attends college, and at the present time Baylor is his choice.



TOM JACOMINI

Our deeds determine us as much as we determine our deeds.

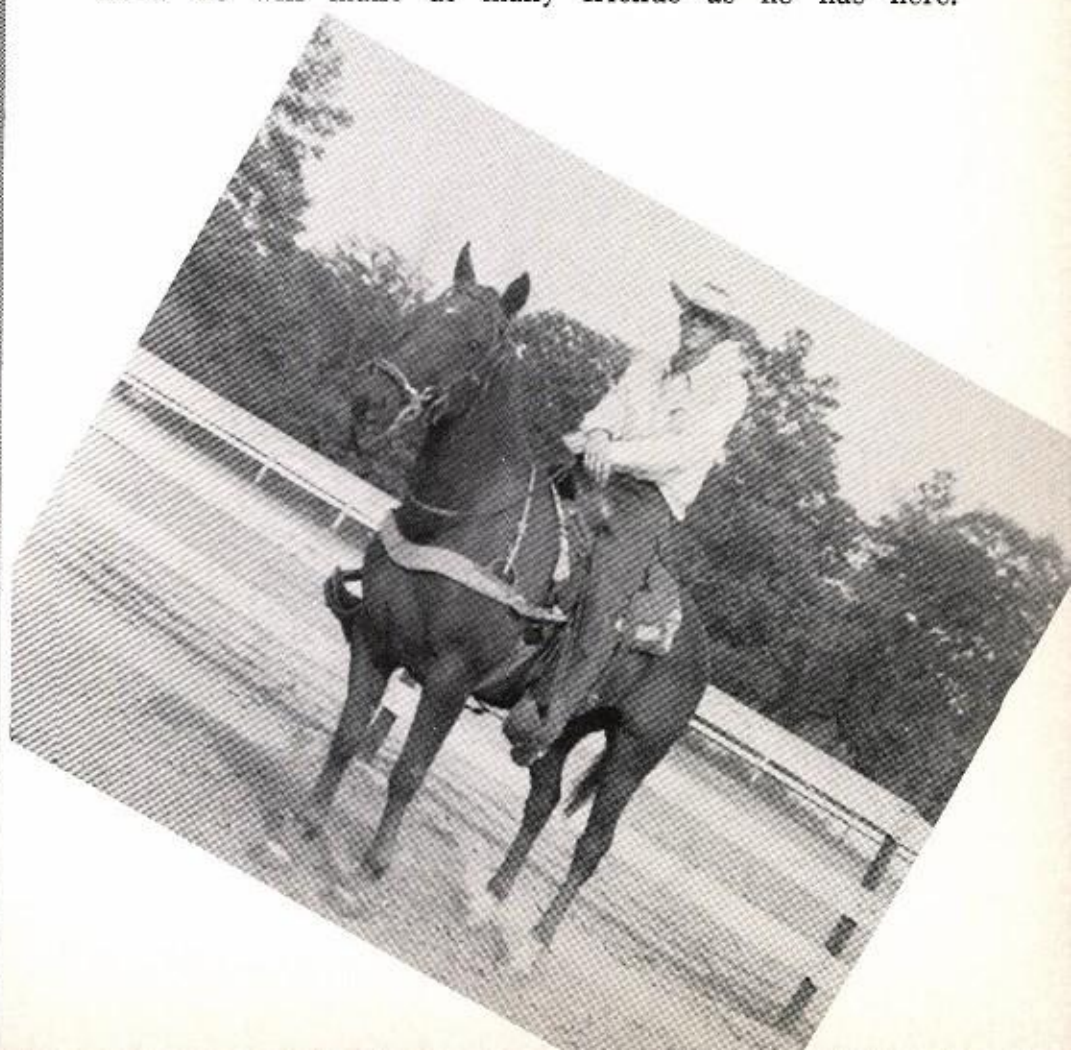
Always full of fun and ready for a laugh, describes Tom Jacomini. He has been at Kinkaid since 1953. Tom is truly an outdoorsman and he is especially enthusiastic when the subject turns to hunting. He also enjoys all sports and has played on the varsity football team for two years and has been a member of the baseball team. He has participated in the Science and Art Clubs while at Kinkaid. We wish Tom the best of luck at Stanford next year.



HOWELL JONES

No sky is heavy if the heart is light.

Howell, a true ol' timer, has been rambling through Kinkaid halls ever since kindergarten. He is known for his riding and roping ability and has made the Salt Grass Trail ride for the last three years. He has been in the Boys' Chorus Club and Annual Club, where he has proved a willing worker on the picture committee. Next year Howell plans to attend Oklahoma A&M and major in agriculture and business administration, where we know he will make as many friends as he has here.



GLEN KEIGHTLEY

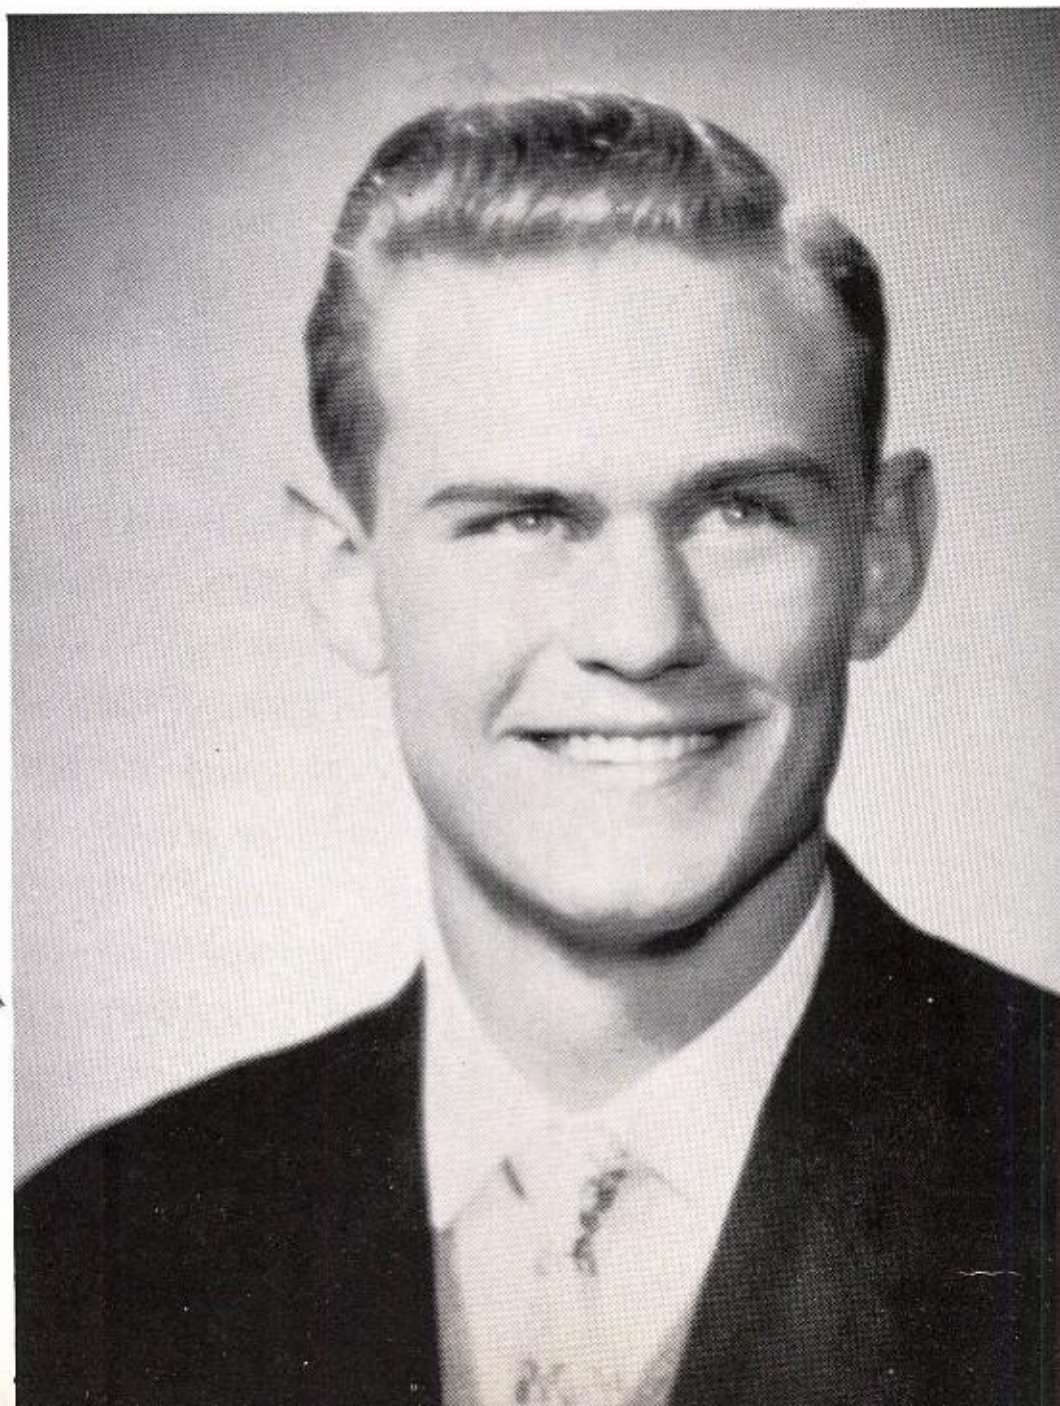
Self-confidence is the first requisite to great undertakings.

Glen is a familiar sight here at Kinkaid with his "sporty" black Thunderbird. He has been an active member in the Drama and Chorus Clubs having taken part in the "Mikado." He played the lead in one of our recent plays "Androcles and the Lion." Glen is also interested in cars and in reading science fiction. Next year Glenn leaves for Waco to attend Baylor University and major in Psychiatry.

CHARLES KNAPP

The highest reward for man's toils is not what he gets for it but what he becomes by it.

Charles, who entered Kinkaid as a junior, is one of the school's "A" students. He has lettered in "B" team basketball, and is a two year letterman in football. Charles has been an active member of the Science Club, winning the Science Award in his junior year, and he was also a member of the Chess Club and the Annual. He was elected Treasurer of the Junior Class, and in his senior year he served as class President. In his spare time, Charles can be found hunting or fishing. Next year he plans to attend Rice where he will study engineering.



CYNTHIA LAYNE

A kind word is never lost.

Cynthia is one of the prettiest girls in the senior class and was nominated for "Miss Falcon" of 1956. She has acted as cheerleader for three years, twice she has been a representative on the student council and she has received two basketball letters for her work on the "A" and "B" teams. Her lovely voice has earned her a major part in "Patience," "Mikado," "Gondoliers," and "Pinafore." The University of Oklahoma will be getting a girl who is full of fun. She plans to take a Liberal Arts course.

IRENE LEE

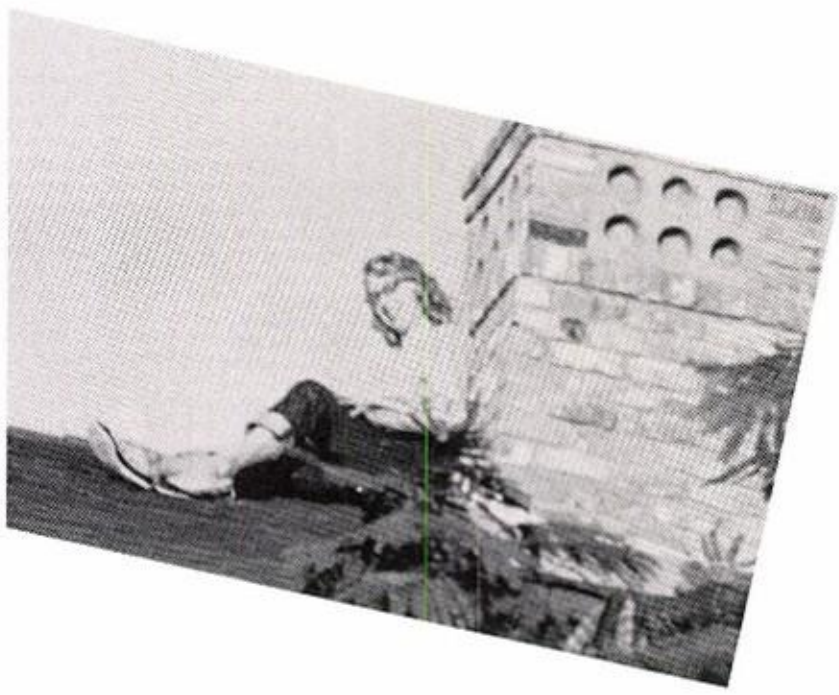
The lass so neat with smiles so sweet.

Irene has attended Kinkaid since Kindergarten. She has been a member of the Drama, Falcon, Annual, and Chorus Clubs and has lettered in 'B" team basketball. She also appeared in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" and "The Mikado." In her spare time she enjoys a good game of golf. Next year Irene will be found at Texas where she plans to major in Child Welfare.

JOAN LEWIS

Life is not life at all without delight.

Joan's beautiful voice has made her a prominent member of the Chorus as well as a choice for a role in the operettas. Besides contributing to Dramatics and the yearbook, she has maintained a high scholastic average during her five years at Kinkaid. Joan and her blue Plymouth filled with people going to and from Roulande's to have their annual pictures taken has been a familiar sight. Next year Joan plans to attend Agnes Scott as a math major.



LETTY LYKES

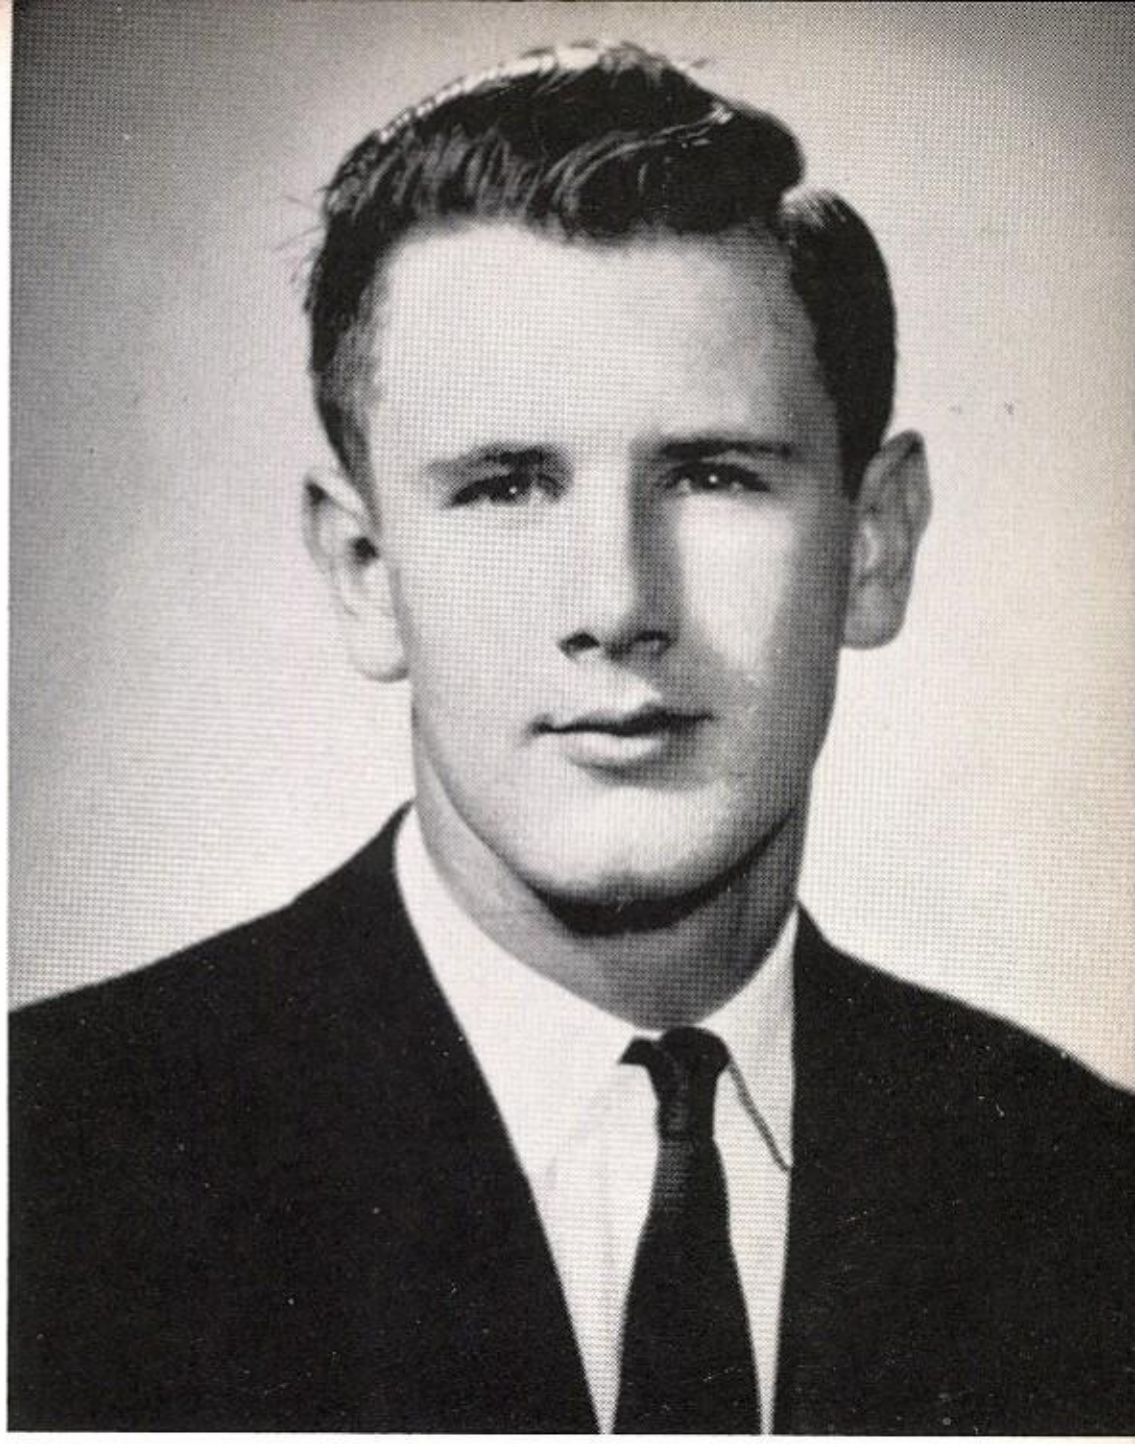
A cheerful look makes a dish a feast.

Letty brought her mischievous smile and pleasing personality to Kinkaid two years ago. She loves to sail and can often be found down at the bay. She is also fond of modeling and acting. She appeared in "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals." Letty is the Assistant Editor of "The Falcon" this year and has been in the Drama, Falcon, and Annual Clubs. We know she will be a favorite at Hollins next year.

RAY MASON

He was the mildest mannered man.

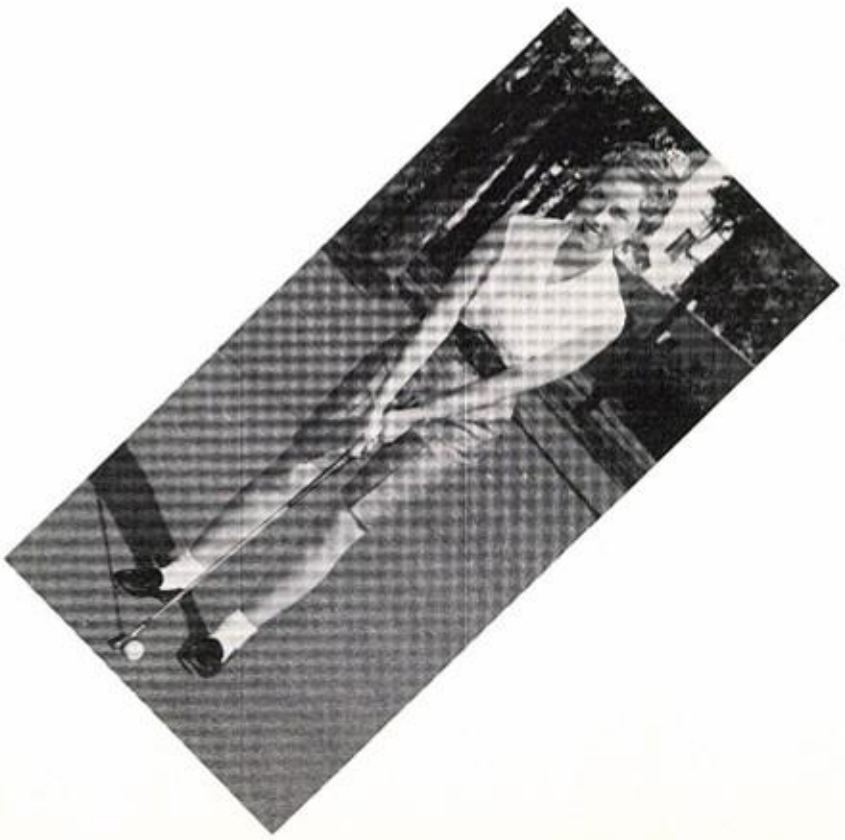
Ray is one of the finest guards ever to play on a Kinkaid basketball team. His outstanding sports ability has earned him two letters in basketball and baseball. A little more on the subdued side, Ray collects rare coins and stamps. He has been in Kinkaid off and on from the fourth grade. His last entrance was made in November, 1955. He plans to major in engineering at The Citadel.



LYNN MEADOR

Grace was in all her steps.

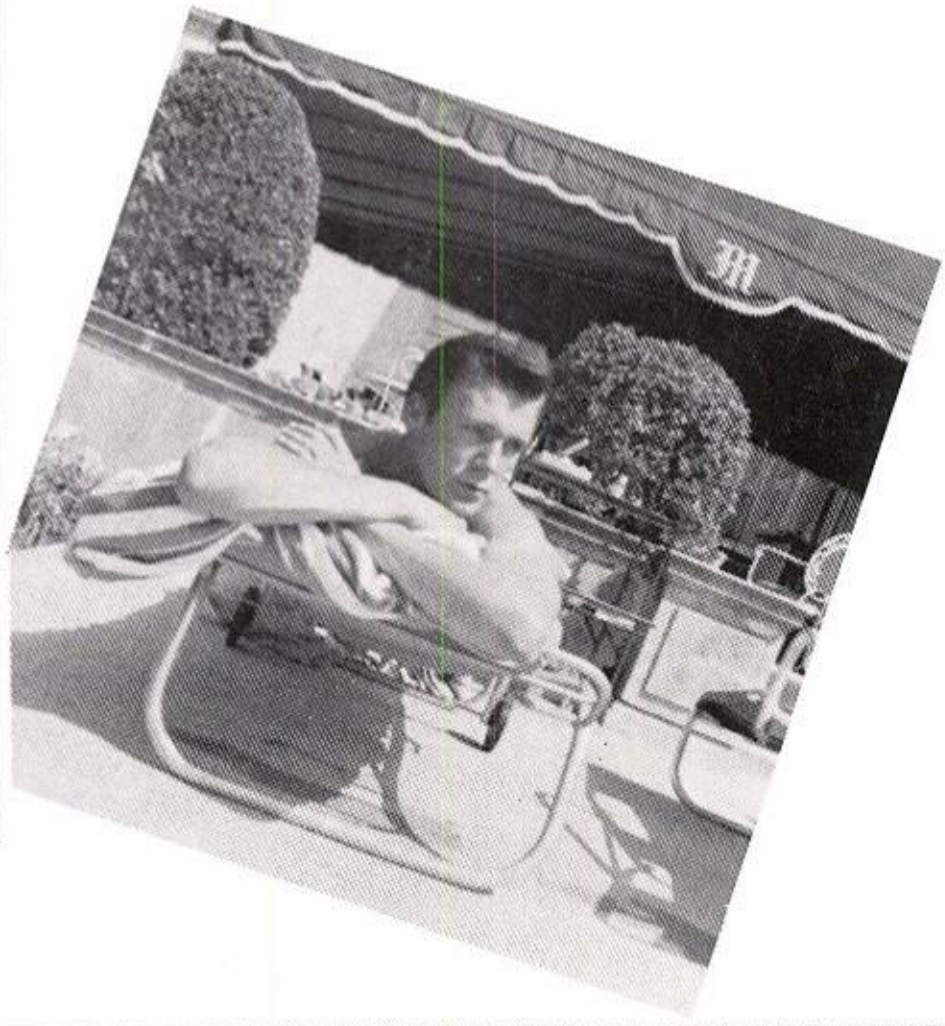
Lynn has been a very pretty part of Kinkaid since she came four years ago. She has appeared in "The Wonder Hat" and "Patience." Her excellency in theme writing has won her third place in "What the Constitution Means to Me" and third place in the Salesmanship Contest. She was also a vital member in helping to publish the directory and this year is one of the editors of the Kinkaidian. SMU will be getting a wonderful person with a marvelous personality. She plans to major in English.



JOHN MECOM

An earl by right, by courtesy a man.

John came to Kinkaid in the ninth grade and has been an asset to all the varsity teams having lettered three times in football, once in basketball and once in baseball. Other sports—fishing, hunting, swimming, and water skiing—also occupy his time. One of the most popular boys in the class, John was elected "Mr. Falcon" of 1956, Vice President of the Junior Class, and Student Council representative in 1956. We wish John the very best at Oklahoma where he plans to major in Petroleum Engineering.



GARY MENTEER

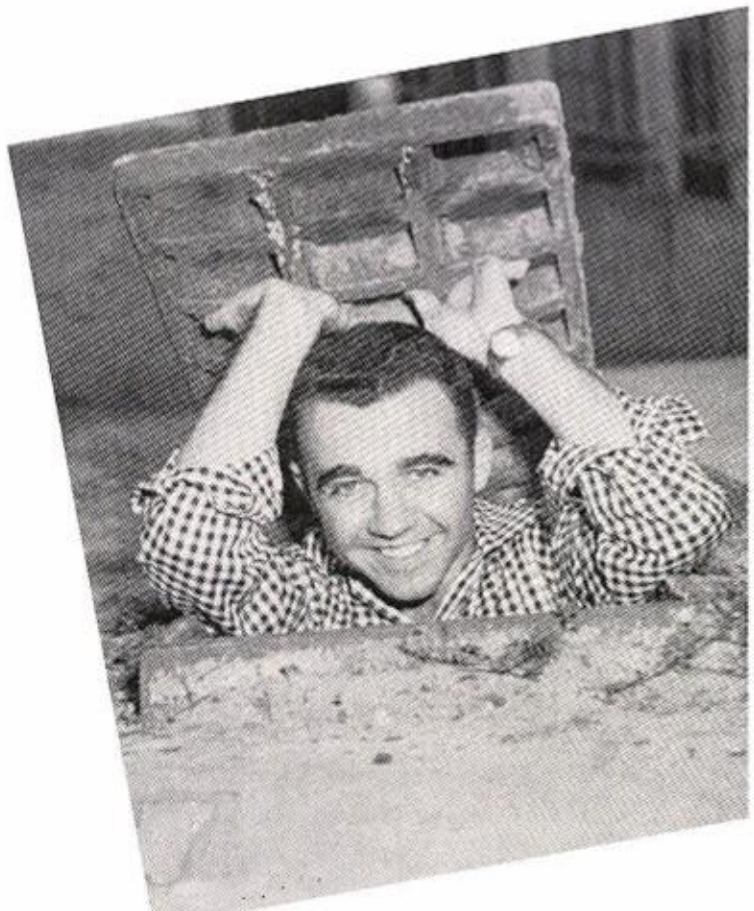
He capers, he dances, he has eyes of youth.

Gary, who entered Kinkaid last year, is one of the most talented students in school. He is among the best known professional dancers in Houston and has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and KPRC-TV's Matinee program. While at Kinkaid he has been a member of the Drama and Chorus Clubs and has appeared in "Dark of the Moon" and "Gondoliers." Gary, who plans to attend Columbia and major in Fine Arts, is a person we will be proud to have known.

JIM MOFFITT

Tis midnight but small thoughts have I of sleep.

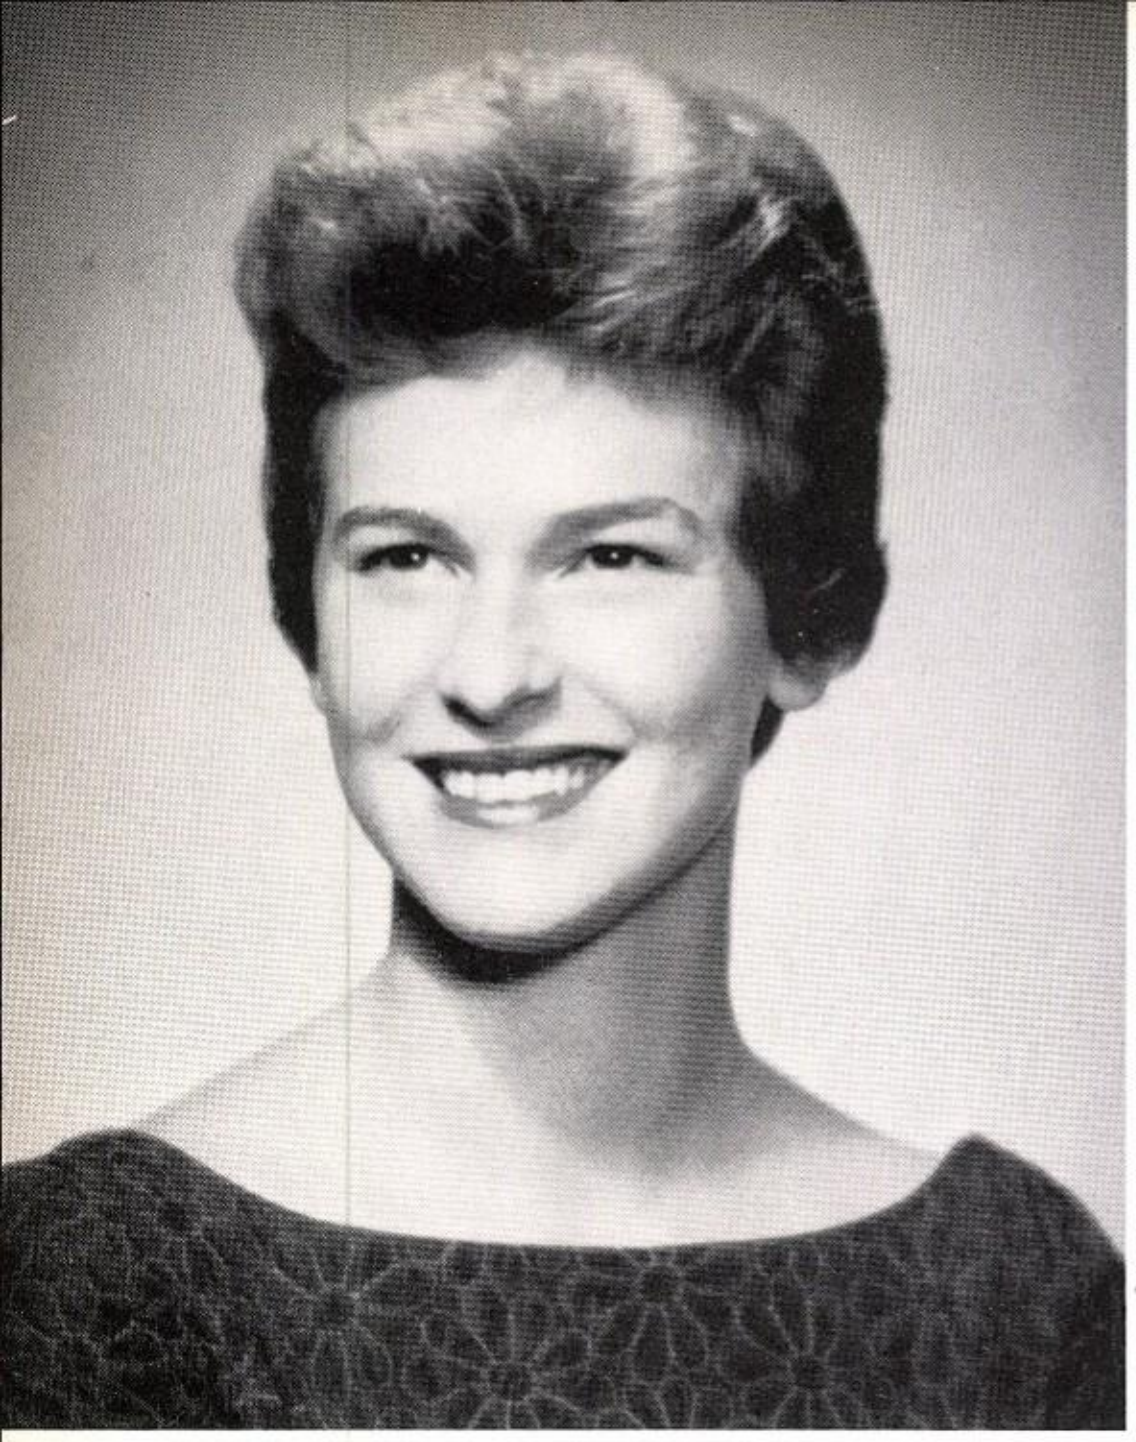
Jim is relatively new around Kinkaid—having been here only two years. We will never forget his wonderful end play on the 1956 Falcon football team. His quiet, easy-going manner has won him many friends around Kinkaid. He is an avid outdoorsman—especially liking to hunt and fish. He took part in the "Gondoliers," and "Pinafore." He has been a welcome edition to the Annual Club and Chorus Club. Jim will be going to Cornell next to study medicine.



NINA PERLITZ

She practices efficiency of a flawless kind.

Talented in writing, Nina was editor of last year's Falcon. Although she is full of fun and always ready for a party, she is an outstanding student. Nina loves to water ski almost as much as horseback riding. Next year Nina plans to go to Briarcliff where we know she will make as many friends as she has made here.



JUDY RIVES

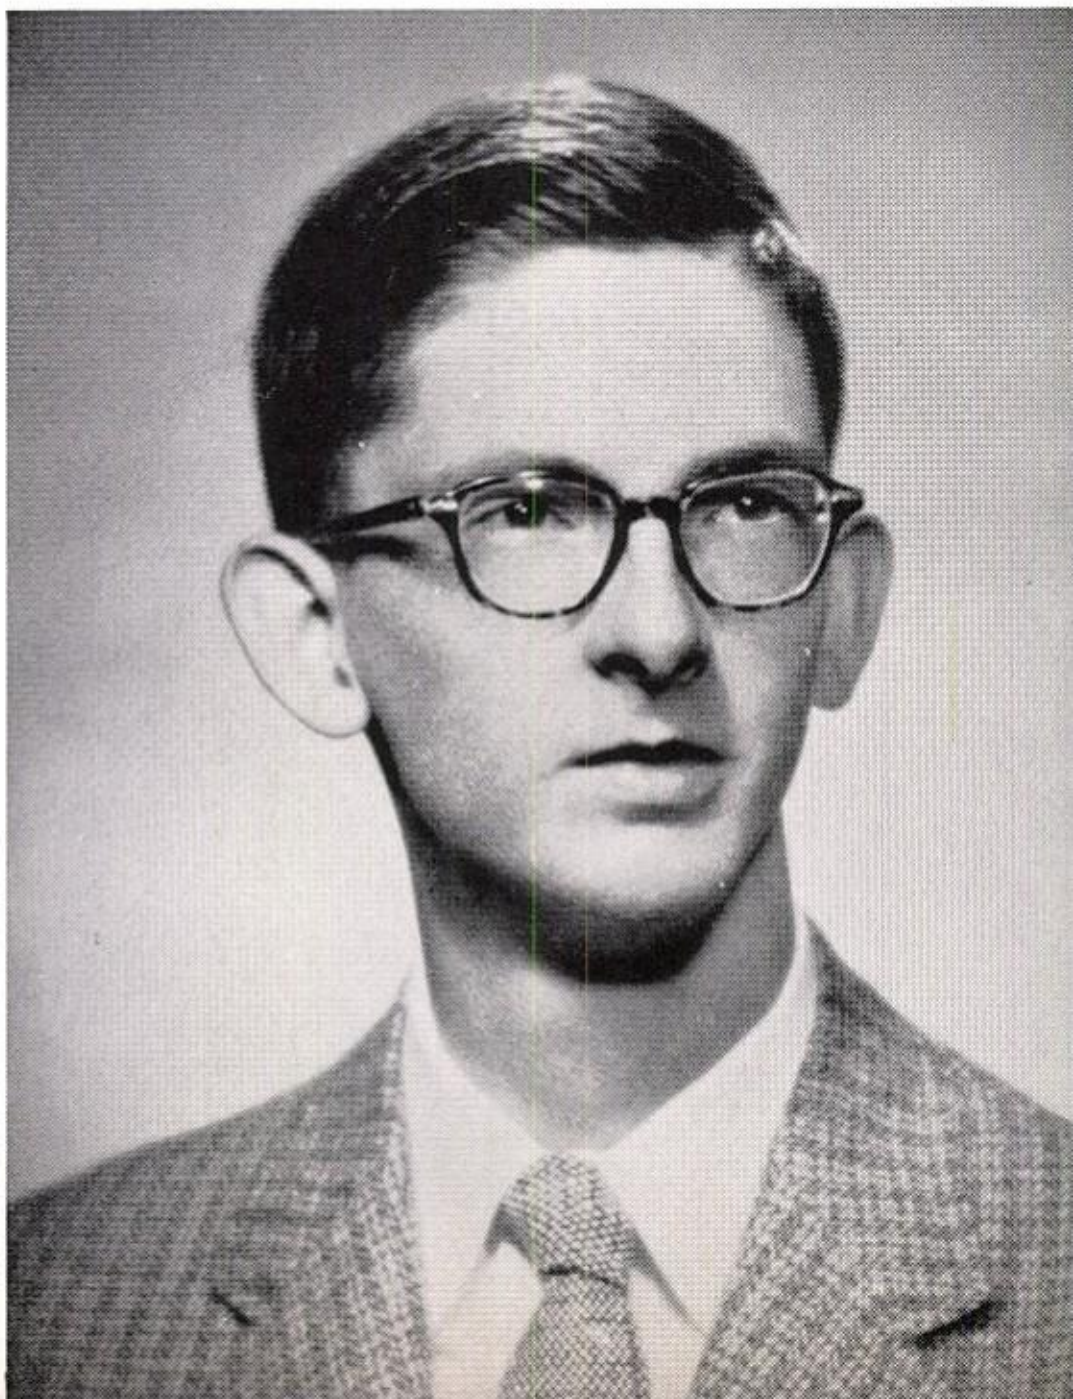
A smile on her lips and mischief in her eyes.

Judy entered Kinkaid's doors in the fifth grade and since then her love of fun has made her a favorite in and outside of the classroom. Judy excels in all sports; but basketball, waterskiing, and riding are her favorites. Her outstanding ability as a guard has earned her several varsity letters in basketball as well as an all-tournament award. Judy has been in the Chorus, Falcon, and Annual Clubs. This year she has been in charge of the girls' sports section of the Kinkaidian. We'll miss Judy and her familiar blue convertible next year when she goes to Stevens.

MONROE RUST

We must never assume that which is incapable of proof.

Monroe, who entered Kinkaid in the sixth grade, is one of the school's highest ranking seniors scholastically. He has been a prominent member of the Science Club and his hobbies are electronics and writing. Among his numerous awards are a scholarship pin, won as a freshman, a fourth-place scholarship award from the American Chemical Society, and a national first-place award in Scholastic Writing for an essay. He has been especially helpful around school by setting up and regulating the scientific equipment needed for various activities. Monroe plans to go to Harvard and we know he'll be successful there.



ELVA SANDERS

Safely speaks and swiftly smiles.

Elva is one of the most easy going and friendliest persons Kinkaid has ever seen. She has been here since the first grade and during this time has lettered in basketball in 53, 54, and 55. She has also won the Physical Education Cup for her ability and good sportsmanship. She has appeared in the operettas "Patience" and "Mikado" and she has also found time to be an active member of the Falcon, Chorus and Poise Clubs. We wish her loads of luck at Mt. Vernon next year.

JO BETH SCHLEETER

If it is not seemly, she does it not,
If it is not true, she says it not.

Jo Beth, who came to Kinkaid in the fifth grade, is one of the hardest working girls in the senior class. She likes to swim but her talents don't stop there—she helped to publish the Directory in 1955 and is a vital part of the Student Council this year as secretary. Most of Jo Beth's time this year is being occupied by being one of the editors of the Kinkaidian. She has won three Scholarship Pins and is considered one of the "brains" of the senior class. Rice will claim Jo Beth next year where she plans to major in languages.

ANNE MARIE SCHLUMBERGER

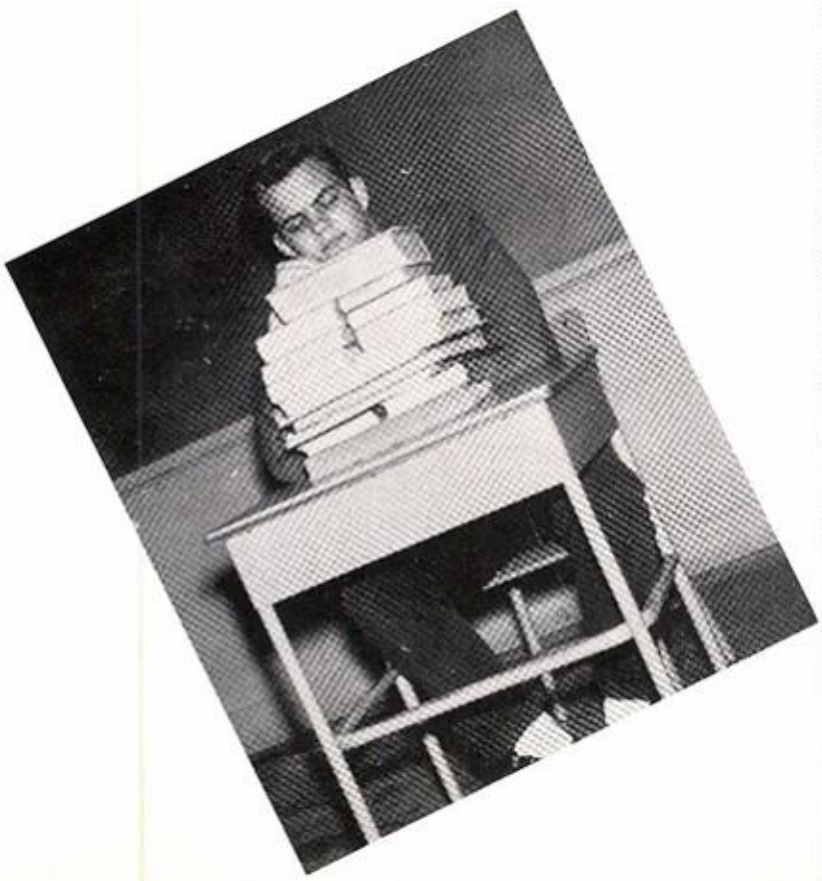
Elegant as simplicity and warm as ecstasy.

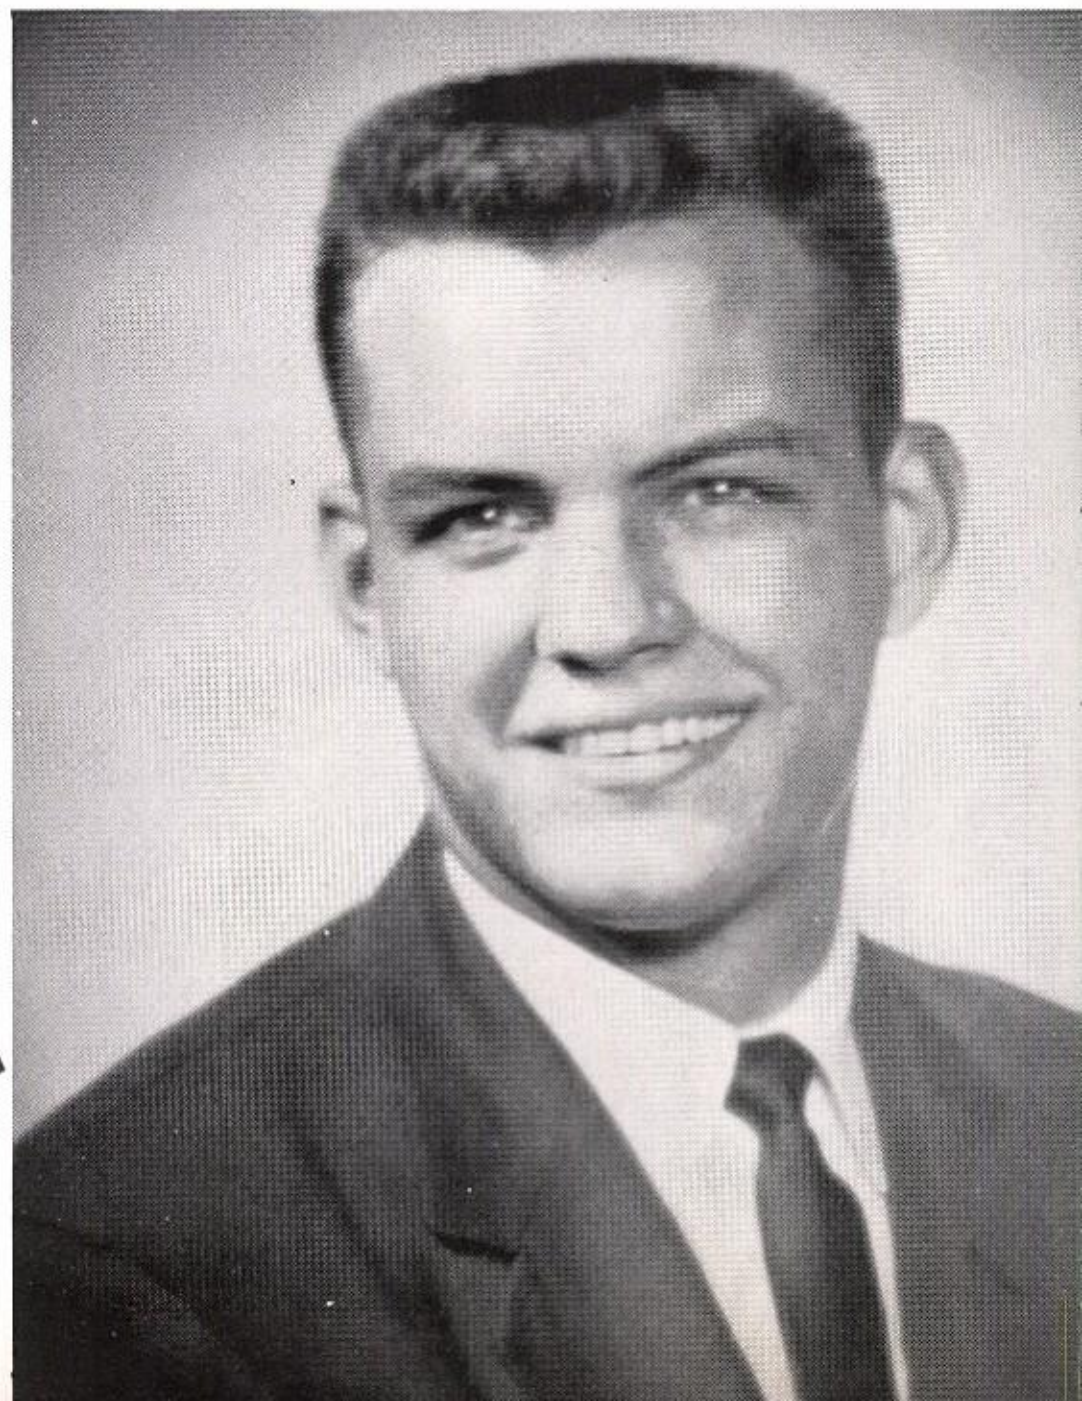
Anne Marie has been a member of our class since the first grade. She has the illustrious background of being born in France, and she speaks and understands her native tongue—a gift which earned her a French medal. During her years at Kinkaid she has appeared in "Androcles and the Lion," "Mikado," "Gondoliers," and "Pinafore." She has also taken an active part in the Chorus, Art, and Annual Clubs. She has a wide variety of hobbies some of which are skiing, riding horses, and partying. Next year Anne hopes to attend Vassar where she plans to study psychology.

WAYNE SPEER

Chiefly the mould of a man's fortune is in his own hands.

Wayne is a new senior this year. He is known for his shy (but misleading) smile and his easy going ways. Wayne is an outstanding student as well as a fine athlete. He was an important addition to the football team this year. How could we forget Wayne as the very romantic??? Romeo at Initiation. Next year in college Wayne plans to major in law.

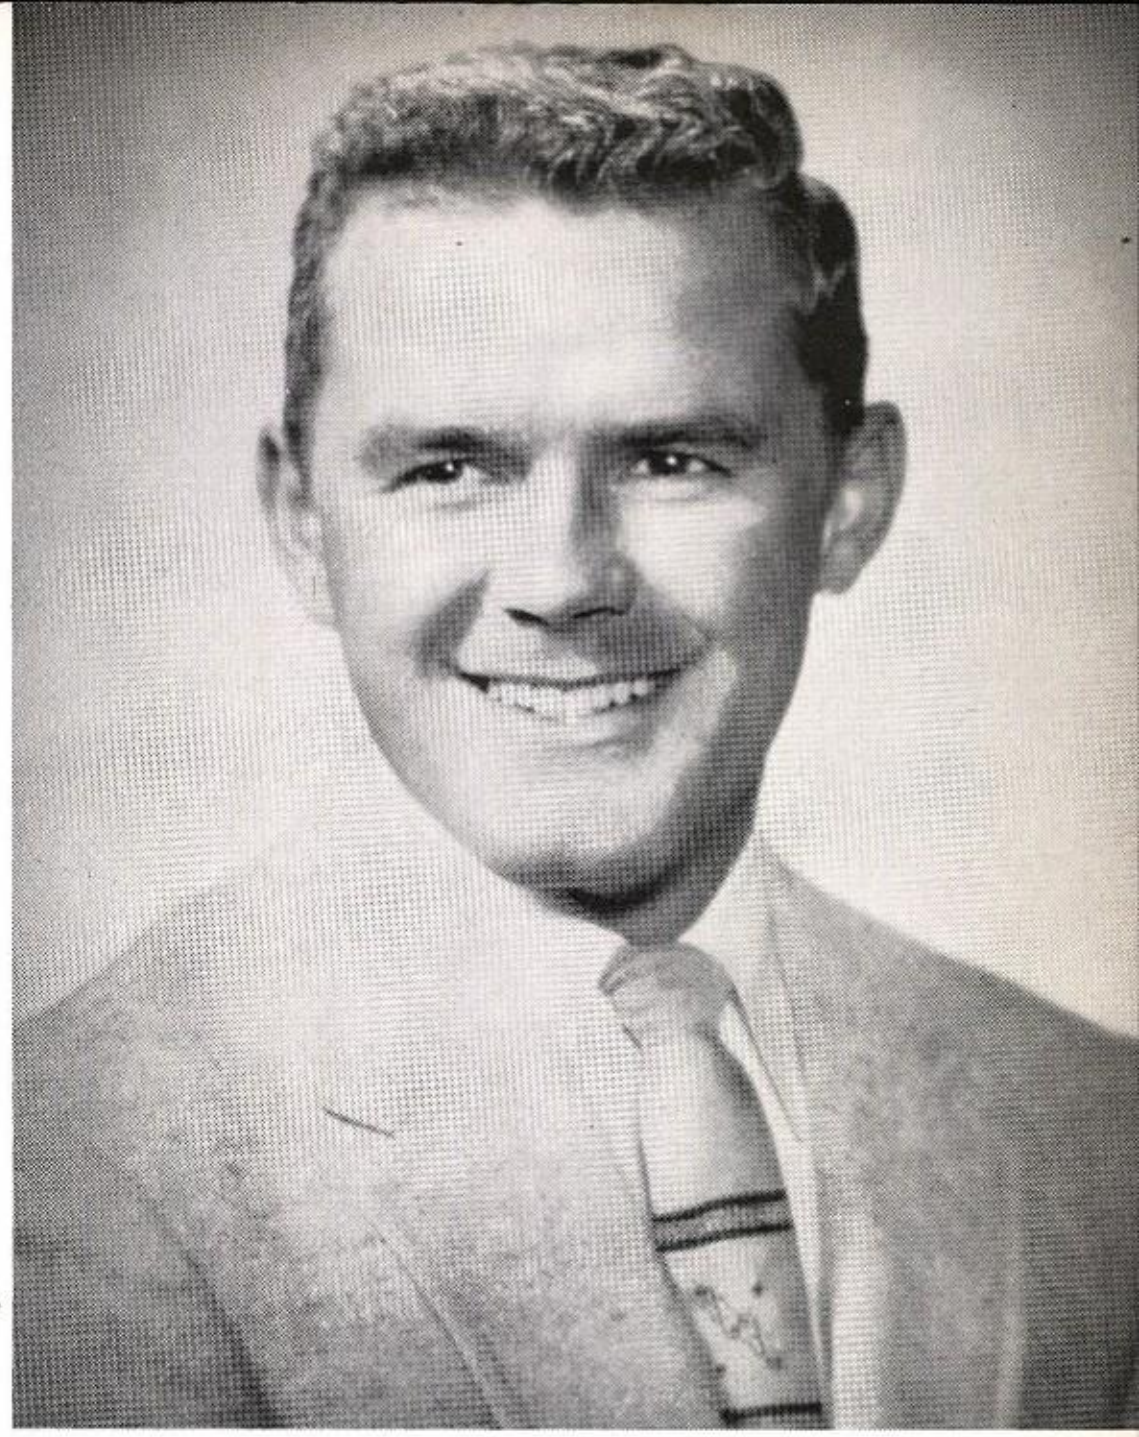




THOMAS STAPP

A man's stature is rightly measured by his good deeds.

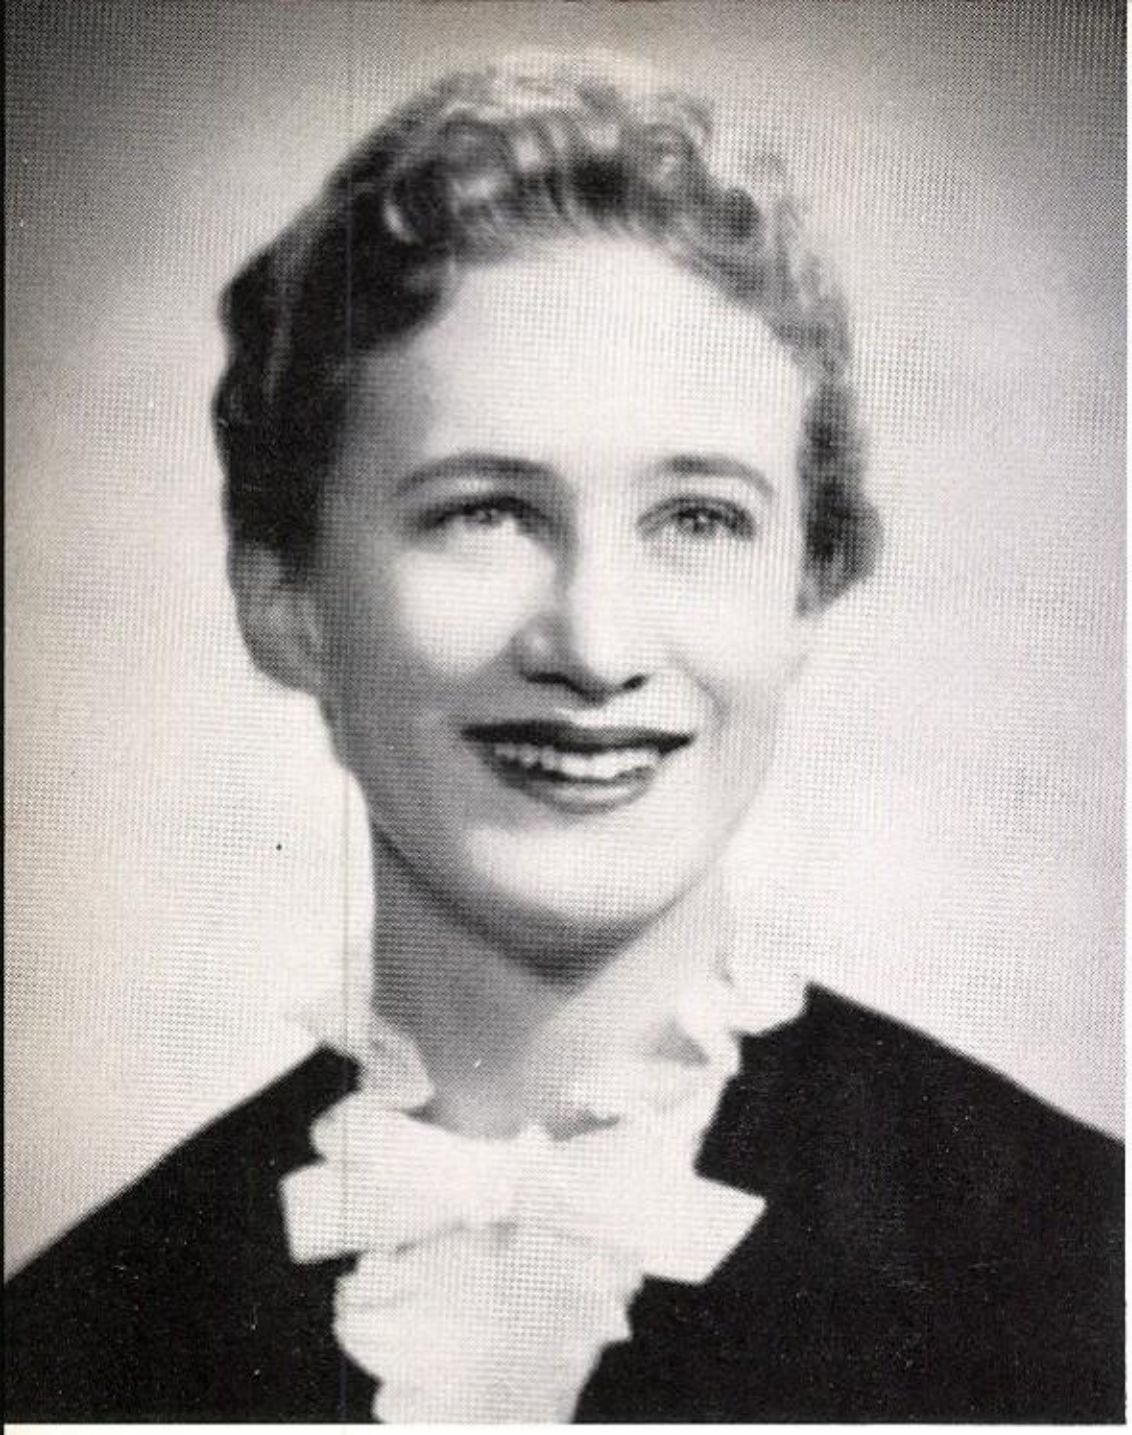
Tommy came to Kinkaid in his freshman year. He likes all sports, and has been a valuable member of the football and baseball teams for four years. Last year Tommy was co-captain of the football team and Assistant Editor of the Falcon. One of the best liked boys in school, he has been Vice President of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. Next year Annapolis will claim Tommy, where we are sure he will succeed.



ANN STRADER

She has a heart with room for every joy.

Ann entered Kinkaid as a freshman. Among her favorite pastimes are swimming and horseback riding. She has been in the Poise and Chorus Clubs and has participated in two operettas: "Patience" and the "Mikado." Next year we will find Ann at Colorado University where she will major in architecture.



SABRA STRATTON

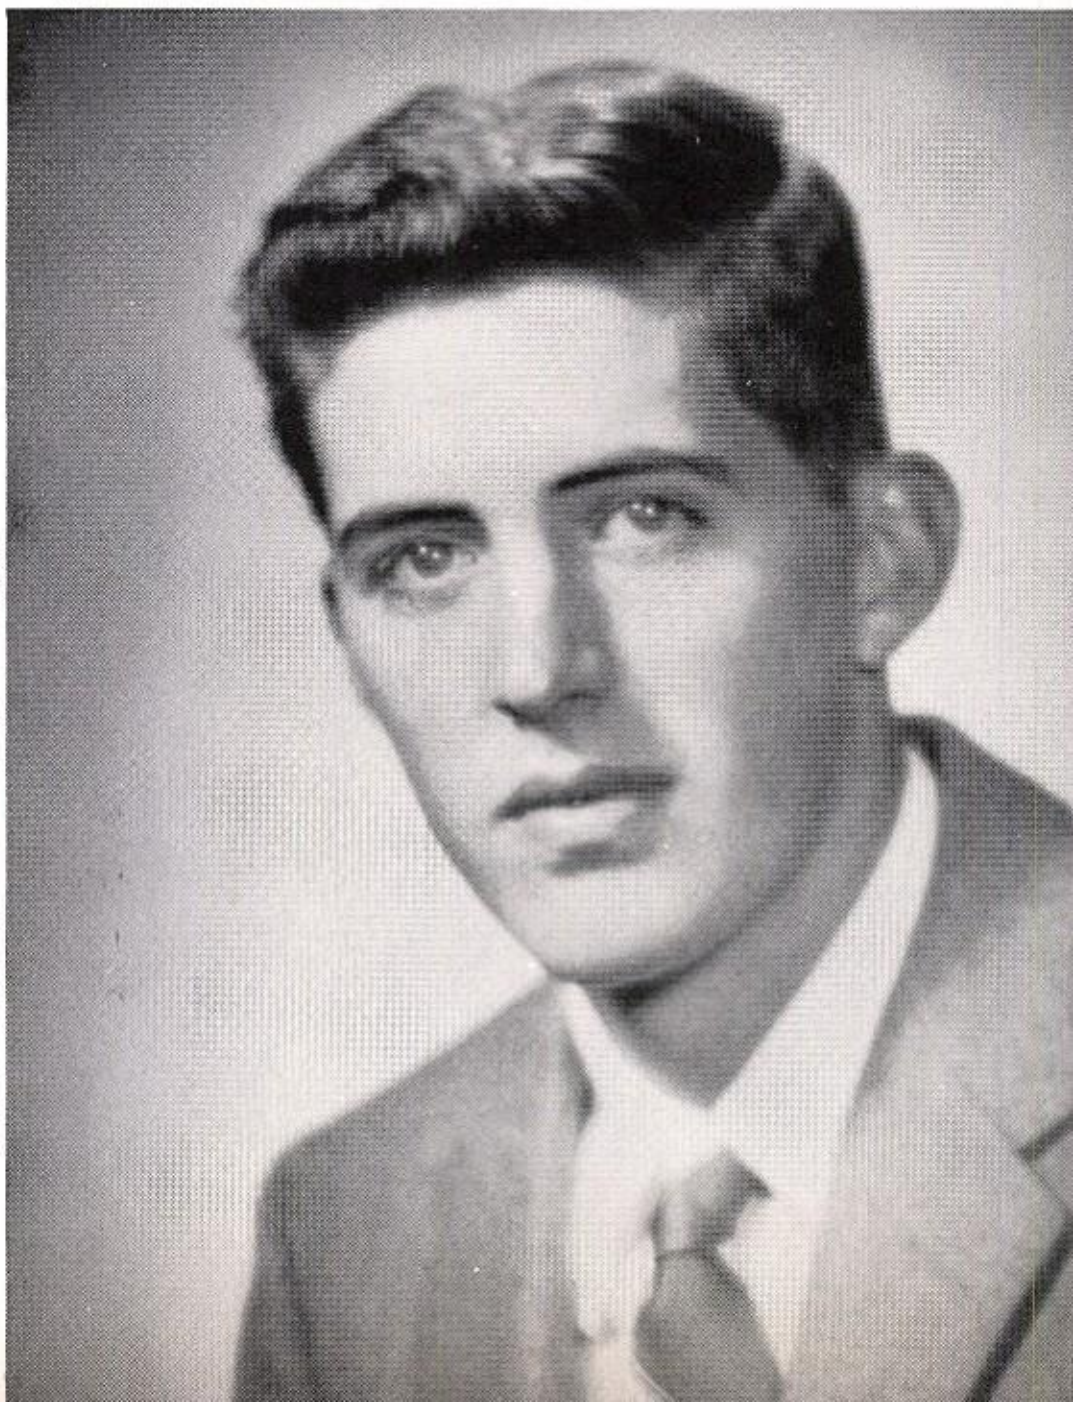
One cool judgment is worth a thousand hasty counsels.

Sabra, who entered Kinkaid in her sophomore year, spends as much time as possible in Colorado riding horses. She also likes to sing and has had leads in "Gondoliers" and the "Mikado." "Sab"—always ready to take on any task—was one of the editors of The Kinkaidian, Secretary of the Senior class and Chronicle Teen Correspondent this year. An excellent student, Sabra won a scholarship pin her junior year, the Pennsylvania Book Award and received honorable mention for her essay on "The Importance of Selling to Our Economy." Her varied talents and enthusiasm will make Sabra a welcome addition to Colorado College where she will major in Math or Language.

PAUL TAFT

Works first and then rests.

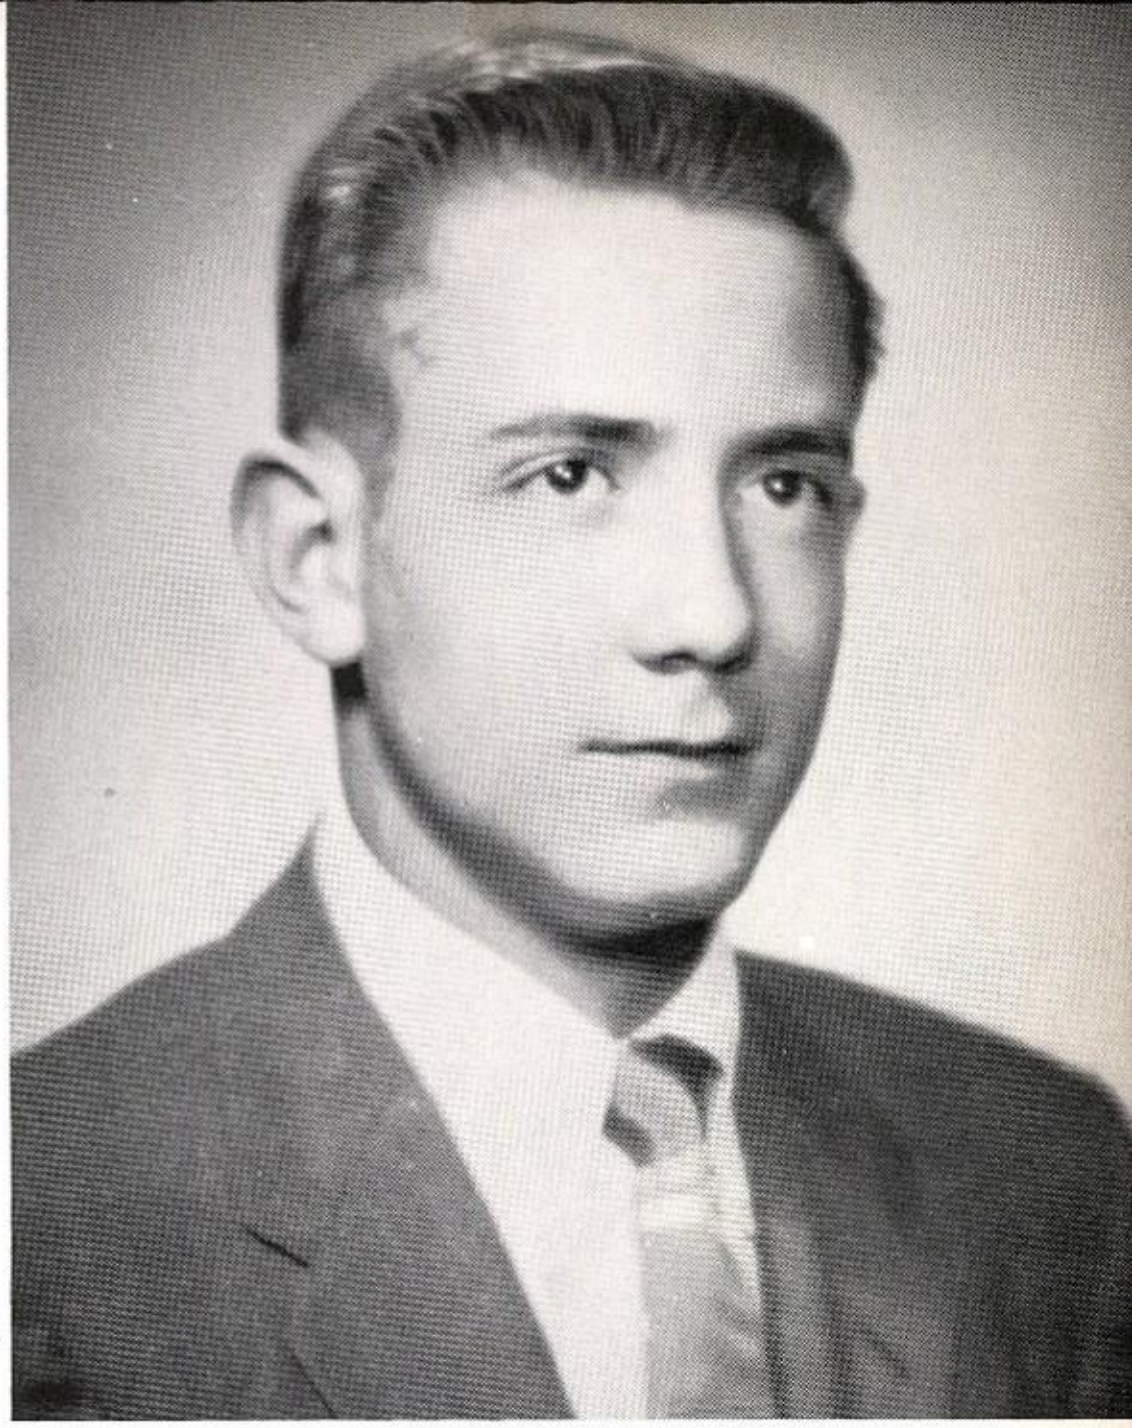
Paul joined the Kinkaid student body in his sixth year of school. He has been Business Manager of The Falcon, and a member of the boys' basketball team. Outside of school his main interests are sailing, motorboat racing and hot rods. Paul's easy going personality and friendly smile make him a favorite with all who know him. Next year he hopes to attend Washington and Lee College where he will major in Business Administration.

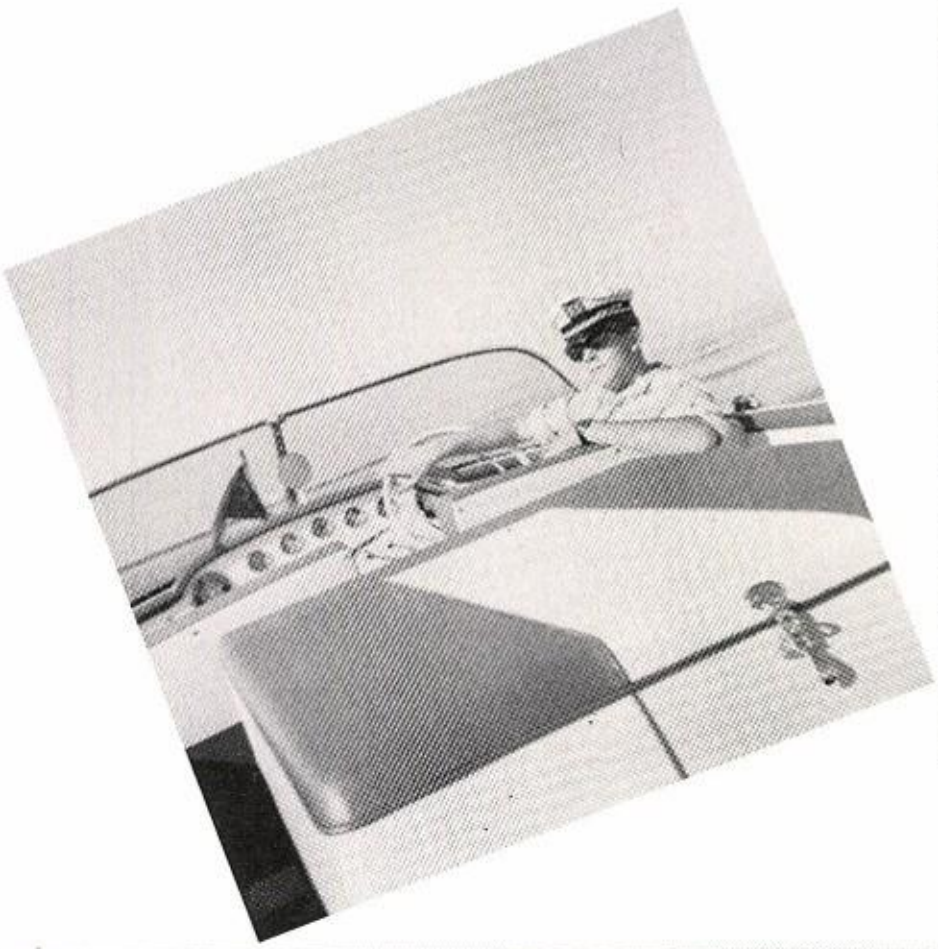


TOM TRAMMELL

Well-timed silence hath more eloquence than speech.

Tom has been with us since Kindergarten. He has been on the Falcon staff and has been a member of the football team. His outside activities and interests include cars, waterskiing, hunting and giving "spur of the moment parties." We know everyone will miss Tom and the sight of that gorgeous red Mercury when he leaves Houston to attend the college of his choice.

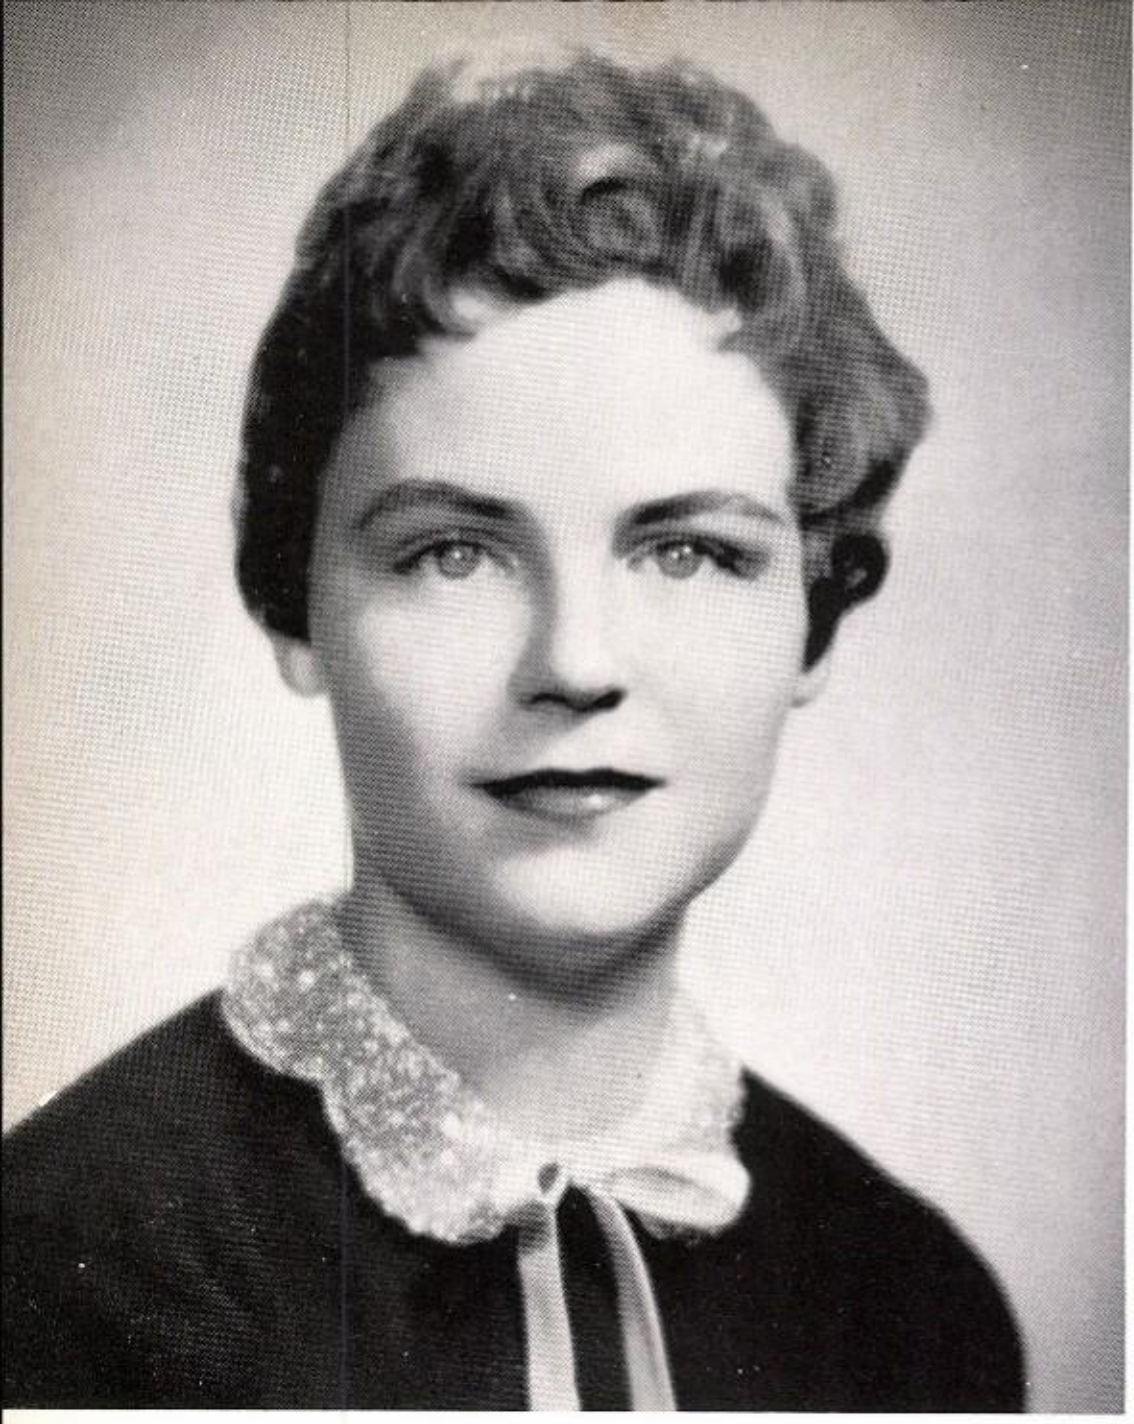




BARBARA UNDERWOOD

Patience is the best remedy for every trouble.

Barbara has attended Kinkaid since the first grade. Her activities include lettering in "A" team basketball and participating in dramatics. Barbara has acted as cheerleader for three years and has been a member of the Student Council. Next year Barbara plans to attend Rice where she will major in Business Administration.



LYNN WALLING

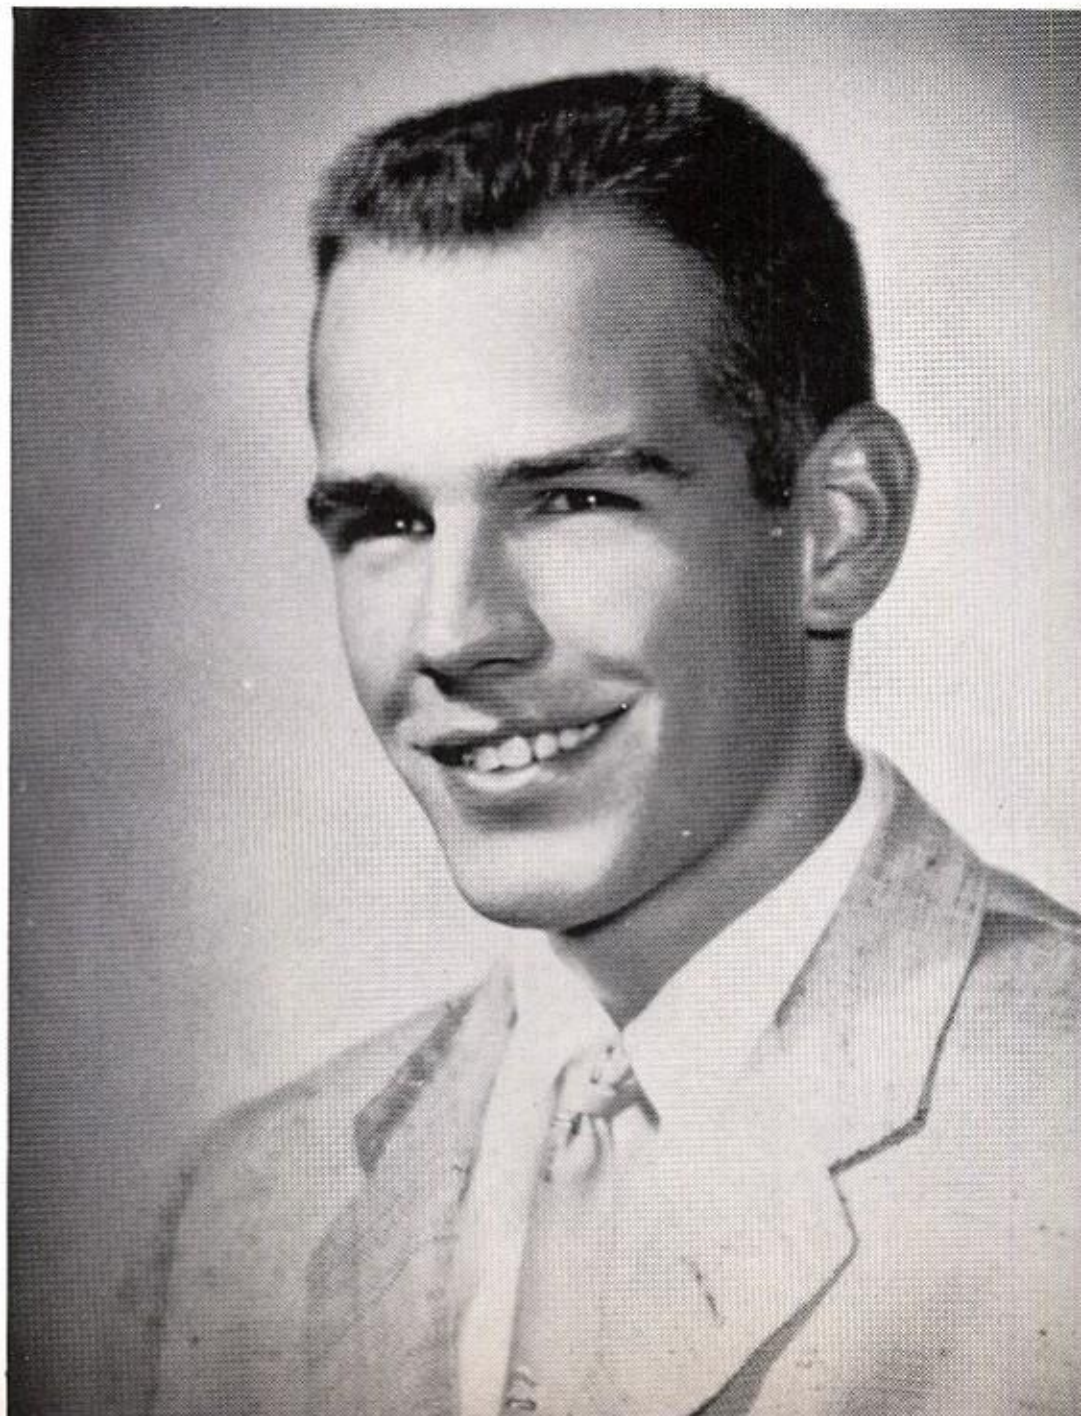
Keep your eyes on the stars and your feet on the ground.

Lynn, known for her red hair and pleasing personality, entered Kinkaid eight years ago. During 53 and 54 she was a very energetic member of the basketball team. She has been in the Poise, Annual, and Chorus Clubs and has appeared in two G. and S. productions, "Mikado" and "Gondoliers." Lynn hopes to attend Briarcliff to study dress designing.

TOM WHITCOMB

Conversation is the laboratory and the workshop of the student.

Tom came to Kinkaid in his sophomore year. We are proud of Tom winning third place in the nation for his essay on "The Importance of Soil and Water Conservation" and also second place in the city for an essay on "The Importance of Our Merchant Marine in Peace and War." This year he is on the editorial staff of "Falcon Wings." Besides being a good student Tom excels in sports and has lettered in football and basketball. Next year we will find Tom at Stanford where he will major in Engineering.



ELIZABETH WINFREY

A quiet conscience makes one so serene.

Elizabeth, more commonly known as Mac, has been here since the sixth grade. She has been a valuable forward on the girls' Varsity basketball team for the last two years. She has also worked on the Falcon. An avid water-skier she is down at the bay almost as much as she is at the stables riding her horse. Mac will be a welcome all-round girl at Pine Manor where she plans to go next year.

Season Summary

FALCONS STUN ST. THOMAS

Typified by a hard-charging line, a sharp passing attack, and hard-running backs, the Falcons handed favored St. Thomas a stunning 12-0 defeat. In a team effort for a brilliant victory, the out-weighted Falcons established their supermacy among the city's private schools.

DROP SQUEAKER TO LA PORTE

The Falcons lost a tight one to the La Porte Bulldogs 15-12. A general let-down and several bad mistakes seemed to cost the Falcons a bitter defeat in this tilt which found a Kinkaid scoring drive nullified by a penalty in the last few seconds of the game.

FALCONS SWAMP RAMBLERS

In their first conference game, the Falcons smashed the Allen Academy Ramblers 56-12. Coach Hart cleared the bench early. The offense was paced by Erwin and Butler while tackles Burrell and Adams led the rugged defense.

TRIUMPH OVER ARCH-RIVAL

The Falcons beat the spirited St. John's Rebels in a scrappy battle, 21-0. Erwin spearheaded the Falcons with sharp passing, a touchdown sprint, and three conversions. The stingy defense was led by linebackers Butler and Brien. A sweet victory for the Falcons.

ST. STEPHEN'S FALLS

Ends White and Moffitt were consistently found on the receiving end of Erwin's passes and Foshee and Speer provided power and speed off the tackles as the Falcons revenged last year's 6-0 loss to St. Stephen's with a crushing defeat of 39-0.

KINKAID DUMPS KIRWIN

In perhaps their finest all-round effort of the year, the Falcons rapped the "beefy" Kirwin Buccaneers of Galveston 21-7. The Falcons received sharp blocking from an offensive line led by Gilbert and Knapp and singlewing power from the backs in this decisive victory over the outcharged Catholic high.

FALCONS LOSE TO CASADY CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES DIE

A combination of 36 degree weather and a lightning-fast Casady split T left the Falcons trailing at half-time of their championship tilt in Oklahoma 0-14. After roaring back with Erwin scoring and converting, the Falcons saw their last serious threat die frustratingly on the Casady six. Gilbert and White were outstanding on defense.

LUTHERAN SMASHED

The Falcons, in their finale, displayed an awesome offense roaring over hapless Lutheran 50-12, to capture the mythical city prep crown. Kinkaid finished the year with a fine 6-2 record including impressive wins over several much larger schools in the area.

The 3 yard line, led the Falcons to their second touchdown. Play ended with Speers' run in the first quarter, but his three yard plunge was good for a 13-0 score. Erwin missed the extra point, and the score remained the same.

St. Stephens was forced to punt the first time they had the ball following the kickoff. Stuart Lewis' 14 yard return from the Falcon 45 to the Spartan's 41 set up the third Kinkaid touchdown.

On the next play Erwin passed to Jim Moffitt for the score. Travis' extra point was true to its mark, and Kinkaid enjoyed a 20-0 lead.

In the third quarter a 33 yard run by Frank Foshee was held down 15 yards by a clipping penalty. With the ball on the Falcon 35, Erwin passed to Moffitt and then to Wayne Speer for the touchdown. Again Travis made his extra point, and Kinkaid led 27-0.

"Eueryman"

"The Wonderful Hat"

Gilbert and Sullivan's

H.
M.
S.

Pinafore

Busy, busy, busy . . . Work, work, work! Yes, of course we work (ask Mr. Reed, just ask him!) But before, after, and occasionally during that work, we play—and play—and play.

Every year, Mr. Gilbert, accompanied by his musical colleague, Sir Arthur Sullivan, enters the hallowed halls and pervades everything with a sense of Empire. "India" is pronounced "In-jah" and members of the chorus nervously try to twist their tortured tongues around ingenious rhymes, while leads look important. Jerome develops a British accent.

Clubs are important to Kinkaid—drama students ardently memorize lines and hammer nails into sets, the chorus fits and refits into robes, and annual-staffers mutter constantly about advertisers and copy-sheets — and Jerome develops a journalistic look.

Of course, everything is held in abeyance until the football and basketball seasons have been successfully completed. The annual St. John's—Kinkaid game is met with an enthusiasm accorded nothing else short of Elvis Presley. The men of the Kinkaid eleven are treated like visiting Royalty—and with reason—the score this year: Kinkaid 21, St. John's 0. Jerome has been heard to shout "Rah"!

In case you've missed it, we hereby note that the name so frequently mentioned above is that of Jerome—one favorite activity by far. Jerome is the keeper of the chalk, cleaner of the blackboards, and saver of souls wounded on the cruel reefs of academic life. It is Jerome who holds the school above water, slaking the play-goer's thirst, scrounging chalk from unknown corners, and preventing poor, tired teachers from ending it all in a pool of ink. Jerome, without whom nothing can be done—Hail, Jerome!

Hail Jerome
